Nation Awaits Face-To-Face Debate Tonight

By DONALD M. BOTHERING
AP Political Writer

Two men, candidates for president, meet face-to-face tonight to debate their plans for America before an audience that may number 100 million people.

And as Jimmy Carter and President Ford prepared for the debate, a U.S. Steel Corp. lobbyist confirmed that the company was host to Ford, when he was in Congress, at two overnight stays at a company house near Disney World in Florida.

Ford and Carter have taken vastly differing routes in their efforts to attract voters. Ford stayed in Washington, campaigning only once out of town and then at his alma mater in his home state of Michigan. Carter criss-crossed the country to shake hands and make speeches.

And the candidates crammed for tonight's debate in fashions apart.

But Republican Ford and Democrat Carter planned to spend the day of the debates in much the same way. For both, rest was planned along with flights to Philadelphia where the debate begins at 9:30 EDT.

Their running mates carried on the campaign in the field. Ford running mate Bob Dole was in Nebraska seeking the farm vote and Carter running mate, Walter Mondale, was slumping Wisconsin.

In a statement issued early today, U.S. Steel lobbyist William Whyte said Ford's overnight stays at Disney World in 1973 and in 1975 were in addition to three golfing weekends for Ford paid for by U.S. Steel at the company lodge in New Jersey.

The White House had no comment on the report of U.S. Steel's role in the Florida stays. But earlier this week, Ford spokesmen said there was "no evidence of wrongdoing" in the New Jersey trips.

In his statement, Whyte said he had been friends with Ford for more than 20 years and that "to my direct knowledge, Congressman Ford shared the use of U.S. Steel overnight accommodations, as my personal guest, on five occasions over the last dozen or so years."

A company spokesman said he did not know whether U.S. Steel paid Ford's travel expenses but that the company did pay for Ford's lodging in all five instances.

There have been questions raised that Ford might have violated the code of ethics of the House of Representatives, adopted in 1968. It prohibits members from accepting a "gift of substantial value, directly or indirectly, from any person, organization or corporation having a direct interest in legislation before the Congress."

"Substantial" is not defined, but a spokesman for the House Ethics Committee has pointed out that gifts of more than $50 from foreign governments are prohibited under a similar State Department code that covers that agency's employees.

Thefts Push U.S. Crime Rate Higher

By MARGARET GENTRY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thefts increased 11 per cent and violent crimes declined 6 per cent as the over-all U.S. crime rate edged upward during the first six months of this year, the FBI reported today.

Of the seven crime categories measured by the FBI's Uniform Crime Reports, theft was the only one showing an increase nationally. But that 11 per cent jump boosted the overall crime rate 1 per cent, compared with the same period in 1975.

The FBI statistics are based on the number of crimes reported by 9,160 state and local law enforcement agencies. Other studies, however, have shown that the number of crimes reported to police is far lower than the number actually committed.

Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi noted that the 3 per cent overall increase is much less than the 13 per cent surge in the first half of 1975, compared with the same period a year earlier.

"While the trend is encouraging," he said, "there remains a net increase in serious crime — a clear reminder that all segments of the criminal justice system must continue working to solve the problem."

Nationally, the FBI reported that murder was down 12 per cent, rape and assault each declined 1 per cent, robbery dropped 10 per cent, burglary dropped 5 per cent and motor vehicle thefts fell 3 per cent.

The sharp increases in theft occurred in all population categories and in all parts of the country. The surge ranged from 5 per cent in Western states to 18 per cent in the Northeast, and from 9 per cent in cities between 500,000 and one million in population to 16 per cent in cities over one million.

With two exceptions, the four violent crime categories — murder, rape, robbery and assault — declined in all parts of the country. The exception was a 5 per cent increase in rape and a 4 per cent increase in assault in Western states.

Murder and robbery declined in all population categories, but rape increased slightly in medium-sized and small cities and assaults rose from 1 to 5 per cent in cities of 100,000 or less.

Among the nation's largest cities, Chicago, Los Angeles and Philadelphia reported fewer crimes in the six-month period, compared with the same period a year ago, while New York and Houston reported overall increases.

The number of crimes dropped from 109,978 to 104,629 in Chicago, largely because of

Teachers Ask For Mediation

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Berrien Springs Education association has asked for mediation to help reach agreement on a contract, Supt. Jon Schuster said today.

Schuster said the BSEA and the school board reached agreement on salary increases in mid August, but have been unable to agree in four other areas after meeting 21 times to try and work out differences.

Schuster said there is disagreement over whether the school should carry health insurance for the teacher whose spouse at another business is covered; whether unresolved matters should be submitted to binding arbitration; a teacher evaluation form; and whether teachers should get pay raises retroactive to contract settlement.

In a statement issued this morning, Schuster said:

"The board of education, following 21 negotiating sessions, finds it impossible to meet the demands of the teachers' union and at the same time represent the taxpayers of this district."

Berrien Springs and Buchanan are the only two school districts in Berrien county which have not yet come to contract agreements with teachers.

New Human-To-Human Swine Flu Case Found

BOSTON (AP) — Doctors say they have discovered what appears to be a second instance of swine flu being transmitted from human to human.

The second case, reported at the University of Virginia Hospital, occurred about the same time as the highly publicized outbreak among 11 recruits at Ft. Dix, N.J., early last January.

The Ft. Dix sickness is the only concrete example of swine flu being spread between humans. The Virginia case was investigated by government health officials but was not widely known until it was reported in today's issue of the New England Journal of Medicine.

The Virginia doctors diagnosed the illness in a New York man and said they thought he caught it from another human, not a pig.

The federal government has launched a nationwide vaccination program because of fear that the Ft. Dix outbreak could grow into a swine flu epidemic.

This form of flu is common among swine and occasionally spreads from animals to their human handlers. However, doctors are not sure how readily the illness can travel among people, and this is a crucial factor in the threat of an epidemic.

"Because he did not have any known contact with swine, the inference is that he represents a case of human-to-human spread," Dr. Jack M. Gwaltney, one of the authors of the medical journal report, said in an interview.

The victim was a 55-year-old radio announcer. The man, who was not identified by doctors, was admitted to the hospital on Dec. 31, 1975, a few days after he arrived in Charlottesville, Va., for a visit.

The illness, which kept him in the hospital for several weeks, was not diagnosed as swine flu until after the Ft. Dix outbreak.

when federal officials warned hospitals to watch for the disease.

"Since he did not have any contact with swine, the next best bet is that he got it from another human," said a spokesman for the federal Center for Disease Control in Atlanta. "We would assume that the virus was circulating prior to Ft. Dix."

Three weeks before the New York man became ill, the hospital admitted a woman with swine flu, but she had had recent contact with swine on a pig farm and apparently caught the disease from the animals. The two cases were not related, doctors said.

Fossils Hint Land Bridge Across Atlantic

By WARREN E. LEARY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists say they have found the first fossil evidence indicating that a land bridge once spanned the northern Atlantic Ocean between North America and Europe. Fossils of mammals, birds and other animals found this summer on Canada's Ellesmere Island, located above the Arctic Circle west of Greenland, match similar remains found in western Europe and the western United States, they said.

Dr. Robert M. West of the Milwaukee Public Museum in Wisconsin and Dr. Mary R. Dawson of the Carnegie Museum of Natural History in Pittsburgh announced the findings Wednesday at a scientific meeting in Montpellier, France.

The scientists said fossil similarities on the two continents traditionally have been explained as evidence that animals came to North America via Asia and a land bridge across the Bering Sea near Alaska.

More recent geological evidence leads some scientists to believe that the North American and European continents once were joined but gradually split apart, with the Atlantic forming between them.

Drs. West and Dawson said their findings go a long way to prove that theory is correct.

The last continental connection probably stretched between the northernmost tips of the continents by way of Greenland, Iceland and Spitsbergen, an island north of Scandinavia, they said. This probably split apart 45 million to 48 million years ago.

The fossils found along barren, rocky Ellesmere Island also show the climate was different. At the time these animals lived, this area just 500 miles south of the North Pole apparently was somewhat swampy with a temperate climate, the scientists said.

Plant fossils also showed that temperate trees such as the sequoia grew in the area. Fossil fragments of many diverse animals were found. They included large mammals, alligators, mice, salamanders, snakes, birds and turtles, including one that may have weighed several hundred pounds.

Among the primary fossils was a football-size skull fragment with jaw and teeth of a Coryphodon, a plant-eating mammal slightly larger than a cow and resembling a hippopotamus.

The upper jaw and teeth of a Hyrachyus, a primitive kind of tapir, also was unearthed. This animal, about the size of a large dog, was an early ancestor of both the horse and the rhinoceros.

The scientists said the connected-continent theory would get even stronger support if similar fossils eventually are found in Greenland, Iceland and Spitsbergen.

The West-Dawson expedition was supported by the National Geographic Society, which announced the finds in Washington.

Teachers Ask For Mediation

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Berrien Springs Education association has asked for mediation to help reach agreement on a contract, Supt. Jon Schuster said today.

Schuster said the BSEA and the school board reached agreement on salary increases in mid August, but have been unable to agree in four other areas after meeting 21 times to try and work out differences.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

State Spending Lid

Ever since the New Deal captured Washington 43 years ago, the typical approach to solving a problem is to appropriate large sums of money, create a bureaucracy to spend it, and tax the public to pay for the experiment.

This solution is not confined to Washington.

It permeates all of the 50 state capitols and is equally entrenched down at city hall, town hall and the school board.

Debilitating as it is to the spirit of self reliance and self control, the scheme might not be too damaging if the spend-tax formula followed the economy.

Unfortunately it consistently runs ahead of the economy, faster even than the inflationary effect it exerts upon the economy.

Michigan is a good example of this head long plunge to extinction.

Since 1960 personal income in our state has risen 3.3 times what it was 16 years ago.

State spending has gone up 6.2 times.

The only discernible dividend from that prodigality is a better highway system, more and newer classrooms, and some additional state buildings for office and hospitalization purposes.

Far outbalancing those physical improvements is the backward step in just about every category one can think of. The crime rate continues upward as does the accident toll, the educational output as judged by college entrance test scores is declining, the welfare load is staggering, commerce and industry rate Michigan near to the bottom of the ladder as a place in which to do business.

Tax-spend may not be 100 per cent to blame for this retreat, but it has nourished this retrogression with the tender loving care a housewife gives her plants and flowers.

On November 2d Michigan voters will have a chance to apply the brakes to this heady rush to bankruptcy.

Proposal C is an amendment to the state constitution which would limit state spending to 8.3 per cent of the total personal income within Michigan.

Proposal C has a number of enemies.

Governor Milliken says it is too restrictive.

The state employee unions see it as a bar to higher salaries and fringe benefits.

The Michigan Educational Association calls it the death blow to quality education. Quality education, in MEA thinking, is the same thing the state employees have in mind.

The League of Women Voters are throwing out a propaganda barrage to the effect Proposal C will raise local taxes because Lansing will have less state aid to distribute.

The Michigan Municipal League echoes back the same bleat.

Proposal C will do no such thing whatever.

It forbids the state government from reducing the present level of state aid. It bars Lansing from shoving local programs upon local government without fully funding those programs. It bans local government from raising taxes except by voter approval.

It also provides for emergency spending if the Government and two-thirds of the legislature declare an emergency is at hand.

In a word, it becomes a protection to the average citizen from the special interest groups and compliant politicians who have been fleecing him these many years at a faster clip than a Wyoming shepherd shears his flock.

It is regrettable that Governor Milliken for whom we have the greatest respect has lent the dignity of his name and office to the free wheelers.

However, this is not the first time we have parted company with him on an issue.

We expect to issue a reminder later on to vote Yes On Proposal C as a way of keeping the roof over one's head.

For the moment we urge the reader to look upon Proposal C as the means for not making him the only one to bite the bullet.

UP TO VOTERS TO DECIDE

Editor,
I'm sure some of the public is still harboring a grudge against President Ford for pardoning Mr. Nixon. Who are we to pass judgment. The Bible says you who are without sin may cast the first stone.

If President Ford would have chosen otherwise, probably now he might have been faced with a more severe criticism. The Nixon family's ordeal was indeed a tragedy and it could go on as was proven these last few months. Mrs. Nixon was afflicted with an illness which might leave her with after effects indefinitely. Naturally, it must effect Mr. Nixon. We might not realize the traumatism he is experiencing. It is up to you voters to decide, did the President act wisely or foolishly, how would you have acted if you were in his position?

Carter attacked the Ford administration for budget deficits, inflation, and unemployment, and recalled that in 1932 the nation was struggling in the grip of depression and Roosevelt defeated the incumbent Hoover. I presume Carter is referring to the history of the Roosevelt era as being the time when people started working. As Mr. W. I. Greener said, there isn't a serious economist in America today who would credit the elimination of unemployment during the Roosevelt administration to anything but the global holocaust of World War II.

Mr. Mondale told a National Baptist convention in Detroit, "the most important preacher in American life is the President," and urged it be Carter who is a fervent Baptist. Mondale did not once mention abortion which Baptists generally oppose. Baptist officials said there were only a fraction of the 5000-6000 persons in Detroit for the convention.

Carter was greeted by crowds in Pittsburgh as he posed with parochial school children on the steps of a Catholic church. Some of the people can be and are deluded, but the majority I believe have the ability to comprehend how it goes in politics.

Mrs. Carter says she feels the responsibility already of being the First Lady. Isn't Mrs. Carter counting her chicks before they're hatched?

Dowagiac — "We made it!" These were the happy words used last night by Dr. Fred Mathews, chairman of the board of trustees of Cass county's Southwestern Michigan Community college which held its first classes yesterday. His words expressed jubilation over the fact that the new college was just an idea two years ago and that hard work by many persons made it possible for the new school to start on time.

Since the heavy outbreak of polio in Van Buren beginning July 12 the drain on county funds has mounted until it has reached $105 a week, according to Schutt. He said there is still $2,400 to be paid and that he will have to ask the National Foundation for more money.

Decision-Making In Peking

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Whenever in the past the Chinese Communists have been faced with a crisis, they have withdrawn, cut outside contacts to a minimum and held long and tortuous sessions within the upper party hierarchy to emerge weeks or months later with their new plan of action.

I watched this take place in Yenan, then Mao Tse-tung's cave-capital, three decades ago. The process has taken place time and again since those days.

While the new decisions were being reached, and each group in the party's lower structure was finding its new place in the scheme of things, no major actions were taken and no final decisions put into operation. The Communists held tightly to the status quo in their relationships with the outside world.

The first objective in this agreement-reaching process during past crises has been to assure continued control over the cities and as much of the countryside as possible. Mao's people correctly observed that despite major steps in recent years toward consolidation and unification, China was nevertheless not far removed from the days of the warlords, with army and bureaucratic types working to build their own small empires as free as possible from Peking influence.

In the past, this necessity of bringing control to a restless population has brought about the compromises necessary for a strongly divided leadership to present at least a superficially solid front most of the time. That was easier in the past, because they had Mao Tse-tung as a symbol, and because a good deal of the time he had the ability to force unity, even when that unity was paper thin.

Today, with Mao gone, things could go either way. That is, his successors could split so badly in public the country would verge on splintering. Or they could achieve working, if tenuous, compromises and present the country a facade of solidarity. Past experience in China would suggest the trumped-up solidarity, along with a series of purges and wild charges and countercharges in the Chinese press and on big posters in the streets.

In foreign affairs, the battle has been just beneath the surface for many years between those who believe an effort should be made to settle differences with the Soviet Union and attempt to secure from that nation know-how and arms to strengthen Peking's position and those who fear Russia, believing Soviet aggression can only be curbed by cautious semi-alliance with the West, particularly the United States.

Mao's personal hate for and mistrust of the Russians was so great that there was no chance of any improvement in Chinese-Soviet relations while he lived. I remember the manner in which the Russians were regarded and the way in which Soviet representatives were treated in my days in Yenan.

What may be possible now is a cautious feeler by elements in Peking toward Moscow with the concurrence, however reluctant, of others of the inner ruling group. It is not so likely, however, that the Chinese will abandon their present relationship with the U.S., for the Chinese see next-door Russia as a far greater threat to them than far-away Washington. And the Chinese are wedded to the philosophy of allying with one possible enemy so as to face but one threat at a time.

Ford No Bozo, Jimmy Warned

The debate between President Gerald Ford and Jimmy Carter will almost certainly have a greater impact than the 1960 confrontation between Richard Nixon and John F. Kennedy.

In 1960 at the time of the first debate, Nixon led in the polls 50 to 44. On Election Day, Kennedy squeaked in 49.7 to 48.5, counting the cemeteries and vacant lots that voted in Chicago and in Texas.

Kennedy's performance in the debates, especially the first one, was largely responsible. This was not due to content, moreover, but to the public perception of the two men as human beings.

This year, however, the situation is much more fluid, party attachment weaker, the percentage of undecided voters very much greater, than in 1960. The poll have been fluctuating wildly. Gallup recently had Carter ahead 52-37, though other polls differed somewhat. Recent state polls show Ford moving ahead in Virginia and Michigan and startlingly close in New York.

The first debate could have a decisive impact. At first glance, Carter might figure as pre-game favorite, even prohibitive favorite — but don't bet your life savings on him.

Carter is a master of language, skillful at exploiting the nuances of words. His distinction between "amnesty" and "pardon" is a thing of beauty. Carter can smoothly shape sentences to suit his political needs. He has also shown that he can absorb quantities of fact. He is well educated, has had a variety of experience, is a constant reader, and of course has the glamour that goes with his newness and he air of mystery that surrounds him.

Articulateness is hardly Ford's strong suit, and though he does have the aura of the presidency he does not seem to be able to take full advantage of it. No one is in awe of Jerry Ford. Far from being mysterious, Jerry Ford is entirely familiar to everyone.

Nevertheless, I would not rush to bet on Carter. He is effective in small groups and in face-to-face encounters. Like Ford, he practiced for hours in order to deliver his acceptance speech effectively, and turned in at least a B performance.

Studying Carter's image on the TV screen in recent weeks, however, I find it not particularly impressive or convincing as a potential president.

Carter tends to slur his words badly. This is not a matter of his Southern accent, but of articulation and emphasis. He speaks in a rapid monotone, and this makes for lack of "presence."

During the primary campaign, Carter several times appeared in a panel or debate format with such rivals as Mo Udall, Sargent Shriver, and Birch Bayh. In this far from big-league company Carter was definitely underwhelming.

Ford, of course, is not eloquent, and has that flat Midwestern delivery; but that should not be misled by writers like Richard Reeves and assorted TV and nightclub comedians. Ford is not Bozo the Clown. He graduated in the top third of an especially gifted class at the Yale Law School — an intellectual achievement which few of those who joke about his intelligence can even begin to approach.

During 25 years in the House, Ford had plenty of practice in debating. He can think quickly on his feet and hold his own in the give-and-take.

During the primaries, Ford proved to be most effective in dealing with fact before knowledgeable audiences — mayors, local newspaper editors — though not effective in delivering inspiring abstractions. His mastery of relevant fact, however, should greatly help him in the debate with Carter.

In his recent address to the AFL-CIO leadership, Carter had a good prepared text, but he left it to digress at great length about love, trust, compassion, and so forth, the themes he used in the primaries.

If Carter succumbs to that temptation against Ford in Philadelphia on the 23rd, the Carter show may well close out of town.

Chancy Junketing

Until such time as Jimmy Carter might have the opportunity to fire Dr. Henry Kissinger, the peripatetic Secretary of State will continue his traveling brand of international diplomacy.

Carter expressed disapproval of Kissinger's method before gaining the Democratic Presidential nomination. He calls it too much of one man showmanship.

The Secretary's present tour is back and forth between Rhodesia and its neighboring black countries who are conducting a guerilla offensive along the former's border in support of black supremacy rule in that country. Relatively quiet at this time, the attacks are expected to intensify once the rainy season comes to southern Africa.

The Kissinger theme is popular control of the Rhodesian government in a country where blacks outnumber the whites about 30-1. In exchange for this power shift at the ballot box the whites would be accorded constitutional protection to life and property under a covenant to be drafted within two years under the aegis of Great Britain, the U.S. and some of the moderate leaders in the African states. This guaranty calls for Britain and the U.S. to indemnify the whites should a future Rhodesian government appropriate their holdings.

A secondary target of that arrow is the Union of South Africa whose apartheid policy (racial separation) is not so visible as Rhodesia's.

The South African government already has qualifiedly indorsed the Kissinger formula.

The key to success for this proposed stabilization is Ian Smith, the Rhodesian premier.

To say he is skeptical of the formula is the understatement of the year and if he does issue a statement as expected in the next few days, predicting his answer should be easy.

Beyond his distaste and that of his constituency for handing over the establishment to the blacks is his distrust that the formula can be enforced once the papers are signed.

Kissinger's partial success last year in reducing the Arab-Israeli tensions rested in large measure on Israel's dependence upon the U.S. The Israeli government had to back off its tough stance or run the risk of American aid being curtailed.

Neither Britain nor the U.S. possesses comparable clout in lower Africa, a fact of political life staring at the Smith cabinet.

Smith is equally aware of public opinion in the U.S. not being too receptive to foreign aid these days. This limits Kissinger's ability to export American clout into the countries unofficially at war with Rhodesia.

Only the somewhat equivocal position of the South African seems to be the difference between Smith saying yes or no.

His Affirmance would bring at least a short term lessening in tension.

His refusal opens up the possibility for the reason behind Kissinger's shuttle diplomacy becoming a fact. This is the entry of Russia or Red China or both into the vacuum created by the failure of a political settlement.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

State Spending Lid

Ever since the New Deal captured Washington 43 years ago, the typical approach to solving a problem is to appropriate large sums of money, create a bureaucracy to spend it, and tax the public to pay for the experiment.

This solution is not confined to Washington.

It permeates all of the 50 state capitols and is equally entrenched down at city hall, town hall and the school board.

Debilitating as it is to the spirit of self reliance and self control, the scheme might not be too damaging if the spend-tax formula followed the economy.

Unfortunately it consistently runs ahead of the economy, faster even than the inflationary effect it exerts upon the economy.

Michigan is a good example of this head long plunge to extinction.

Since 1960 personal income in our state has risen 3.3 times what it was 16 years ago.

State spending has gone up 6.2 times.

The only discernible dividend from that prodigality is a better highway system, more and newer classrooms, and some additional state buildings for office and hospitalization purposes.

Far outbalancing those physical improvements is the backward step in just about every category one can think of. The crime rate continues upward as does the accident toll, the educational output as judged by college entrance test scores is declining, the welfare load is staggering, commerce and industry rate Michigan near to the bottom of the ladder as a place in which to do business.

Tax-spend may not be 100 per cent to blame for this retreat, but it has nourished this retrogression with the tender loving care a housewife gives her plants and flowers.

On November 2d Michigan voters will have a chance to apply the brakes to this heady rush to bankruptcy.

Proposal C is an amendment to the state constitution which would limit state spending to 8.3 per cent of the total personal income within Michigan.

Proposal C has a number of enemies.

Governor Milliken says it is too restrictive.

The state employee unions see it as a bar to higher salaries and fringe benefits.

The Michigan Educational Association calls it the death blow to quality education. Quality education, in MEA thinking, is the same thing the state employees have in mind.

The League of Women Voters are throwing out a propaganda barrage to the effect Proposal C will raise local taxes because Lansing will have less state aid to distribute.

The Michigan Municipal League echoes back the same bleat.

Proposal C will do no such thing whatever.

It forbids the state government from reducing the present level of state aid. It bars Lansing from shoving local programs upon local government without fully funding those programs. It bans local government from raising taxes except by voter approval.

It also provides for emergency spending if the Government and two-thirds of the legislature declare an emergency is at hand.

In a word, it becomes a protection to the average citizen from the special interest groups and compliant politicians who have been fleecing him these many years at a faster clip than a Wyoming shepherd shears his flock.

It is regrettable that Governor Milliken for whom we have the greatest respect has lent the dignity of his name and office to the free wheelers.

However, this is not the first time we have parted company with him on an issue.

We expect to issue a reminder later on to vote Yes On Proposal C as a way of keeping the roof over one's head.

For the moment we urge the reader to look upon Proposal C as the means for not making him the only one to bite the bullet.

UP TO VOTERS TO DECIDE

Editor,
I'm sure some of the public is still harboring a grudge against President Ford for pardoning Mr. Nixon. Who are we to pass judgment. The Bible says you who are without sin may cast the first stone.

If President Ford would have chosen otherwise, probably now he might have been faced with a more severe criticism. The Nixon family's ordeal was indeed a tragedy and it could go on as was proven these last few months. Mrs. Nixon was afflicted with an illness which might leave her with after effects indefinitely. Naturally, it must effect Mr. Nixon. We might not realize the traumatism he is experiencing. It is up to you voters to decide, did the President act wisely or foolishly, how would you have acted if you were in his position?

Carter attacked the Ford administration for budget deficits, inflation, and unemployment, and recalled that in 1932 the nation was struggling in the grip of depression and Roosevelt defeated the incumbent Hoover. I presume Carter is referring to the history of the Roosevelt era as being the time when people started working. As Mr. W. I. Greener said, there isn't a serious economist in America today who would credit the elimination of unemployment during the Roosevelt administration to anything but the global holocaust of World War II.

Mr. Mondale told a National Baptist convention in Detroit, "the most important preacher in American life is the President," and urged it be Carter who is a fervent Baptist. Mondale did not once mention abortion which Baptists generally oppose. Baptist officials said there were only a fraction of the 5000-6000 persons in Detroit for the convention.

Carter was greeted by crowds in Pittsburgh as he posed with parochial school children on the steps of a Catholic church. Some of the people can be and are deluded but the majority I believe have the ability to comprehend how it goes in politics.

Mrs. Carter says she feels the responsibility already of being the First Lady. Isn't Mrs. Carter counting her chicks before they're hatched?

Phony Gun Flashed In Bank Job

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Two men armed with a phony gun held up the downtown branch of the First Savings and Loan Association of Saginaw Wednesday, escaping with an undetermined amount of money.

Saginaw police said the pair entered the bank shortly after noon, brandishing what apparently was a toy pistol or squirt gun, and demanded cash. When the money was handed over, the thieves stuffed it into plastic bags and fled on foot.

Police said no shots were fired.

Dowagiac — "We made it!" These were the happy words used last night by Dr. Fred Mathews, chairman of the board of trustees of Cass county's Southwestern Michigan Community college which held its first classes yesterday. His words expressed jubilation over the fact that the new college was just an idea two years ago and that hard work by many persons made it possible for the new school to start on time.

Paw Paw — An emergency advance of $5,000 from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to help Van Buren in his fight against polio is already nearly gone, said George Schutt, Van Buren chapter treasurer. "The check was received Friday night," said Schutt, "and I have already issued $3,330 to pay accrued bills since July 12." Since the heavy outbreak of polio in Van Buren beginning July 12 the drain on county funds has mounted until it has reached $105 a week, according to Schutt. He said there is still $2,400 to be paid and that he will have to ask the National Foundation for more money.

BEACH BUILDING: Delivery of approximately 71,000 tons of sand to Lions Park beach in St. Joseph by truck is expected to be completed sometime next week. Beach will not be completely rebuilt, however. Aerial photo shows where sand dumping is being concentrated at north end of beach at Third and Fourth streets near bottom of photo. Sand, hauled from Thunder Mountain area in Van Buren county, creates new beach behind seawall that stretches full length of badly eroded beach. Sand delivery by truck is portion of $1 million project by Army Corp of Engineers to compensate for beach erosion blamed on harbor piers to north. Truck delivery is being handled by George Miller & Sons excavating firm. Greater quantity of sand was pumped by Corps of Engineers dredge to beach front just off bottom of photo during June. St. Joseph Public Works Director Jim Talbot said 50 to 75 per cent of the pumped sand was washed off beach by July storm, but it appears to have settled just offshore, altering wave pattern there. On-Call Status Of Grand Jury Will Be Sought

BY SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Preparing for the expiration of the Berrien citizens' grand jury on Friday, Prosecutor John A. Smetanka said he will seek to have the grand jury empanelled on a regular basis.

The prosecutor said the standing grand jury would be called "as needed" to aid police in investigations that might stall without the grand jury's special powers.

The current 17-member citizens' grand jury, originally empanelled in February, expires Friday. It was empanelled by Berrien's circuit judges at Smetanka's request, and was granted a one-month extension in August.

"I want to discuss with the circuit judges and the board of commissioners the feasibility of having the citizens' grand jury empanelled on a regular, year-to-year, basis," Smetanka said during an interview. "It would be the same type as we have now and would assist law enforcement agencies and look into potential criminal activity."

The grand jury to date has indicted 15 people, including four on murder charges. Two men were convicted in circuit court of murder, and another man is awaiting sentencing after pleading no contest to a fraud charge. Charges against two people have been dismissed, and the others are awaiting trial or preliminary hearings.

Smetanka noted that although the grand jury ends Friday, a statute provides that the circuit judges can recall the same jurors to complete matters pending but not completed. "There are matters which are not completed," Smetanka said, "and we anticipate the grand jury will be recalled."

He noted the additional grand jury time will probably not cost anything extra, since there is still some money left from the original $27,000 appropriation.

The standing grand jury would supplement police investigation that might be at a dead-end, Smetanka predicted, and indicated personnel currently attached to police department's could do most of the investigative work.

He said the regular grand jury would probably be used only on major investigations and, since it would most likely meet infrequently, would not cost too much.

Smetanka explained the cost would depend on the number of cases presented in such a grand jury, but that with witness and jury fees, mileage, and the services of a court reporter, the cost would be about $300 to $400 per day. "One day a month is a fair estimate of how often the grand jury would meet," he noted.

"The value of a citizens' grand jury is very high," Smetanka stressed. "If you keep the expenses down by saving the grand jury's time for matters you can't get at by any other means, then it's very economical."

He explained some of the problems with a regular grand jury are that it's more expensive than conventional methods of investigation, and is sometimes misused by some prosecutors who put difficult cases before the grand jury because making a decision might be unpopular with the public.

"But," he added, "used wisely, it is one of the best parts of the criminal justice system we have."

"I don't think it should be instituted to handle the majority of cases and I don't feel it's necessary to protect either the people's or defendant's rights in every case," Smetanka commented.

The prosecutor cited five major reasons he felt the grand jury was especially useful. They included the grand jury's power to subpoena witnesses, a provision that witnesses called but who refuse to testify can be held in contempt of court, and the secrecy provision.

Another feature is that a grand jury gets citizens directly involved in an investigation "where there should be community supervision," such as in cases of official corruption or misuse of power, Smetanka noted.

"There should be a certain community check on their officials because the citizens are the judge of what is tolerable or intolerable in official conduct," he said.

Smetanka also noted that "the mere existence of a grand jury should act as a deterrent to would-be criminals who think their position makes them immune from prosecution."

Smetanka also expressed high regard for the grand jurors themselves, saying he was "unbelievably impressed with the dedication, interest, and intelligence they brought to investigations."

"They exercised much independent judgment — and that's good. If there was ever a question that grand jurors are rubber stamps for the prosecution, that's simply not true," Smetanka emphasized.

Editor Named By Engineers

The American Society of Agricultural Engineers (ASAE) has named Mrs. Joan F. Baxter as managing editor of the Agricultural Engineers Yearbook.

In addition to her editorial responsibilities, Mrs. Baxter will coordinate ASAE publications production. Mrs. Baxter becomes a member of the professional staff after working on several ASAE publication assignments for the past two years on a part time basis.

A 1957 graduate of Michigan State University, Mrs. Baxter also attended the University of Washington, Seattle. Previously she had been associated with Unives Lunsdale corporation and Whirlpool corporation.

Mrs. Baxter and her husband James, who is manager of Whirlpool graphic arts, reside at 4817 Maple court in Coloma with their three daughters. The Baxter's also have another daughter and one grandchild.

Musical Instrument Swap Is Announced

Some need to buy, some need to sell. That's the idea behind a musical instrument swap being coordinated by members of the Benton Harbor area schools music department.

"Many parents have instruments that students no longer use, and would like much to dispose of them," explained John Nelson, a band instructor. "On the other hand, many parents of elementary students who are just beginning their musical experience could make better use of a used instrument than a brand new one."

Nelson asks that any parent wanting to sell a band instrument call the Benton Harbor high school band office at 925-5101 during normal business hours. Needed will be the type and make of instrument, condition, and price desired. Arrangements for allowing interested parents to look over used instruments should also be considered, he said.

"Band classes have started so we are urging all parents interested in selling used instruments to call us right away."

Do Mayor, Beer License Mix?

By MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer

The Michigan Liquor Control commission is currently trying to determine if selling beer and wine and being mayor of Benton Harbor mix.

A state liquor control commission official said the commission is scheduled to decide Tuesday if a section of the state liquor control act prohibiting licenses for "law enforcement officials" applies to newly-elected Benton Harbor Mayor Joel Patterson.

"This has been a rather gray area of the law," said Roy Olson, deputy director of the licensing enforcement division of the liquor control commission. "The commission will have to sit down and analyze all the facts before they make a decision."

The state liquor control commission began its inquiry of Patterson's license after the issue was raised by members of the community.

Patterson, who was elected mayor of Benton Harbor in the Aug. 3 special election, is owner of the Village Variety grocery store at 288 East Empire avenue which holds a SDM (Special Designated Merchant) license to sell beer and wine.

"I guess about the only thing I can do is wait for their opinion," Patterson told The Herald-Palladium. He said he had wondered about the issue when he decided to run for mayor, but understood that the SDM license and mayor's post were not in conflict. "If I knew there would be a conflict, I would have made some kind of decision then," he said.

The question involves Section 18 of the state liquor control act which says "No person who holds or whose spouse holds, either by appointment or election, any public office which involves the duty to enforce any of the penal laws of the state or any penal ordinance or resolution of any municipal subdivision of the state ... shall be issued any license."

Benton Harbor's mayor is given "law enforcement powers" under Section 3.8 of the city charter. "In times of public danger or emergency, he (the mayor) may, with the consent of the commission, take command of the police and such other departments and subordinates of the city as may be deemed necessary by the commission and maintain order and enforce laws."

A state attorney general's opinion issued in 1947, however, exempts some public officials from the act who are only given law enforcement powers during an emergency.

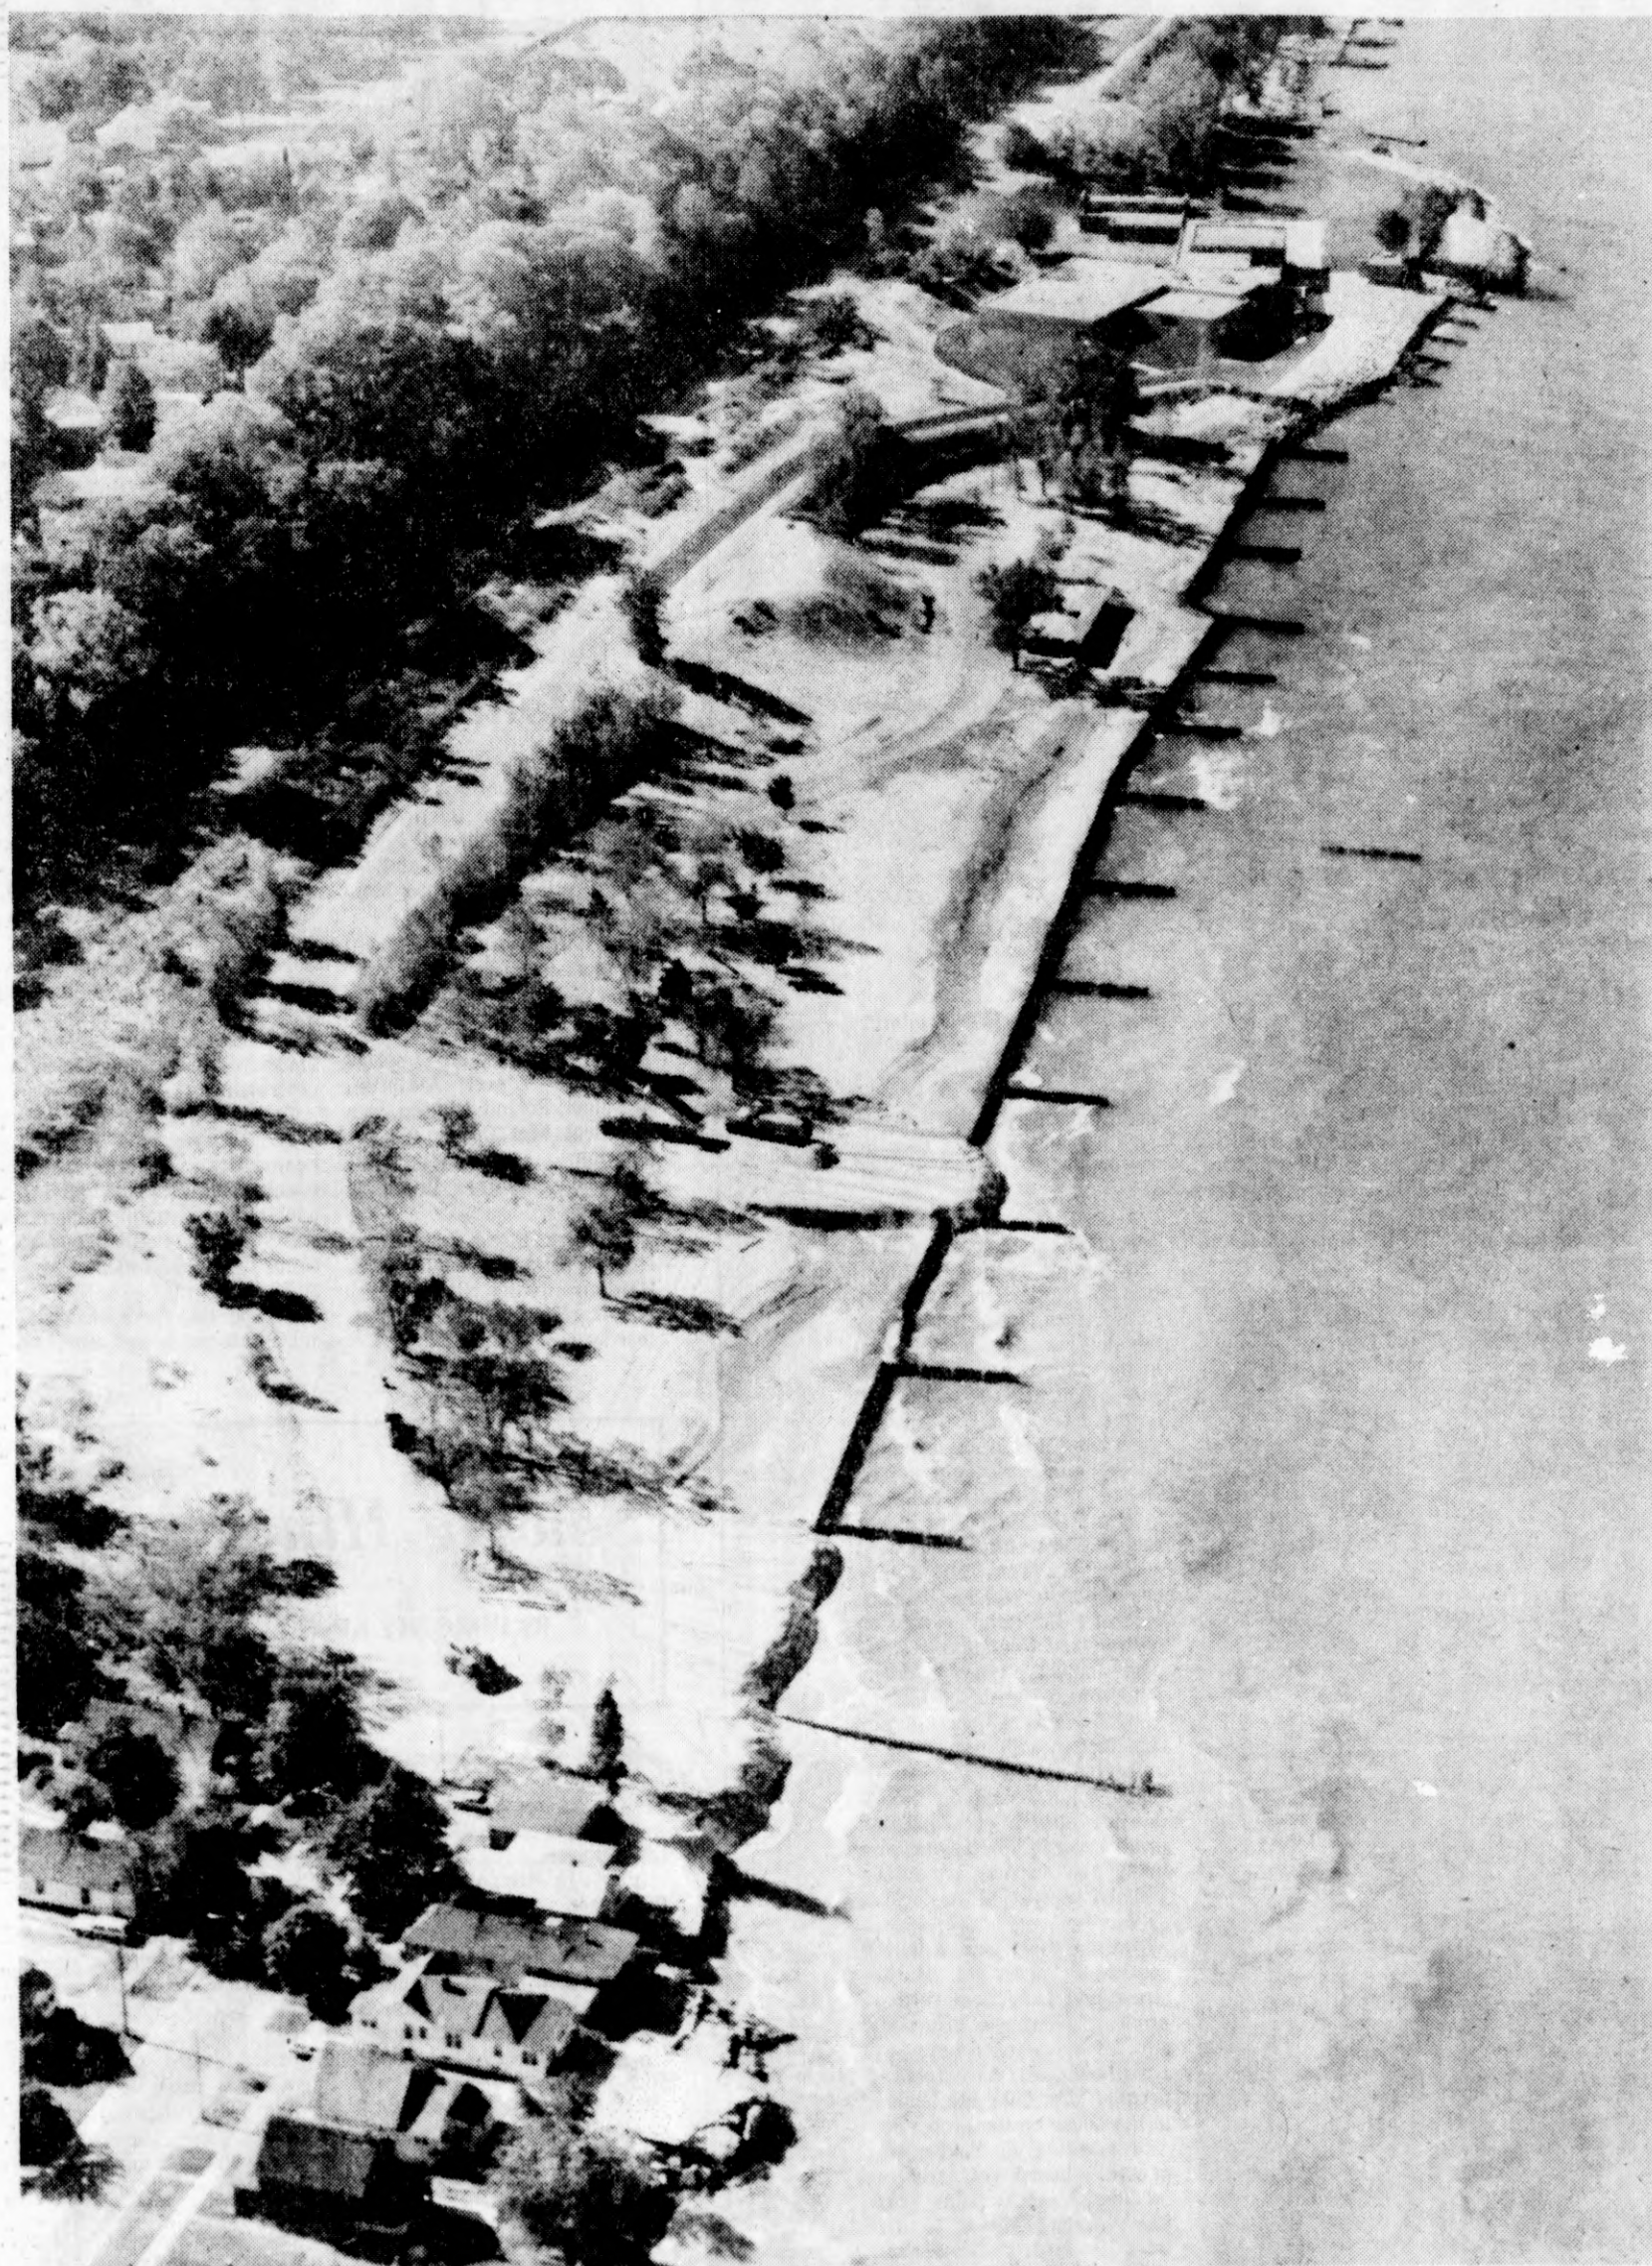

"The statutory designation of the members of village and city legislative bodies and the township supervisors as peace officers in connection with riots and unlawful assemblies is not such a characterization of the same as to make them law enforcement officials charged with the duty of enforcing the penal laws of the State of Michigan unless there is some provision in their city charters placing upon them the duty of the enforcement of city ordinances. Therefore, it is my conclusion that township supervisors and members of the legislative bodies of villages and cities as above set forth are not by terms of Section 18 of Act 133, P.A. 1945, barred from holding licenses from the Liquor Control Commission."

Olson said it will be the duty of the liquor control commission to determine if Mayor Patterson would be included as a public official exempted under the attorney general's opinion. He said the commission is currently researching Benton Harbor's city charter and also the type of license Patterson currently has.

BEACH BUILDING: Delivery of approximately 71,000 tons of sand to Lions Park beach in St. Joseph by truck is expected to be completed sometime next week. Beach will not be completely rebuilt, however. Aerial photo shows where sand dumping is being concentrated at north end of beach at Third and Fourth streets near bottom of photo. Sand, hauled from Thunder Mountain area in Van Buren county, creates new beach behind seawall that stretches full length of badly eroded beach. Sand delivery by truck is portion of $1 million project by Army Corp of Engineers to compensate for beach erosion blamed on harbor piers to north. Truck delivery is being handled by George Miller & Sons excavating firm. Greater quantity of sand was pumped by Corps of Engineers dredge to beach front just off bottom of photo during June. St. Joseph Public Works Director Jim Talbot said 50 to 75 per cent of the pumped sand was washed off beach by July storm, but it appears to have settled just offshore, altering wave pattern there. On-Call Status Of Grand Jury Will Be Sought

BY SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Preparing for the expiration of the Berrien citizens' grand jury on Friday, Prosecutor John A. Smietanka said he will seek to have the grand jury empanelled on a regular basis.

The prosecutor said the standing grand jury would be called "as needed" to aid police in investigations that might stall without the grand jury's special powers.

The current 17-member citizens' grand jury, originally empanelled in February, expires Friday. It was empanelled by Berrien's circuit judges at Smietanka's request, and was granted a one month extension in August.

"I want to discuss with the circuit judges and the board of commissioners the feasibility of having the citizens' grand jury empanelled on a regular, year-to-year basis," Smietanka said during an interview. "It would be the same type as we have now and would assist law enforcement agencies and look into potential criminal activity."

The grand jury to date has indicted 15 people, including four on murder charges. Two men were convicted in circuit court of murder, and another man is awaiting sentencing after pleading no contest to a fraud charge. Charges against two people have been dismissed, and the others are awaiting trial or preliminary hearings.

Smietanka noted that although the grand jury ends Friday, a statute provides that the circuit judges can recall the same jurors to complete matters pending but not completed. "There are matters which are not completed," Smietanka said, "and we anticipate the grand jury will be recalled."

He noted the additional grand jury time will probably not cost anything extra, since there is still some money left from the original $27,000 appropriation.

The standing grand jury would supplement police investigation that might be at a dead-end, Smietanka predicted, and indicated personnel currently attached to police department's could do most of the investigative work.

He said the regular grand jury would probably be used only on major investigations and, since it would most likely meet infrequently, would not cost too much.

Smietanka explained the cost would depend on the number of cases presented to such a grand jury, but that with witness and jury fees, mileage, and the services of a court reporter, the cost would be about $300 to $400 per day. "One day a month is a fair estimate of how often the grand jury would meet," he noted.

"The value of a citizens' grand jury is very high," Smietanka stressed. "If you keep the expenses down by saving the grand jury's time for matters you can't get at by any other means, then it's very economical."

He explained some of the problems with a regular grand jury are that it's more expensive than conventional methods of investigation, and is sometimes misused by some prosecutors who put difficult cases before the grand jury because making a decision might be unpopular with the public.

"But," he added, "used wisely, it is one of the best parts of the criminal justice system we have."

The prosecutor cited five major reasons he felt the grand jury was especially useful. They included the grand jury's power to subpoena witnesses, a provision that witnesses called but who refuse to testify can be held in contempt of court, and the secrecy provision.

Another feature is that a grand jury gets citizens directly involved in an investigation "where there should be community supervision," such as in cases of official corruption or misuse of power, Smietanka noted.

"There should be a certain community check on their officials because the citizens are the judge of what is tolerable or intolerable in official conduct," he said.

Smietanka also noted that "the mere existence of a grand jury should act as a deterrent to would-be criminals who think their position makes them immune from prosecution."

Smietanka also expressed high regard for the grand jurors themselves, saying he was "unbelievably impressed with the dedication, interest, and intelligence they brought to investigations."

"They exercised much independent judgment — and that's good. If there was ever a question that grand jurors are rubber stamps for the prosecution, that's simply not true," Smietanka emphasized.

SJ Library Open House Sunday

MAUD PRESTON PALENKE MEMORIAL LIBRARY, ST. JOSEPH
Tenth Anniversary Open House Sunday, Sept. 26
Staff Photos

The 10th anniversary of the Maud Preston Palenske Memorial Library, St. Joseph, will be celebrated with an open house Sunday, Sept. 26, from 2 to 4 p.m.

John Paul Taylor, president of the Board of Trustees of the library, will rededicate the facility at 2:30 p.m.

Also planned for the celebration will be a puppet show, "The Frog Prince," to be presented by the children's department, an art exhibit by the St. Joseph Art association, other entertainment, refreshments and information about the library.

The Maud Preston Palenske Memorial library was dedicated Friday, Sept. 23, 1966, and opened to the public the following day.

The building was made possible by a donation of $250,000 by the late Fred C. Palenske, founder of Industrial Rubber company, in memory of his wife, Maud Preston Palenske.

The new building replaced the Carnegie building at Main and Elm street, which had been in use since Nov. 11, 1904.

Plans for the present building were started in 1963 at the request of Harry L. Rimes, who was then president of the St. Joseph Library Board of Trustees. Mayor Clifford Emlong and the city commission appointed a citizens committee to study the community's needs for library service.

Mr. Palenske donated the money in 1964 and a building committee was appointed. Committee members were John Paul Taylor, chairman, Thomas L.W. Preston, A. Edward Brown, R. Thomas Herkner, Mrs. Clifford Emlong, Mrs. Paul G. Hanna, Mrs. Lester Tiscornia, Mrs. H.I. Kelsall, Robert L. Stanton and Mrs. Nicholas Zitta.

When the new library opened it was under the continued direction of Mayme Bachtel, librarian. Mrs. Bachtel served the library for 35 years and was librarian for 27 years. She retired in 1974. Anne Stobbe was appointed librarian Sept. 9, 1974.

With the additional space provided in the new building, the collection increased in size and a variety of new services were added in the years between 1966 and 1976, according to Miss Stobbe.

The book collection grew from 27,000 volumes to 62,000 volumes. As the reference section expanded, a special emphasis was placed on developing materials for business reference.

A new area of audio-visual materials was added. In 1976, this collection includes 3,000 records, 240 cassettes and cassette players, 150 8mm and super 8mm films and a film circuit of 16mm films.

New features at the library also included a 200-seat auditorium, an exhibit case and a listening area.

New programs developed in the past 10 years include a family film night every Tuesday, and a story hour for preschool through second grade children. Special programs include book discussion groups for children, special children's movies and talks by exhibitors. The children's department has grown to 15,000 volumes and has its own record collection and listening area. The newest addition to the children's department is a circulating collection of toys for preschool through eight-year-old children.

According to Miss Stobbe, special continuing services of the library include a membership in the Berrien Library Consortium, traveling library for shut-ins and recording oral history tapes.

A gift of $175,000 in the will of the late Fred C. Palenske announced in 1970, is designated to build and equip an expansion of the present building.

John Paul Taylor, president of the St. Joseph Library Board of Trustees, said, "The library has begun to actively prepare plans for the future expansion of the present building." These plans include a study to determine future needs of library services and a preliminary consultation with architects.

The building was planned for 50,000 volumes and the collection has already exceeded this limit, according to Taylor, and many new services cannot be planned because of the lack of space.

The library is located on the southeast corner of Market street and Lake boulevard on property purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Lahr, 613 Lake boulevard. An agreement permits Mrs. Lahr life tenancy in the house on the property.

In addition to Taylor, the present board of trustees includes Mrs. Nicholas Zitta, vice president; Mrs. C. Moulton Davis, secretary; Jack Sparks and Lewis Filstrup. Mrs. John T. Hammond has been an ex-officio member of the board representing St. Joseph township since 1974.

Women Managers Just Can't Win

EAST LANSING — Women who are managers just can't win if they try to follow all the advice given them about being good managers.

Women are given conflicting and often poor advice on how to be good managers, according to an article, "Women in Management: The Fallacy of the Trait Approach," in MSU Business Topics, Summer 1976. Business Topics is published quarterly by the Michigan State university graduate school of business administration.

"Early approaches to the study of leadership searched for those personal characteristics which distinguished leaders from nonleaders," according to the authors, Linda Putnam of Normandale, Minn., Community college and J. Stephen Heinen of the University of Minnesota.

Supposedly, a successful leader is a person who is aggressive, forceful, competitive, achievement oriented, self-confident, and independent. These traits, say the authors, tend to be more often associated with men than with women.

So, if a woman acts according to the male-defined rule of a leader, she is unfeminine. But if she acts like a woman, she is an unacceptable manager, they add.

Trait theories were popular between World War I and World War II, the authors explain, but fell into disfavor because results were inconclusive. Although the theory was unsupported for male managers, it seems to have been revived for women.

"No evidence can be found to link aggressiveness to such management skills as tackling challenging assignments, setting achievable goals, planning, organizing, persuading, conciliating, and conveying enthusiasm," note Putnam and Heinen.

"When authors admonish female executives to be more or less aggressive, they continue to nurture the double bind women face."

Instead of developing a certain trait, Putnam and Heinen

suggest that a woman adapt her behavior to the situation.

"Development of a universal set of traits will force her into a predetermined mold (traditionally male-defined) which may be ineffective for her and her situation," they conclude.

Sewing Hints

By DOROTHY KING

Anyone can set in sleeves that result in no puckers in the sleeve cap just by following a few simple rules and given a little practice.

All you have to do is to sew up the sleeve side or under seam and press the seam open flat. Use a heavy duty cotton thread, the kind used for top stitching, and stitch all the way around the sleeve cap just outside the five-eighths-inch seam allowance.

Using this method you will need only one row of medium length stitches, unlike the old method where two and three rows of stitches are used with a long basting stitch.

Start stitching at the bottom and stitch around the cap to meet your starting stitches, but do not lock them in place. Cut threads leaving enough thread to draw stitches for gathering. Pull thread to gather stitches on one side at a time, leaving very few gathers under the sleeve cap, but fuller at top of cap. After gathering, secure threads by pulling up on the top thread to pull through the bobbin thread to the right side of sleeve, giving you two threads on the right side.

Now, insert a pin near the thread and wind the two threads around the pin in a figure eight. This will insure your gathers from shifting. Now put the cap over the curved edges of a tailor's ham, hold a steam iron about an inch above the gathers and shrink gathers by steaming area completely.

Press with the tip of the iron the seam allowance of the cap and not beyond the stitches. Pin prepared sleeve in arm hole and stitch in place. Place the sleeve over a tailor's ham and press the seam open, steaming as you press.

Again press the seams together inward toward the garment. If there were a few puckers left after stitching these last steps, pressing and steaming should remove them.

To get a neat rounded cap when the sleeve is finished, saturate the sleeve cap with steam from your iron on the right side of the garment. Now slip your hand into a press mitt shape and mold the roundness of the sleeve by applying pressure to slightly stretch the cap. Shape until sleeve is dried from the steam.

Note: Depending on the pattern being used and your fabric, all of these steps may not be necessary to get all the puckers out of your sleeve, but in most tailored garments these steps are very much needed.

"Early approaches to the study of leadership searched for those personal characteristics which distinguished leaders from nonleaders," according to the authors, Linda Putnam of Normandale, Minn., Community college and J. Stephen Heinen of the University of Minnesota.

Supposedly, a successful leader is a person who is aggressive, forceful, competitive, achievement oriented, self-confident, and independent. These traits, say the authors, tend to be more often associated with men than with women.

So, if a woman acts according to the male-defined role of a leader, she is unfeminine. But if she acts like a woman, she is an unacceptable manager, they add.

Trait theories were popular between World War I and World War II, the authors explain, but fell into disfavor because results were inconclusive. Although the theory was unsupported for male managers, it seems to have been revived for women.

"No evidence can be found to link aggressiveness to such management skills as tackling challenging assignments, setting achievable goals, planning, organizing, persuading, conciliating, and conveying enthusiasm," note Putnam and Heinen.

"When authors admonish female executives to be more or less aggressive, they continue to nurture the double bind women face."

Instead of developing a certain trait, Putnam and Heinen

suggest that a woman adapt her behavior to the situation.

"Development of a universal set of traits will force her into a predetermined mold (traditionally male-defined) which may be ineffective for her and her situation," they conclude.

Membership is open to all citizens 18 years and over.

Sewing Hints

By DOROTHY KING

Anyone can set in sleeves that result in no puckers in the sleeve cap just by following a few simple rules and given a little practice.

All you have to do is to sew up the sleeve side or under seam and press the seam open flat. Use a heavy duty cotton thread, the kind used for top stitching, and stitch all the way around the sleeve cap just outside the five-eighths-inch seam allowance.

Using this method you will need only one row of medium length stitches, unlike the old method where two and three rows of stitches are used with a long basting stitch.

Start stitching at the bottom and stitch around the cap to meet your starting stitches, but do not lock them in place. Cut threads leaving enough thread to draw stitches for gathering. Pull thread to gather stitches on one side at a time, leaving very few gathers under the sleeve cap, but fuller at top of cap. After gathering, secure threads by pulling up on the top thread to pull through the bobbin thread to the right side of sleeve, giving you two threads on the right side.

Now, insert a pin near the thread and wind the two threads around the pin in a figure eight. This will insure your gathers from shifting. Now put the cap over the cured edges of a tailor's ham, hold a steam iron about an inch above the gathers and shrink gathers by steaming area completely.

Press with the tip of the iron the seam allowance of the cap and not beyond the stitches. Pin prepared sleeve in arm hole and stitch in place. Place the sleeve over a tailor's ham and press the seam open, steaming as you press.

Again press the seams together inward toward the garment. If there were a few puckers left after stitching these last steps, pressing and steaming should remove them.

To get a neat rounded cap when the sleeve is finished, saturate the sleeve cap with steam from your iron on the right side of the garment. Now slip your hand into a press mitt shape and mold the roundness of the sleeve by applying pressure to slightly stretch the cap. Shape until sleeve is dried from the steam.

Note: Depending on the pattern being used and your fabric, all of these steps may not be necessary to get all the puckers out of your sleeve, but in most tailored garments these steps are very much needed.

Benton Harbor

Classes in swimming, gymnastics, dance and fitness will be offered at the YMCA, Benton Harbor, for youngsters and women beginning the week of Sept. 27.

An aqua tots swim class for children six months through three years will meet at Tuesdays from 6:30 to 7:15 p.m. beginning Sept. 28.

Also starting Sept. 28 will be an advanced swim class for four to seven-year-olds which will meet on Tuesdays from 3:45 to 4:30 p.m. and a beginning dance and ballet class for four to 12-year-olds meeting Tuesdays.

Beginning swim classes for four through seven-year-olds will start Saturday, Oct. 2, as well as a small fry gymnastics class for four through seven-year-olds at 10 a.m.

A choice of morning and evening fitness classes will be offered for women. The morning class will meet Mondays and Wednesdays from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. beginning Sept. 27. The evening class will meet once a week on Tuesdays from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. starting Sept. 28.

The fitness classes will stress cardiovascular fitness with muscle tone work and flexibility.

Persons may contact the YMCA to register or for additional information.

South Branch

Registration for fall classes at the South Branch of the YMCA will be held tonight from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the Stevensville elementary school.

Classes will begin the week of Sept. 27.

Small fry gymnastics for boys and girls four to seven-year-old will meet on Mondays from 6 to 7 p.m. at Roosevelt school beginning Sept. 27.

An arts and crafts class for youngsters eight through 14 will meet on Wednesdays beginning Sept. 29 from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. at Stevensville elementary school.

The branch will offer a co-ed ski program for youngsters 8 through 14 at Royal Valley Ski Lodge, Buchanan, on Friday evenings beginning in January. Registration for this program will be accepted until Nov. 12. There is a 30 youngster class limit.

Fall adult classes will include a co-ed yoga class for persons 16 and over. It will meet at Roosevelt school, Stevensville, on Mondays from 7:15 to 8:15 p.m. beginning Sept. 27.

Morning and evening women's fitness classes are also being offered. The morning class will meet at Stevensville elementary school from 11:15 a.m. to noon on Tuesdays and Thursdays beginning Sept. 28 and the evening class will meet on Thursdays, beginning Sept. 30, from 7 to 8 p.m. at Hollywood school. Both classes will continue for eight weeks.

Women's open volleyball for those 16 and over will meet from 8 to 9:30 p.m. Thursdays at Hollywood school beginning Sept. 30.

For all additional information, persons may contact the YMCA, a participating member of Blossomland United Way.

Y-Uncles

The Y-Uncle program of the Benton Harbor-St. Joseph YMCA is observing the 10th anniversary of the founding of the organization this week, according to Robert Pennypacker, executive director.

The Y-Uncle program, which provides adult male companionship for fatherless boys ages six through 12, was originated in 1954, but due to the lack of financial support, was abandoned.

In 1966, the board of directors of the YMCA, which is an United Fund agency, added the program to its services under the name of Y-Uncles.

The program began with less than 10 matches of adult males to fatherless boys and grew to 80 matches in 1973. Currently there are more than 60 boys who need uncles. Men who apply and are accepted for the program spend one hour a week with their nephew.

In addition to an executive director, the program has a social worker who helps to insure good matches and who provides the necessary followup with uncles, nephews and mothers.

The program needs more volunteers, Pennypacker says, and those interested may contact either the central or Stevensville branches of the YMCA.

A recent independent study was conducted to provide an evaluation of the program. Each person involved in the program was contacted and interviewed with a questionnaire provided by a psychologist from the Riverwood Community Mental Health center.

Results of the study, Pennypacker says, were given to a social worker for evaluation. The total written evaluation which emphasizes that the program is one of the best in the area, is available at the Y-Uncle office.

In part it says: "The questionnaire reflects a program that is extremely worthwhile. It reflects the open acceptance by parent and boy, and the call and need for expansion. . . and the contribution any age man can make in the life of a boy who needs a friend, a model, a buddy, a teacher, a father and a Y-Uncle."

Antiques-On-The-Lake Oct. 22-23

CIVIC BENEFIT: The third annual "Antiques-on-the-Lake" show and sale, sponsored by Civic Benefit, club, will be held Friday and Saturday, Oct. 22 and 23, at Shadowland ballroom, St. Joseph. Among committee chairmen planning for this year's event which will provide materials to build a nature lab at Sarett Nature center in Benton Harbor, are, at left, Mrs.

Kenneth (Anne) Vandermolen, left, art chairman, and Mrs. Gordon (Mary) Dill, decorations. At right, are Mrs. Robert (Evelyn) Quevillon, left, snack bar chairman, and Mrs. James (Liddy) Riccioni, country kitchen. Tickets are $1.50 in advance and $2 at the door and are available Gillespies Drugs, downtown

St. Joseph; Gillespies, Niles Avenue; Richard Gillespie's Drugs, St. Joseph; Van's Pharmacy, St. Joseph; Craft And Trim and Stanciks Drugs, Stevensville; Hall of Cards, Fairplain Plaza, Benton Harbor; Badt's Pharmacy, Coloma; Nielson's, South Haven; Hall of Cards, Niles, and Sarett Nature center.

THIRTY-FIVE DEALERS: Thirty-five quality dealers will be participating in the Antiques-on-the-Lake show and sale which will be open from 10 a.m. Friday and from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Saturday. In addition to the antique displays, there will be a country store selling homemade baked goods and a snack bar serving sandwiches and beverages. Among planned for the nature center will measure 36 by 24 feet including a 12 by 24 foot porch, according to Charles Nelson, director-naturalist. A Stevensville carpenter, James Mullins, has agreed to donate his time and labor if the center is provided the materials. (Staff photos)

The story hour will meet each Thursday from 10 to 11 a.m.

Put Tropics In Luncheon

Bring the flavor of the tropics to your luncheon. So quick and easy to prepare — yet the flavor is so special.

Arrange either fresh or canned pineapple slices on a bed of crisp iceberg lettuce leaves. Top with a mound of cottage, ricotta or cream cheese. Sprinkle the top with a generous amount of walnuts. Try it with peach or pear halves, too, and a friendly "aloha" wouldn't be out of place.

Scrub Back For Glow

All that's needed to acquire a healthy back is soap and water wielded with a long-handled body brush.

Lather the brush thoroughly with dense soapsuds and scrub hard. This brisk action will remove dead skin cuticle, smooth hard-to-reach rough spots and clean and refine pores. It also helps stir up sluggish circulation and make skin take on a new glow. For added luxury, pat on body lotion or moisturizer to keep skin silky smooth.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Shame Of Divorce No Excuse

Dear Ann Landers: You often advise people with marital problems, "See your clergyman," or, "See your lawyer." Well, I've seen both and am more confused than ever.

I left my second husband (after only a few months) because our marriage was terrible, except for the sex, which was fantastic. I decided I needed more than that.

My lawyer says I am foolish not to get a divorce because (a) under our state's community property laws I could become responsible for my husband's debts (he is self-employed and in a vulnerable business), (b) he is much older than I so there's a chance he could become disabled and I would have to take care of him for the rest of his life, (c) if I should die first he could possibly inherit a large share of my estate. This

My clergyman says, "Don't divorce him. You would be a two-time loser and it would look very bad for our (Protestant) church."

What do you say, Ann? I'm going to take your advice. — Mid-West Teeter Totter

Dear Mid: Listen to your lawyer. One of the poorest reasons for remaining legally married is concern over how a divorce would look to others. And if you know how many people are doing just that, your eyeballs would pop.

Mistakes Buried

Dear Ann Landers: I've been following the debate in your column about doctors who "bury their mistakes," protected by their colleagues, etc.

I'm a laboratory technician and have worked in a hospital for 11 years. This is a small medical center but it is growing rapidly. The employees here are intelligent, conscientious people. The doctors are mainly interested in the welfare of the patients. However, I can tell you that a fair number of "mistakes" have been buried in this place. Surgeons have cut arteries, perforated intestines and screwed up in assorted and unbelievable ways. The erring surgeons were never censured. What is worse is that the families of the patients never knew the truth. "Complications" can cover just about any mistake.

Recently we got rid of a doctor who had been alcoholic for at least 15 years. How many patients died because of his faulty judgment, no one will ever know. He was brilliant and kind, but when he was boozed up he did a lot of damage.

We had another doctor (recently deceased) who was 80 years old. He was senile — could never remember where he parked his car and repeatedly called his patients by the wrong name. He had a loyal following of devotees who adored him, but I wouldn't let him treat my dog.

I hope this letter doesn't frighten your readers too badly. In closing let me reassure them that there are always some people who DO give a damn and we will protect the best interests of the patients no matter what. — Penna Tech

Dear Tech: I hope your letter will encourage hospital personnel in every city on the globe to speaking out against incompetence, alcoholism, senility — any condition that threatens the welfare of the patient. It is the moral obligation of all who see such goings-on to get rid of the klunkers — whether they are physicians, nurses or lab technicians.

Discover how to be date bait without falling back, line and sinker. Ann Landers' booklet, "Dating Do's and Don'ts," will help you be more poised and sure of yourself on dates. Send 50 cents in coin along with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

The bidding of today's hand is typical of the every day American bridge game. North opens the bidding with one heart. South is tempted to respond two spades, but settles for the proper of just one.

North jumps to three spades and South bursts right into Blackwood. North shows just two aces and South bids the small slam.

If West leads a club the slam goes right down, but West has a normal diamond lead and South makes all 13 tricks.

The really expert pair manages to bid in such manner as to find out that each player has two club losers. Not only do they stop at the safe contract of five spades, but they manage to tell their opponents what to lead. West opens a club and South makes his scientific contract right on the nose.

A New York reader wants to know who were the oldest and youngest of the 10 original life masters.

Hal Sims, who was 52 when the list was established in 1926, was the oldest. He died in 1949 at the age of 65. Sam Fry, the youngest, was 27. He still plays a lot of rubber bridge at New York's Regency Whist Club.

Dr. Lester Coleman

Twice I have given birth to healthy children and developed severe, depressing "blues" that almost destroyed me. Though we want a third child, I wonder if another period of depression can be permanent. — Mrs. L. W. Neb.

Dear Mrs. W.: Severe depression, or blues, after the birth of a child occurs frequently. Sometimes the episode is mild and lasts for a short period. In other cases the depression is deep, prolonged and difficult.

These postpartum blues must be considered as another of the emotional upheavals that happen to women under special circumstances.

With any stress, a mental crisis can occur. And the birth of a baby is now considered another stressful crisis in the life-cycle of a woman.

Obstetricians, gynecologists and psychologists are combining their talents to better understand and explain why such severe mental depression occasionally occurs. There now is a tendency to believe that the excess production of some types of hormones and hormone imbalances may be responsible.

It is also felt that psychological evaluation prior to delivery may give doctors some clue as to who may be vulnerable to postpartum depression. With this in mind, some research workers are studying hormone balance in the hope that they can maintain it and prevent its recurrence.

Before entertaining the idea of a third pregnancy, these factors should be thoroughly evaluated. It would do you and all of the children a great injustice if postpartum depression destroyed family happiness.

Is it possible for a woman to become pregnant after 50? — Mrs. U. G., VI.

Dear Mrs. G.: My nurse, who spent 15 years in the delivery room, says that she has never seen on any of the records a pregnancy after the age of 50. Actually, vital statistics show that some cases of pregnancy have occurred after 50 and even after 60. I do not know how accurate these "case reports" are.

Generally, it is accepted that the menopause, or change of life, in most instances, represents the end of a woman's reproductive life. Occasionally women continue to menstruate after the age of 50. In such cases pregnancy may be possible.

FOR FRIDAY, SEPT. 24, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Conditions are ripe for you to rectify a situation that previously caused a problem. It's to your advantage to do so promptly.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) The ways and means to undertake an important project will be available at this time. Get busy making arrangements.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't hesitate to call upon friends and contacts who could help you businesswise. They won't feel they're being used.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your present willingness to share is a sound move on your part. Although you're doing it unselfishly, you will later profit.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your forte today lies in situations where you can give your imagination free rein. Pursue creative projects.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your material prospects continue to appear very encouraging. Chase down all leads that could mean bucks in the bank.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You may be inspired to move on something today in a rather daring manner. Boldness will reward, but rashness won't.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Fortunate circumstances will develop for you today primarily through others. Be a gracious recipient.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Sometimes it's good to get off by ourselves, but that isn't true in your case today. You'll find you'll come alive in a crowd.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You have a flair for doing things today in a manner others find admirable. Perhaps it's because your purposes are unselfish.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) There is a friend who is in need of encouragement. You're the one who'll know all the right things to say.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) The possibility of turning a profit looks very strong today. What is likely to occur may transpire confidentially.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Shame Of Divorce No Excuse

Dear Ann Landers: You often advise people with marital problems. "See your lawyer," or, "See your lawyer." Well, I've seen both and am more confused than ever.

I left my second husband (after only a few months) because our marriage was terrible, except for the sex, which was fantastic. I decided I needed more than that.

My lawyer says I am foolish not to get a divorce because (a) under our state's community property laws I could become responsible for my husband's debts (he is self-employed and in a vulnerable business), (b) he is much older than I so there's a chance he could become disabled and I would have to take care of him for the rest of his life, (c) if I should die first he could possibly inherit a large share of my estate. This

My clergyman says, "Don't divorce him. You would be a two-time loser and it would look very bad for our (Protestant) church."

What do you say, Ann? I'm going to take your advice. — Mid-West Teeter Totter

Dear Mid: Listen to your lawyer. One of the poorest reasons for remaining legally married is concern over how a divorce would look to others. And if you knew how many people are doing just that, your eyeballs would pop.

Mistakes Buried

Dear Ann Landers: I've been following the debate in your column about doctors who "bury their mistakes," protected by their colleagues, etc.

I'm a laboratory technician and have worked in a hospital for 11 years. This is a small medical center but it is growing rapidly. The employees here are intelligent, conscientious people. The doctors are mainly interested in the welfare of the patients. However, I can tell you that a fair number of "mistakes" have been buried in this place.

Surgeons have cut arteries, perforated intestines and screwed up in assorted and unbelievable ways. The erring surgeons were never censured. What is worse is that the families of the patients never knew the truth. "Complications" can cover just about any mistake.

Recently we got rid of a doctor who had been alcoholic for at least 15 years. How many patients died because of his faulty judgment, no one will ever know. He was brilliant and kind, but when he was boozed up he did a lot of damage.

We had another doctor (recently deceased) who was 80 years old. He was senile — could never remember where he parked his car and repeatedly called his patients by the wrong name. He had a loyal following of devotees who adored him, but I wouldn't let him treat my dog. I hope this letter doesn't frighten your readers too badly. In closing let me reassure them that there are always some people who DO give a damn and we will protect the best interests of the patients no matter what. — Penna Tech

Dear Tech: I hope your letter will encourage hospital personnel in every city on the globe to speak out against incompetence, alcoholism, senility — any condition that threatens the welfare of the patient. It is the moral obligation of all who see such goings-on to get rid of the klunkers — whether they are physicians, nurses or lab technicians.

Discover how to be date bait without failing hook, line and sinker. Ann Landers' booklet, "Dating Do's and Don'ts," will help you be more poised and sure of yourself on dates. Send 50 cents in coin along with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Rosalynn Charges Remarks Distorted

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Jimmy Carter's wife says she is convinced that his statements in a Playboy magazine interview have been distorted and taken out of context.

"The article is about what Christianity means to him and his own strict moral code," said Rosalynn Carter at an airport news conference here Wednesday. "I think when people read the article, they'll see what he's talking about."

Mrs. Carter was being questioned about the Democratic presidential candidate's statement that "I've looked on a lot of women with lust. I've committed adultery in my heart many times. This is something that God recognized I will do — and I have done it — and God forgives me for it."

Mrs. Carter said she was convinced of the distortion after she talked to her husband Tuesday night.

Boozing On The Rise; TV Shows, Ads Blamed

SEATTLE (AP) — The number of American drinkers has doubled in the past 20 years, and television has played a big part in spurring the increase, says the director of the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism.

Dr. Ernest Noble condemned television programs and advertising which show people as successful and more sexually desirable because of drinking.

During telecasts of the Olympic games, advertisements showed a "big jock" athlete drinking, Noble said. He said children are bound to want to imitate such figures.

The Washington, D.C., institute director — a biochemist, psychiatrist and physician who has studied the effects of alcohol on the brain — said he would like to see the liquor industry use "more appropriate" advertising. He said efforts will be made to revise the television code and to ask Congress for laws to that end.

"Alcohol is not innocuous, but has biochemical, physiological and social effects," Noble said. Alcohol has a place in society, Noble said, but beer, wine and liquor are drugs which harm the brain.

Noble was here Tuesday to observe King County's alcoholism programs.

Committee Won't Punish Schorr

WASHINGTON (AP) — Television reporter Daniel Schorr will not be punished by the House Ethics Committee for refusing to hand over his copy of a secret intelligence report or to say where he got it.

But there is no official word yet on if or when he will get his job back with CBS.

CBS News President Richard S. Salant issued a statement applauding the ethics committee decision Wednesday to abandon any attempt to punish Schorr. Salant said the panel showed wisdom in recognizing "the right to protect the confidentiality of news sources."

But Salant made no mention of Schorr's future with the network.

Rep. Thomas F. Foley, D-Wash., said the committee action ends its attempt to discover who gave the report to Schorr or to take legal action against him for refusing to cooperate.

The five-month investigation, costing $150,000, involves a report of the Select House Intelligence Committee on U.S. intelligence activities.

After the panel's action, Schorr said in a statement, "The most significant thing is that the committee has decided not to press for a contempt ci-lation against a reporter who has exercised his First Amendment privilege and honored his professional obligation."

"In this sense, reason has finally prevailed and, I hope, will prevail against any future efforts to use congressional coercion against the exercise of freedom of the press."

The committee steered away from making any judgment on Schorr's claim that the constitutional guarantees of a free press protected his refusal to identify his source.

The committee voted 9 to 1 to lift subpoenas against Schorr and three others with a stipulation that the committee make no ruling or set a precedent on the constitutional question.

In other votes, the panel rejected, 6 to 5, a motion to recommend prosecuting Schorr for failing to turn over the report. It also defeated, 7 to 4, an effort to strip Schorr of his press pass to House radio-television facilities as punishment for his arranging to have the report published by the Village Voice, a New York weekly.

"THE COMMITTEE DOES NOT RECOMMEND" CITING Schorr for contempt of Congress failed on a 5 to 5 tie vote.

Rep. Albert Quie, R-Minn., said the attempt to prosecute Schorr would accomplish nothing if locating the source was still the object.

"What would happen if we did pursue this? I imagine he would go to jail," Quie said. "I've watched other cases of reporters going to jail and they go to jail for a period of time and they still haven't revealed their sources when they come out."

Subpoenas were also lifted against three other persons who appeared with Schorr in televised hearings Sept. 15.

Rosalynn Charges Remarks Distorted

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Jimmy Carter's wife says she is convinced that his statements in a Playboy magazine interview have been distorted and taken out of context.

"The article is about what Christianity means to him and his own strict moral code," said Rosalynn Carter at an airport news conference here Wednesday. "I think when people read the article, they'll see what he's talking about."

Mrs. Carter was being questioned about the Democratic presidential candidate's statement that "I've looked on a lot of women with lust. I've committed adultery in my heart many times. This is something that God recognized I will do — and I have done it — and God forgives me for it."

Mrs. Carter said she was convinced of the distortion after she talked to her husband Tuesday night.

Lady Bird Johnson, the widow of former president Lyndon B. Johnson, and Gov. and Mrs. Dolph Briscoe met Mrs. Carter at the airport. Mrs. Johnson

TWO FINGERS NOW: Vice President Nelson Rockefeller explains Wednesday in Cleveland, Ohio, he now is being sure to use two fingers in a V-for-Victory sign after drawing national attention by flashing a one-fingered obscene gesture recently at hecklers during a speech on a New York university campus. (AP Wirephoto) made no public statements, and neither woman referred to Carter's statements about Johnson, for which he has already apologized to Mrs. Johnson.

In the interview, Carter said, "I don't think I would ever take on the same frame of mind Nixon or Johnson did — lying, cheating and distorting the truth."

Committee Won't Punish Schorr

WASHINGTON (AP) — Television reporter Daniel Schorr will not be punished by the House Ethics Committee for refusing to hand over his copy of a secret intelligence report or to say where he got it.

But there is no official word yet on if or when he will get his job back with CBS.

CBS News President Richard S. Salant issued a statement applauding the ethics committee decision Wednesday to abandon any attempt to punish Schorr. Salant said the panel showed wisdom in recognizing "the right to protect the confidentiality of news sources."

But Salant made no mention of Schorr's future with the network.

Rep. Thomas F. Foley, D-Wash., said the committee action ends its attempt to discover who gave the report to Schorr or to take legal action against him for refusing to cooperate.

The five-month investigation, costing $150,000, involves a report of the Select House Intelligence Committee on U.S. intelligence activities.

After the panel's action, Schorr said in a statement, "The most significant thing is that the committee has decided not to press for a contempt citation against a reporter who has exercised his First Amendment privilege and honored his professional obligation."

"In this sense, reason has finally prevailed and, I hope, will prevail against any future efforts to use congressional coercion against the exercise of freedom of the press."

The committee steered away from making any judgment on Schorr's claim that the constitutional guarantees of a free press protected his refusal to identify his source.

The committee voted 9 to 1 to lift subpoenas against Schorr and three others with a stipulation that the committee make no ruling or set a precedent on the constitutional question.

In other votes, the panel rejected, 6 to 5, a motion to recommend prosecuting Schorr for failing to turn over the report. It also defeated, 7 to 4, an effort to strip Schorr of his press pass to House radio-television facilities as punishment for his arranging to have the report published by the Village Voice, a New York weekly.

Boozing On The Rise; TV Shows, Ads Blamed

SEATTLE (AP) — The number of American drinkers has doubled in the past 20 years, and television has played a big part in spurring the increase, says the director of the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism.

Dr. Ernest Noble condemned television programs and advertising which show people as successful and more sexually desirable because of drinking.

During telecasts of the Olympic games, advertisements showed a "big jock" athlete drinking, Noble said. He said children are bound to want to imitate such figures.

The Washington, D.C., institute director — a biochemist, psychiatrist and physician who has studied the effects of alcohol on the brain — said he would like to see the liquor industry use "more appropriate" advertising. He said efforts will be made to revise the television code and to ask Congress for laws to that end.

"Alcohol is not innocuous, but has biochemical, physiological and social effects," Noble said. Alcohol has a place in society, Noble said, but beer, wine and liquor are drugs which harm the brain.

Noble was here Tuesday to observe King County's alcoholism programs.

Watervliet Man Asks Hearing On Sex Charge

A Watervliet man charged with criminal sexual conduct third degree (formerly statutory rape) demanded preliminary examination Wednesday in Berrien Fifth District court.

Jailed on a $5,000 bond for the alleged Aug. 21 offense against a 13-year-old girl in Watervliet was William D. Ferrell, 39, of Red Arrow highway.

In other cases, three people were bound over to circuit court on robbery charges yesterday.

Robert C. Matthews, 25, of 617 Clay street, Benton Harbor, on a charge of armed robbery July 28 against Dennis Peek in Benton Harbor. Bond was continued at $15,000.

Bryan S. Bogan, 18, of 1834 Crystal court, Benton Harbor, and Larry A. Johnson, 18, of 1722 Crystal court, Benton Harbor, both on a charge of unarmed robbery Sept. 12 against R. E. Robinson in Benton Harbor. Bonds were continued at $10,000 each.

Sentenced yesterday were: Maddox T. Ranson, 50, of Chicago, $200 for possession of an unregistered gun Sept. 12 at the Colfax Inn in Benton Harbor.

Johnnie Walker, 51, of Chicago, $150 or 30 days in jail for driving under the influence of intoxicants Sept. 22 in New Buffalo township.

James Williams, 46, of 847 Broadway, Benton Harbor, $150 or 90 days in jail for exciting a disturbance in Cook's tavern Sept. 11, reduced from carrying a concealed weapon.

Raymond C. Howe, 42, of Range Line road, Berrien Springs, $50 or 10 days in jail for failure to report a property damage accident Dec. 25, 1970, in Buchanan township and 10 days in jail for contempt of court for failure to appear in court on the traffic charge.

Gregory A. Sprague, 26, of 1375 Hurd avenue, Benton township, three days in jail and $50 or 20 days total for driving with a suspended license Sept. 18 in Hagar township.

Charles Strew, 25, of 491 Shady lane, Watervliet, $25 for assault June 24 in Watervliet township.

Calvin A. Adams, 32, of 420 Lakeshore drive, Stevensville, $105 for disorderly person, window peeper, June 17 at the Cedar Crest apartments in Stevensville.

Barbara Hotchout, 29, of Box 224 US 31, Berrien Springs, $105 for impaired driving May 5 in Berrien Springs-Oronoko township.

Let's Talk Real Estate

Jim Ziems, G.R.I.

What price objectivity? Many people think it wise to try to sell their own homes—and most times end up wishing they had not tried. Why is this so? First of all, the seller of a home is usually—and rightly—very involved emotionally with the home he is trying to sell. Secondly, setting a fair asking price is a job for an expert—not for someone who heard what his neighbors asked for their homes (and not what they finally received); thirdly, you may love your home, and still not be able to show it off to its best advantage.

Let's Talk Real Estate

by Jim Ziems, G.R.I.

What price objectivity? Many people think it wise to try to sell their own homes—and most times end up wishing they had not tried. Why is this so? First of all, the seller of a home is usually—and rightly—very involved emotionally with the home he is trying to sell. Secondly, setting a fair asking price is a job for an expert—not for someone who heard what his neighbors asked for their homes (and not what they finally received); thirdly, you may love your home, and still not be able to show it off to its best advantage.

Indeed, you'll find that professional assistance from ZIEMS RED CARPET REALTORS, 4140 South M-139, 429-1518 yields extra value-call us today with your listing. We have a large backlog of qualified buyers and will show your home only to likely candidates, thereby avoiding the necessity of dozens of extra people tracking through your home.

Mondale Appears In Michigan Today

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Democratic vice presidential candidate Walter Mondale was to visit Michigan today for his second appearance in the state this month.

Backers of the Minnesota senator said Mondale would make "a major address" at Michigan State University.

The speech was designed to try to refute some of the remarks made last week by President Ford at the University of Michigan, an aide said. Particulars of Mondale's speech were not disclosed.

Mondale was in Detroit two weeks ago to address a Baptist convention, a United Auto Workers political meeting and to open the downtown "Don Riegle For Senate" headquarters.

Today's appearance will come just hours before the two ticket leaders — Republican President Ford and Democratic challenger Jimmy Carter — are to debate on television and radio.

Mondale was to arrive today at Lansing's airport at 9 a.m., conduct a 9:15 a.m. news conference, motorcade to MSU and deliver his address shortly after 10 a.m. in the Student Union Building.

Mondale was then scheduled to travel to Durand, arriving at 11:30 a.m. for a walking tour, a conference with city leaders and lunch. Then he planned to travel to Flint, arriving at United Auto Workers Local 599 retiree hall at 1:20 p.m. At 2:10 he was to depart from Flint's airport.

Weekend Events Listed

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan is staging a host of weekend events to attract visitors, the list ranging from Mother Nature's own fall color show in the Upper Peninsula to a showing of 60 old time fire engines at Greenfield Village. The Automobile Club of Michigan said a telephone survey showed U.P. color was best near Crystal Falls where it ranged up to 75 per cent. Fire buffs were in for a treat at Greenfield Village with hosecarts and hand pumps, some dating back to the 1970's converged for two days of firefighting contests. Other weekend events in Michigan included several apple cider festivals, and a cake decorating week at the Monroe County Fairgrounds in Monroe.

Milliken Appoints 10

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has named Stephen Galetti of Ypsilanti as chairman of the Michigan Council on Physical Fitness and Health. Galetti is associate professor of physical education at the University of Michigan. The council assists the state Department of Public Health in coordinating and developing a statewide physical fitness and health program. Milliken made nine other appointments to the council. They were: John Pingel of Grosse Pointe Woods, Janet Wessel of Okenos, Richard Redearn of East Lansing, former Detroit Tiger star Al Kaline of Bloomfield Hills, Phyllis Terwilliger of Quinnesec, Charles Kuntzman of Spring Arbor, Jean Hook of Midland, William Blamer of Grand Blanc and Patty Atkinson of Mancelona.

Wins $150,000 In VW Suit

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — After a three-week trial, a Michigan native now living in Florida has been awarded $150,000 damages in a suit charging Volkswagen with negligent design. William Anderson, 66, formerly of Muskegon and Big Rapids, Mich., but now living in Port Charlotte, Fla., filed suit against the German automaker after a head-on collision that killed his wife and left him disabled. Anderson, who sought damages totaling $400,000 for himself and his wife's estate, contended his 1968 Volkswagen van had a faulty design which could not withstand the impact of a front end collision. The Muskegon County Circuit Court suit stemmed from a Dec. 13, 1970, crash near Twin Lake, Mich., where an Oldsmobile station wagon collided head-on into the Andersons' van after skidding on a slush-covered road.

Arson Rate Rising Fast

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Arson is one of the fastest rising crimes in Michigan, up 20 per cent in Michigan's urban areas in 1975, according to State Police. Detective Lt. Myron Franks of the State Police's Fire Marshal Division said law enforcement officials expect the upward trend to continue. Franks, addressing 120 municipal fire inspectors, said arson throughout the state was up 14 per cent in 1975, although rural arson was down by not quite one per cent. Twenty of 62 fire deaths in Detroit so far this year have been murder by arson, he said. He added that a statewide program which offers up to a $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of an arsonist has attracted 60 tips in its first year. One tip led to the arrest of seven arsonists, he said.

Transit System Wins Support

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken and leaders of both parties have signed an informal pact pledging their support to funding legislation for a Southeastern Michigan Mass Transit System. The agreement — which is not legally binding — also calls for an all out effort to pass a total state transportation project by the end of 1978. In an apparent move to appease highway interests, the agreement says the total package should emphasize "new road and street funding." Included in the written agreement are pledges to push for full passage of a controversial measure to give state financial support the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) needs in order to qualify for some $500 million to $600 million in federal transit aid.

State Gasoline Prices Dip

DETROIT (AP) — The price of regular gasoline along major Michigan highways dipped slightly for the first time in five weeks, according to the weekly survey by the Automobile Club of Michigan. The AAA survey of 300 brand name stations along state tourist routes showed regular gas averaged 62.8 cents a gallon, down two-tenths of a cent from last week's all time high. Prices ranged from 53.9 cents to 68.9 cents a gallon. Unleaded gasoline averaged 64.7 cents, down three-tenths of a cent from a week ago. In the Detroit area, average prices for both regular and unleaded fuel were down one-tenth of a cent this week, to 59.9 cents and 62.9 cents respectively at the 100 metropolitan stations surveyed.

More School Pacts Signed

LANSING, MICH. (AP) — About 84 per cent of Michigan's 530 school districts have signed teacher contracts for 1978-79, the state Department of Education reported Wednesday. The department said 337 districts now have signed contracts, 11 more than last week. This means teacher contracts have been ratified in districts enrolling 1.4 million K-12 students, or more than 70 per cent of the state's two million students. Dr. John Porter, state superintendent of public instruction, said 24 districts with 87,000 students have tentative agreements which remain to be ratified by teachers, boards or both. He said 168 districts with 520,000 students, or 25 per cent of the state total, still were negotiating. One district — Gwinn in Marquette County with 3,300 students — reported a teacher work stoppage, Porter said.

Swainson Informant Sues

MT. CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — A central figure in the criminal trial of former state Supreme Court Justice John B. Swainson has filed suit to collect $39,000 for the destruction of his home in a mysterious fire last November. A hearing was set for Oct. 25 in Macomb County Circuit Court on the suit by John J. Whalen, now a prisoner in a federal penitentiary, and his wife against their insurance firm, Hartford Accident and Indemnity Co.

Whalen's three-bedroom home in St. Clair Shores was destroyed in what authorities called a "skillful torching" job. No arrests were made, but police speculated it was done as a warning to Whalen. Whalen, a convicted burglar, was an FBI informant and the chief witness in Swainson's bribery conspiracy trial last year. Swainson was convicted of perjury and resigned from the court.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Two Doors Stolen From Parked Car

State police of the Benton Harbor post investigated an unusual theft Wednesday — two front doors from a car parked in a local parking lot.

Alan Munson, Sunnyside, Calif., told troopers he found the doors missing from his rented 1976 Chevrolet Monte Carlo about 9:30 a.m. The car was parked at the Benton Harbor Holiday Inn, 2800 South M-139, Benton township. Troopers said nothing else was missing from the auto.

In another theft case, Benton Harbor police said a 1980 CB radio was reported stolen from the car of Joe Katowich, 1400 Kephart, Berrien Springs, parked in a lot in the 300 block of West Main street.

St. Joseph police said seven cars were broken into at a downtown parking lot Wednesday and a man was arrested on a charge of larceny from a motor vehicle.

Police said they found a man inside a car after receiving reports that a man was going through cars at the city parking lot at the corner of Main and Ship streets about 4:15 p.m. Police said a woman's jacket, a set of keys and a can opener were taken from the man.

According to police, it appeared in some instances items taken from one car were put into other cars. William Juitie knife attack Wednesday morning and a man was arrested Wednesday afternoon.

Released after treatment Mercy hospital was Dorot Johnson, 38, of 710 Lavette street. Booked at the Berrien county jail on a charge of assault with intent to do grievous bodily harm less than murder was David Frank Bowman, 31, of 710 Lavette.

Police said the cutting occurred shortly before 9 a.m. on 381 Riford street and resulted from an apparent argument.

Benton Harbor police said 10 young men were arrested as the result of a "joy ride" in a late bus around a fenced-in car early today.

Police said an anonymous caller reported seeing a group of people inside the enclosed area at the rear of General Air Sales, 350 East Main street about 2:20 a.m. Police said it appeared that the bus, an transit-type, was hot-wired and driven around the enclosure where it struck a parked car. The bus was backed into a chain-link fence in what police said was an attempt to break through the fence. Two young men were arrested as they were taken from the lot, police reported.

Booked at the Berrien county jail on charges of entry with breaking with intent to commit larceny were Quintin Jero-

Here Are EPA Economy Ratings For 1977 Cars

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is the list of auto models for 1977 automobiles and trucks released Wednesday by the Environmental Protection Agency.

The agency estimates that 55 per cent of all driving is done in city conditions and 45 per cent on the highway and so city and highway mileage have been combined in those percentages to show the basic economy rating of the vehicle.

The list following includes, under each economy rating, name of vehicle, city and highway mileage, size of the engine in cubic inch displacement, number of cylinders, whether the transmission is manual or automatic, and number of carburetor barrels or fuel injection.

Two-seater cars: Combined economy rating of 21 miles per gallon: Datsun 280Z, 18 city/27 highway miles per gallon, 168 cubic inch displacement, 6 cylinders, manual transmission, fuel injection; Porsche 924, 17 city/27 highway miles per gallon, 168 cubic inch displacement, 6 cylinders, manual transmission, fuel injection.

Nation Awaits Debate Tonight

the White House. Was he ready for the debate, reporters asked?

"Of course I am," he said. "I'm getting in training by dancing."

No one could predict whether the debate would be a slugfest or a fencing match, whether the outcome would be a knockout, a narrow decision or a draw.

Carter campaign pollster Pat Caddell has said he hopes to conduct a quick survey within 24 hours to test public reaction. He said he would follow that with a more detailed poll from which he hopes to have results early next week.

A spokesman for the Ford campaign committee said a similar poll was under consideration. And independent organizations are geared up to do their own surveys of voter reaction to the debate.

Tonight's debate will take place in Philadelphia's Walnut Street Theater. There are 250 seats in the theater for the general public. But the television audience is expected to top 100 million. The debates are being carried by all four national networks.

Ford's representatives wanted the presidential seal to appear on the front of his podium. Absolutely not, said the Carter representatives. Finally, the seal was ruled out.

Carter's people lost their attempt to require that the candidates be addressed as "Mr. Carter" and "Mr. Ford," to avoid having Ford referred to as "Mr. President."

Ford wanted the first debate to deal with foreign policy and national security, issues on which he likely would have an edge. But it finally was agreed decreases in rape, robbery, assault and burglary. But murders increased from 408 to 423.

In Los Angeles, 111,403 crimes were reported in the 1976 period, down from the 112,813 a year ago. Philadelphia listed 36,923 this year, down from 39,419 a year ago.

The FBI said New Yorkers experienced 314,000 crimes in the six-month period, up from 264,958 a year ago. Murder, rape and assault declined, but robbery, burglary, theft and vehicle theft rose sharply.

In Houston, the total was up from 42,692 last year to 48,457 this year and most of the increase was in the category of theft.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Two Doors Stolen

State police of the Benton Harbor post investigated an unusual theft Wednesday — two front doors from a car parked in a motel parking lot.

Alan Munson, Sunnymeade, Calif., told troopers he found 17 doors missing from his rented 1976 Chevrolet Monte Carlo about 9:30 a.m. The car was parked at the Benton Harbor Holiday Inn, 2860 South M-139, Benton township. Troopers said nothing else was missing from the auto.

In another theft case, Benton Harbor police said a $100 CB radio was reported stolen from the car of Joe Katowich, 1400 Kephart, Berrien Springs, parked in a lot in the 300 block of West Main street.

St. Joseph police said seven cars were broken into at a downtown parking lot Wednesday and a man was arrested on a charge of larceny from a motor vehicle.

Police said they found a man inside a car after receiving reports that a man was going through cars at the city parking lot at the corner of Main and Ship streets about 4:15 p.m. Police said a woman's jacket, a set of keys and a can opener were taken from the man.

According to police, it appeared in some instances items taken from one car were put into other cars. William Luitje, 3370 Locust lane, St. Joseph township, told police nothing was taken from his auto that had been entered, but he found a small tool kit, and a man's jacket that did not belong to him.

Booked at the Berrien county jail was Thomas Dotson, age and address unknown.

Benton Harbor police said a woman sustained several cuts on her face, back and arms in a knife attack Wednesday morning and a man was arrested Wednesday afternoon.

Released after treatment at Mercy hospital was Dorothy Johnson, 38, of 710 Lavette street. Booked at the Berrien county jail on a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder was David Frank Bowman, 34, of 710 Lavette.

Police said the cutting occurred shortly before 9 a.m. at 391 Riford street and resulted from an apparent argument.

Benton Harbor police said two young men were arrested as the result of a "joy ride" in a large bus around a fenced-in car lot early today.

Police said an anonymous caller reported seeing two people inside the enclosed area at the rear of General Auto Sales, 350 East Main street about 2:20 a.m. Police said it appeared that the bus, an old transit-type, was hot-wired and driven around the enclosure where it struck a parked auto. The bus was backed into the chain-link fence in what police said was an attempt to break through the fence. Two young men were arrested as they ran from the lot, police reported.

Booked at the Berrien county jail on charges of entry without breaking with intent to commit larceny were Quintin Jerome Longs, 19, of 1773 Eastland avenue, Benton township, and Melvin Powell, 17, of 856 Edgumbe avenue, Benton Harbor.

Howard: Release Jail Probe Papers

UNION PIER — The Democratic candidate for Berrien county sheriff says he wants the papers related to the prosecutor's investigation of recent jail escapes made public.

In a letter to Berrien county Prosecutor John A. Smietanka, Democrat Jesse Howard said: "I realize that many investigations must be handled discreetly, however, the results of these investigations — particularly if it involved a public official — should be public record."

Howard sent a copy of the letter to this newspaper.

In a telephone interview about the letter, Howard expanded his request to include all the investigation records. The letter was dated Sept. 21.

Smietanka announced Sept. 15, that there would be no prosecution for negligence in connection with the escape of three prisoners from the jail since July 26. He had notified Howard of his decision by letter.

Howard is challenging incumbent Republican Sheriff Forrest (Nick) Jewell in the November general election.

Flipping Out

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Comedian Flip Wilson will be joined by Olympic gold-medalist Nadia Comaneci in a one-hour television special to be shown Thursday, Nov. 18, on CBS-TV.

The program, which will also be seen throughout Europe, will be the first coproduction involving U.S. television and the official state broadcasting organization of Romania.

New Lebanese President

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Lebanon changed Christian presidents today, but the civil war that has ravaged the Moslem-Christian nation for 17 months blazed away without letup.

President Suleiman Franjeh handed over his constitutional authority to President-elect Elias Sarkis in a small ceremony at Franjeh's wartime headquarters in Jounieh, 12 miles north of Beirut. Christian radio stations reported. Leaders of the right-wing Christian militias pledged their support to Sarkis and called on their foes in the leftist alliance of Palestinians and Lebanese Moslems to stop shooting and start talking. Leftist leaders also declared their support for Sarkis but told him there could be no peace until he secured the withdrawal of the Syrian forces who intervened in the civil war last June on the side of the Christians.

Nun Sides With Carter On Abortion

By DICK PETTYS
Associated Press Writer
ATLANTA (AP) — A nun who is one of Jimmy Carter's top campaign officials says she and many other Catholics share Carter's view on abortion, and she doesn't expect Catholics to vote as a bloc against him.

Sister Victoria Mongiardo, director of ethnic affairs at the Democratic presidential candidate's national headquarters, said that Carter is more likely to have trouble with voters wary of a Southerner.

"What may be a larger problem than the abortion issue is people feeling that they don't know Jimmy Carter — you know, a Southerner; and they don't understand a Southerner that well," she said. Sister Victoria — who is called Vicky by her coworkers — commented in an interview Wednesday, the first she has granted since leaving the National Center for Urban Affairs in Washington nearly three weeks ago to work in Carter's campaign.

She is a sister of the Missionary Servants of the Most Blessed Trinity. The "Trinitarians" are based in Philadelphia and specialize in social work.

Sister Victoria, 37, says Carter's stand on abortion — personal opposition without favoring a constitutional amendment to ban it — reflects her own view and that of many other Catholics.

"Even though people are against abortion they feel the constitutional amendment is not really the way to handle it," she said. "People have to make their own decisions."

Sister Victoria, born in Brooklyn, N.Y., to Italian immigrants, said she grew up in a "multiethnic neighborhood" and feels comfortable in her new job, "trying to relate to different ethnic groups around the country."

"I'm trying to present the views of different ethnic groups to the Carter campaign ... and how I think Jimmy Carter can relate to those people," she said.

She also provides the names of contacts in ethnic organizations to Carter field workers wherever the candidate is visiting.

Sister Victoria said she can be valuable because she has had contact with different ethnic leaders around the country.

She said she helped arrange Carter's meeting three weeks ago with the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, which declared after the meeting that it was "disappointed" with Carter's stand on abortion.

Meeting later with President Ford, the conference said it was "encouraged" by Ford's stand.

The bishops have since said their statements were not intended to express a preference for either candidate or party.

"I really think a lot of this has been sort of dramatized by the press," said the nun. "It has to be treated with concern and respect ... but I think the other issues of employment and health care ... are very important to people, too."

BH Moose Lodge Plans CB Event For Oct. 2-3

Benton Harbor Lodge No. 1570, Loyal Order of Moose, will sponsor a C.B.-A-Bama Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 2, and 3, according to Lynn Hentschel, chairman.

Special features will be the road rally and a scavenger hunt run over a 15-mile course with only C.B. directions to follow. Entrance fee for the two events which will be conducted from 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday is $2.50. Hentschel says prizes will include a C.B. radio, head set with voice box, trunk mount antenna, and a quick disconnect mount.

Also on Sunday will be a C.B. equipment show beginning at 10 a.m. Displayed will be new and related pieces of C.B. equipment and electronic gear.

Also on Sunday's agenda will be a breakfast at 9 a.m.

Saturday's events will include a roast beef dinner, at 8 p.m., C.B. class enrollment from 8 to 9 p.m., followed by dancing at the lodge, 501 Zollar road, Benton Harbor.

The C.B.-A-Bama is for Moose members and their invited guests, according to Ruby Bausworth, co-chairman.

Maddox Seeks To Get On Michigan Ballot

DETROIT (AP) — Former Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox brought his independent bid for the presidency to Michigan Wednesday, spending most of his time blasting fellow Georgian and Democratic nominee Jimmy Carter.

Maddox called Carter, "the most dishonest person I have ever met," adding, "If I hadn't known Carter for 10 years, I might be one of his campaign leaders now."

The state Supreme Court recently ruled that Maddox's name will not appear on the Michigan ballot. The American Independent Party candidate was in Michigan to confer with lawyers about an appeal of that decision.

The court action came when the Michigan AIP split early this year, with one faction backing Maddox and the other supporting Tennessee Sen. Anderson. Maddox said he is on the ballot in 20 states.

Pledging an "open-up, cleanup, throw-out" administration, Maddox said if elected he would cut back on the growth of federal bureaucracy and would introduce legislation to guarantee cities two per cent of each year's federal budget.

He also said he favors maintaining or increasing the defense budget, and a withdrawal of federal influence over public education.

While criticizing a wide range of public figures from Secretary of State Henry Kissinger to conservative William Buckley, Maddox reserved his sharpest criticism for Carter.

"As far as I'm concerned there should be a Carter-Carter-Carter debate before there's a Carter-Ford debate," he said.

"Jimmy Carter is the most dishonest person I have ever met. I don't mind if he tells one — even three — (lies) a day, but I can't ever catch him telling the truth."

Throwaway Battle Grows

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — While Gov. William Milliken is fighting to ban non-returnable bottles in Michigan, a special business and industry coalition is gearing up to defeat the ballot proposal banning throwaways. Milliken said Wednesday "a strong possibility" exists that the ban will be adopted in the November election.

Opponents of the proposition contend passage would boost the cost of soft drink and beer cans and bottles. "Today the conservation movement is tough and battle-tested and has a broad base of public support," Milliken told the Joint Conference of the American Fisheries Society and International Association of Game, Fish and Conservation Commissioners.

Environmentalists claim that by requiring a cash deposit on bottles, people will be more likely to return them to stores than dump them along roads or in woods and lakes. Oregon has a similar law. Shortly after Milliken spoke, the State Highway Commission also voted to back the throwaway ban. The commission said it spends "millions of taxpayers' dollars every year to beautify and develop our roadsides and to pick up after litterbugs. We're convinced that a ban on non-returnable beer and pop containers would do a great deal to relieve this situation."

Meanwhile, a coalition of industry, labor and private citizens called the Committee Against Forced Deposits has launched a campaign against the ban. "In a nutshell, the costs to the consumer, the workman and the industry would be too great for the minimal effects on litter which would result from the proposal," a coalition spokesman said.

At least a 10-cent deposit would be required on all soft drink and beer cans and bottles which could be used by only one manufacturer, the coalition contended. At least a five-cent deposit would be required on the same bottles and cans which could be used by more than one manufacturer, it said. The coalition also said the proposal would make it illegal to use pull-tab cans for soft drinks and beer. The penalties of $100 to $1,000 for retailers, distributors or manufacturers every day a violation occurs would be excessive, the group asserted.

Want To Keep Score On Tonight's Debate?

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Want to keep your own score of tonight's debate between President Ford and Jimmy Carter?
Want to compare notes with the experts?
Here's how.
Five leading university debate coaches will judge the debate for The Associated Press.
You can score the debate yourself, using the same kind of scorecard the experts are using, and compare your results with theirs, when they are reported in Friday afternoon's edition.
The judging panel is using a scorecard modeled after the form used by the American Forensic Association for student competition.

Prof. James J. Unger, director of forensics at Georgetown University in Washington, prepared the accompanying ballot and the instructions for its use. Unger, whose teams have reached the final round of every major national debate tournament, is a graduate of Harvard Law School and will serve as one of the panelists.
The other panelists are:
Dr. Barbara O'Connor, chairman of the Department of Communications Studies at California State University, Sacramento. She directs one of the largest speech programs in the nation.
Dr. Donn Parson, director of forensics at the University of Kansas. His team won the national intercollegiate debate championship in April.

Prof. William Southworth, director of forensics at the University of Redlands in Redlands, Calif. His teams have the most successful record in the Far West.
Prof. Melissa Maxey Wade, director of forensics at Emory University in Atlanta. She is director of the largest debate tournament in the South.
The debate scorecard uses a point system of evaluating Ford and Carter on each of six aspects of their performance.
In addition, each of the panelists will briefly explain his or her evaluations.

ANALYSIS: Does the speaker identify issues which are clearly relevant? Does he offer sound basic premises for his subsequent lines of argument?

REASONING: Does each step in the speaker's process of argument seem reasonable and logical? Does he move soundly from premise to conclusion without logical error?

EVIDENCE: How effectively does the speaker support his own assertions with valid factual or statistical information, or with the objective opinions of recognized experts?

ORGANIZATION: Does the speaker present his arguments in a clear and well organized manner, or is he overly complex and confusing?

REFUTATION: How effectively does the speaker expose the analytical, logical, or evidential fallacies in the arguments of his opponent?

PRESENTATION: How persuasively does the speaker communicate his message? Does he combine delivery, gestures, and eye contact to create an image of competence and leadership?

Compromise On Security Is Reached

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Authorities have reached a compromise with a coalition of protest groups that had filed suit to limit the area that will be sealed off tonight for the debate between President Ford and Jimmy Carter.
The coalition had sought a restraining order in U.S. District Court to prevent Secret Service agents and police from cordoning off a four-block area around the Walnut Street Theater.
The suit, filed on behalf of 16 groups and eight individuals, had claimed that the security arrangements would violate the protesters' First Amendment rights to express their views peacefully.
Lawyers for the city, the Secret Service and the plaintiffs reached the compromise after a meeting Wednesday afternoon. Carol Tracy, a spokesman for the coalition, said the plaintiffs appeared to favor the compromise.
Under the agreement, some of the areas that would have been closed to the public now will be open.

Legendary Bird Fails To Appear In Illinois

ALTON, Ill. (AP) — As Richard Eichhorst and 55 high school students watched in vain from bluffs above the Mississippi River, the legendary Piasa bird failed to make its scheduled appearance — for the 303rd consecutive year.
"Keep your eyes peeled," Eichhorst exhorted the students who joined him at dawn Wednesday, hoping to see the scaly, claw-footed bird with a dragon-like head emerge from the river and pick a cave for the winter.
Illini legend has it that the Piasa can be glimpsed at dawn on the first day of fall. Explorers Louis Joliet and Jacques Marquette described seeing a massive painting of the bird on the bluffs during their journey down the Mississippi in 1673.
But the bird itself has not been sighted since that time, and the colorful drawing was blasted into bits during highway construction. A modern version has since been painted in its place.
Eichhorst said, however, that there have been reports of people "finding the remains of human bones" and reports of mysterious disappearances attributed to the Piasa bird.

When dawn came, he said, "a few individuals thought they saw a shadow cross." But there was no confirmed sighting of the elusive Piasa.

Killing Sparked By Underwear

DETROIT (AP) — A woman who criticized her mother for letting her boyfriend wear underwear around the house was shot and killed Wednesday, police said.
Barbara Gould, 23, was visiting her mother, Lois Mitchell, 53, when the two began arguing over the fact that Thomas Behe, 52, was walking around the house in his underwear, police said.
The daughter said her mother was responsible for Behe's behavior and during the argument, Mrs. Mitchell fired one shot at her daughter, striking her in the chest and killing her, police said. Mrs. Mitchell is in police custody.

Fighter Plane Sank In Scotland Navy To Launch Search

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy is about to begin an underwater search mission off Scotland that has nothing to do with the legendary Loch Ness MONSTER.

The Navy is trying to locate a sophisticated F14 fighter plane that plunged to the Atlantic Ocean floor after rolling off the deck of the aircraft carrier John F. Kennedy last week.

The expedition will begin as soon as weather permits, the Pentagon said. The F14 went overboard about 75 miles north-west of Scapa Flow and rests in nearly 1,000 feet of water.

The exact location of the multi-million dollar F14 and its secret equipment is unknown because the plane might have drifted in underwater currents.

Questioned about possible Soviet interest in the late model warplane which carried one advanced Phoenix missile and other secret gear, Pentagon spokesman Alan Woods said, "I know of no Russian attempts to recover the F14."

Meanwhile, Woods confirmed that U.S. technical intelligence specialists are working with Japanese military experts in studying a Soviet MIG25 interceptor, one of Russia's latest planes, which was flown to Japan more than two weeks ago by a defecting Russian pilot.

"The United States has agreed to a request from the Japanese defense forces to place technical personnel and facilities at their disposal to transport the MIG25 or assist in any way," Woods said.

He said the work to be done by U.S. technicians was too sensitive to discuss.

Besides questions of intelligence secrets, Woods made it clear there delicate diplomatic matters at stake affecting Japanese relations with the Soviet Union, which has demanded return of the MIG25.

Woods did indicate that the Soviet plane would be flown from a Northern Japanese base, where the Soviet pilot set it down, in a base closer to Tokyo.

if it is decided to move the Russian plane in its entirety. There was also the possibility that the plane could be disassembled and its critical components flown to a base near Tokyo.

As for the effort to locate the F14 in the Atlantic, Woods said "the equipment for search has been assembled and airlifted to Prestwick, Scotland, and will be moved from there to Glasgow to be installed on the Atlantic fleet tug Shaker."

The tug will then carry the equipment and civilian technicians from Seaward, Inc., a private salvage firm, to the scene of the F14's loss. The Seaward company has been involved in recovering other downed U.S. military planes from the oceans.

Woods said the technicians would use Navy "side scanning" sonar equipment to search the bottom in an effort to pinpoint the location of the F14.

This kind of sonar sketches an image of submerged objects by bouncing sound waves from them.

Navy officials said that when the plane wreckage is located salvage equipment will probably be hired from a Scottish port to attempt the actual raising of the plane.

House Won't Block Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House refused on Wednesday to block efforts to work out a compromise on legislation over-hauling the nation's grain inspection system.

It voted 224 to 178 to table and thereby kill a motion that would have bound House conferees not to yield their position during negotiations with the Senate.

The quarrel is over the role of state inspection agencies. The Senate passed a bill providing for federal inspection of all grain being exported.

The House bill would authorize the Secretary of Agriculture to permit state inspection and would allow states to establish new inspection agencies. The bills were passed in the wake of inspection scandals.

A Senate-House conference committee has been meeting off and on for four months without reaching agreement. The Ford administration favors the House version and officials have threatened a veto if different provisions are adopted.

Rep. Joe D. Waggonner, D-La., moved to instruct the House conferees not to give in. Rep. Bob Bergland, D-Minn., moved to table.

Waggonner argued that completely federalizing the inspection system "puts with the same brush those who did a good honest job as those who have done wrong."

Rep. W. Henson Moore, R-La., said the federal inspection requirement is "an unconstitutional, insulting provision."

Rep. Robert F. Bauman, R-Md., said that because of what he termed efforts by untrained federal inspectors to impose regulations "the port of Baltimore has been tied up... 500 railroad cars can't be unloaded... grain is rotting in some instances."

Fighter Plane Sank In Scotland Navy To Launch Search

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy is about to begin an underwater search mission off Scotland that has nothing to do with the legendary Loch Ness MONSTER.

The Navy is trying to locate a sophisticated F14 fighter plane that plunged to the Atlantic Ocean floor after rolling off the deck of the aircraft carrier John F. Kennedy last week.

The expedition will begin as soon as weather permits, the Pentagon said. The F14 went overboard about 75 miles northwest of Scapa Flow and rests in nearly 1,900 feet of water.

The exact location of the multi-million dollar F14 and its secret equipment is unknown because the plane might have drifted in underwater currents.

Questioned about possible Soviet interest in the late model warplane which carried one advanced Phoenix missile and other secret gear, Pentagon spokesman Alan Woods said, "I know of no Russian attempts to recover the F14."

Meanwhile, Woods confirmed that U.S. technical intelligence specialists are working with Japanese military experts in studying a Soviet MIG25 interceptor, one of Russia's latest planes, which was flown to Japan more than two weeks ago by a defecting Russian pilot.

"The United States has agreed to a request from the Japanese defense forces to place technical personnel and facilities at their disposal to transport the MIG25 or assist in any way," Woods said.

He said the work to be done by U.S. technicians was too sensitive to discuss.

Besides questions of intelligence secrets, Woods made it clear there delicate diplomatic matters at stake affecting Japanese relations with the Soviet Union, which has demanded return of the MIG25.

Woods did indicate that the Soviet plane would be flown from a Northern Japanese base, where the Soviet pilot set it down, to a base closer to Tokyo, if it is decided to move the Russian plane in its entirety. There was also the possibility that the plane could be disassembled and its critical components flown to a base near Tokyo.

As for the effort to locate the F14 in the Atlantic, Woods said "the equipment for search has been assembled and airlifted to Prestwick, Scotland, and will be moved from there to Glasgow to be installed on the Atlantic fleet tug Shakori."

The tug will then carry the equipment and civilian technicians from Seaward, Inc., a private salvage firm, to the scene of the F14's loss. The Seaward company has been involved in recovering other downed U.S. military planes from the oceans.

Woods said the technicians would use Navy "side scanning" sonar equipment to search the bottom in an effort to pinpoint the location of the F14.

This kind of sonar sketches an image of submerged objects by bouncing sound waves from them.

Navy officials said that when the plane wreckage is located salvage equipment will probably be hired from a Scottish port to attempt the actual raising of the plane.

House Won't Block Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House refused on Wednesday to block efforts to work out a compromise on legislation over-hauling the nation's grain inspection system.

It voted 224 to 178 to table and thereby kill a motion that would have bound House conferees not to yield their position during negotiations with the Senate.

The quarrel is over the role of state inspection agencies. The Senate passed a bill providing for federal inspection of all grain being exported.

The House bill would authorize the Secretary of Agriculture to permit state inspection and would allow states to establish new inspection agencies. The bills were passed in the wake of inspection scandals.

A Senate-House conference committee has been meeting off and on for four months without reaching agreement. The Ford administration favors the House version and officials have threatened a veto if different provisions are adopted.

Rep. Joe D. Waggoner, D-La., moved to instruct the House conferees not to give in. Rep. Bob Bergland, D-Minn., moved to table.

Waggoner argued that completely federalizing the inspection system "tars with the same brush those who did a good honest job as those who have done wrong."

Rep. W. Henson Moore, R-La., said the federal inspection requirement is "an unconstitutional, insulting provision."

Rep. Robert F. Bauman, R-Md., said that because of what he termed efforts by untrained federal inspectors to impose regulations "the port of Baltimore has been tied up... 500 railroad cars can't be unloaded... grain is rotting in some instances."

Detroit's No. 2 Police Official Put On 'Leave'

DETROIT (AP) — Frank Blount, Detroit's No. 2-ranking police official, was handed an indefinite leave of absence Wednesday as Mayor Coleman Young moved to restore harmony to the dissension-racked department.

Blount's sudden departure came two days after federal narcotics agents and local police raided his home on the East Side of Detroit in search of evidence of illegal drug trafficking.

A police spokeswoman said Blount's "educational leave of absence" took effect at noon Wednesday and his duties would be assumed immediately by Deputy Chief William Hart on orders of Chief Philip G. Tannian.

Published reports called Blount's departure a prelude to the replacement of Tannian himself, which the mayor denied.

Blount, 50, the highest-ranking black in the police department's history and long at odds with Tannian, vowed meanwhile to fight the allegations of narcotics dealing "to the bitter end."

No criminal charges have been filed against Blount. A federal grand jury sat again Wednesday hearing evidence in the ongoing probe, some of it in the form of records seized from Blount's home.

Federal agents raided several other locations Monday, and subpoenaed Tannian to turn over internal files on Blount and another ranking officer, Inspector John A. Henry, acting commander of the city's 11th precinct.

Blount technically requested the leave, but it was widely assumed to have been orchestrated by Young, who said he approved of Blount's leaving and called it a "viable solution."

"There's a cloud over him and the whole department," Young said Wednesday. "I think that the confrontations between Tannian and Blount were such that he (Blount) needs to be removed ... It is my job to maintain the morale of the department and protect the interests of Frank Blount."

The leave of absence means Blount will keep his $37,000-a-year salary, continue to drive a city car and keep his gun and badge.

Blount, a 26-year veteran of the force, was handpicked by Young for the new post of executive deputy chief, and has been locked in a bitter feud with Tannian ever since.

When the narcotics investigation was disclosed a month ago, Detroit police were struggling to cope with rising youth gang violence. The Tannian-Blount feud and the drug investigation left the department badly split.

Published reports have said Young planned to oust both Tannian and his close friend Blount in hopes of restoring harmony to the department.

SPEAKING OUT: Executive Deputy Chief Frank A. Blount met with newsmen in his attorney's office Wednesday and discussed his "gut feeling". Blount left Detroit police department's No. 2 command position two days after federal narcotics agents raided his home on East Side in search of evidence of illegal drug trafficking. (AP Wirephoto)

Young has confirmed only that he plans a department reorganization.

Blount said he plans to study at the Criminal Justice Institute at Wayne State University in Detroit.

Blount met with newsmen Wednesday afternoon in his lawyer's office and said he was leaving the department because "what I'm about right now is what's good for the city."

"I don't know," he said. "They can accuse me of anything but this ... I don't know the basis of all this." His lawyer, Dennis Archer, said Blount intends to file a damage suit against top police officers to find out who gave information to the grand jury and whether false information was planted with U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration agents.

"It's not the police who get crooked," Blount said. "It's people pushing them that way ... I never wanted to use an informant but that's the only way to do police work ... The whole system ought to be brought up to where it's above reproach." Archer said the investigation "looks like a setup ... people trying to jam Frank."

BILL GOES TO PRESIDENT No Raise For Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Salaries of members of Congress would remain at $44,000 a year under a bill before President Ford that also holds the line on pay for federal judges and top government officials.

The House voted 200 to 84 Wednesday for an appropriation bill that denies pay raises to the officials that is due in October for all federal employees. The Senate adopted it later by voice vote and sent it to Ford.

The basic bill appropriates $43.4 million for salaries and expenses of Congress and its employees and for legislative agencies such as the Library of Congress, Government Accounting Office and Government Printing Office.

Senators and representatives had been originally in line, along with federal employees, for an increase expected to be about 4.8 per cent for the higher cost-of-living.

The cost-of-living increase for Congress has been controversial since the lawmakers voted last year to include themselves, as well as judges, Cabinet members and top executive employees in the pay hike system that previously had applied only to lower-ranking employees.

The bill passed Wednesday eliminates this year's pay raise only.

Under a different law, Congress and the high-level officials may still receive an increase, possibly a larger one, next year. A commission, studying adjustment of federal executive pay to general standards, is scheduled to make its quadrennial report early in the year. It could provide the vehicle to boost congressional salaries.

A compromise that knocked out the pay raises also eliminated a 1 per cent "kicker" from the formula for adjusting pensions of retired civilian and military employees to keep pace with the cost-of-living.

An Associated Press story disclosed that the extra 1 per cent, in addition to the increase in the cost of living index, disproportionately increases pensions over the years even though it was intended merely to compensate retirees for delays in making the adjustment.

In accepting the compromise, the Senate dropped an item it had added to include $25 million for restoring the crumbling west front of the Capitol.

BILL GOES TO PRESIDENT No Raise For Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Salaries of members of Congress would remain at $44,600 a year under a bill before President Ford that also holds the line on pay for federal judges and top government officials.

The House voted 299 to 94 Wednesday for an appropriation bill that denies pay raises to the officials that is due in October for all federal employees. The Senate adopted it later by voice vote and sent it to Ford.

Milliken's Labor Post Appointee Is Rejected

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Democrat-controlled state Senate has rejected the Governor's appointment of an East Lansing attorney to head the Michigan Employment Relations Commission.

Arguing that he had no background in labor relations, the Senate voted 23-12 Wednesday against confirming James Blackburn for the sensitive labor post. His nomination had been opposed by organized labor, which said he had no experience in labor-management affairs.

All the votes against Blackburn were from Democrats — whom the Republicans accused of following labor's orders — while all those in his favor were Republican. Gov. William Milliken now must make a new appointment.

Republican leaders argued Blackburn was an impartial man for the commission, which rules in disputes over collective bargaining representation, decides charges of unfair bargaining practices and mediates labor disputes.

But Democratic Leader William Fitzgerald, D-Detroit, said Milliken did both Blackburn and the commission a "disservice" by not picking somebody more experienced in labor law.

Blackburn, 44, has held the $12,000-a-year part-time job for some three months since his initial appointment by Milliken.

The Senate took no other major action Wednesday, but prepared for a partisan battle over a crucial campaign financing bill. Senate Republicans pledged an all-out fight to defeat the Democratic-written bill unless it is changed to meet their objections.

Claiming the bill is riddled with loopholes to permit campaign donations to go unreported and special favors for organized labor, Senate GOP leader Robert Davis predicted the bill would be vetoed by Gov. Milliken unless altered.

Davis said Republicans will offer amendments to the bill today, and if they fail, the minority GOP caucus will oppose the bill's passage.

Manufacturers Quitting C Of C Merger Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Association of Manufacturers is pulling out of a proposed merger with the Chamber of Commerce, apparently out of fear it would be overshadowed by the larger organization.

The two groups are the major trade associations for American business and employ dozens of lobbyists who represent business interests to Congress and the White House.

The veto of the merger plan was made by the NAM's board of directors at a meeting Wednesday in Colorado Springs, Colo. In place of a merger, the NAM board proposed establishment of a joint council "to coordinate action on common problems affecting the business community."

Herbert S. Richey, chairman of the Chamber's board of directors, said the chamber will "study with interest" the new NAM proposal. But expressing disappointment, he added, "I personally hope that there can someday be a merger between these two organizations."

At the time the proposed merger was announced with considerable fanfare three months ago, spokesmen said they were considering adopting the name of the Association of Commerce and Industry.

Richard L. Lesher, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, was to head the new organization which was to have its headquarters in the chamber building one block from the White House.

Lesher and E. Douglas Kenna, president of the NAM, talked at a news conference in June as though the merger was virtually certain. Kenna called it "a full-fledged, 50-50 merger between the two organizations."

However, Kenna acknowledged there was concern on the part of some NAM members that the Chamber was absorbing the NAM and that the NAM's interests would be lost in the new organization.

He termed this a misunderstanding which probably stemmed from the planned move into the Chamber building.

The two organizations have traditionally had somewhat different clientele. The NAM has represented industry, while the Chamber has primarily involved itself with commercial establishments.

The Chamber was founded in 1912 and has 3,500 member organizations representing 58,500 business firms. The NAM was founded in 1896 and represents 13,000 manufacturing and business firms.

Leshner and E. Douglas Kenna, president of the NAM, talked at a news conference in June as though the merger was virtually certain. Kenna called it "a full-fledged, 50-50 merger between the two organizations."

However, Kenna acknowledged there was concern on the part of some NAM members that the Chamber was absorbing the NAM and that the NAM's interests would be lost in the new organization.

He termed this a misunderstanding which probably stemmed from the planned move into the Chamber building.

The two organizations have traditionally had somewhat different clientele. The NAM has represented industry, while the Chamber has primarily involved itself with commercial establishments.

The Chamber was founded in 1912 and has 3,500 member organizations representing 56,500 business firms. The NAM was founded in 1896 and represents 13,000 manufacturing and business firms.

Blackburn, 44, has held the $12,000-a-year part-time job for some three months since his initial appointment by Milliken.

The Senate took no other major action Wednesday, but prepared for a partisan battle over a crucial campaign financing bill. Senate Republicans pledged an all-out fight to defeat the Democratic-written bill unless it is changed to meet their objections.

Claiming the bill is riddled with loopholes to permit campaign donations to go unreported and special favors for organized labor, Senate GOP leader Robert Davis predicted the bill would be vetoed by Gov. Milliken unless altered.

Davis said Republicans will offer amendments to the bill today, and if they fail, the minority GOP caucus will oppose the bill's passage.

labor post. His nomination had been opposed by organized labor, which said he had no experience in labor-management affairs.

All the votes against Blackburn were from Democrats — whom the Republicans accused of following labor's orders — while all those in his favor were Republican. Gov. William Milliken now must make a new appointment.

Republican leaders argued Blackburn was an impartial man for the commission, which rules in disputes over collective bargaining representation, decides charges of unfair bargaining practices and mediates labor disputes.

But Democratic Leader William Fitzgerald, D-Detroit, said Milliken did both Blackburn and the commission a "disservice" by not picking somebody more experienced in

Meany Retirement Possibility Grows

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top officials close to AFL-CIO President George Meany say there is a strong possibility that Meany will retire next year after more than 20 years as head of the giant labor federation.

Meany, who at 82 remains the dominant force in the American labor movement, has been slow to recover from a recent illness. Aides say that while his basic health is good, he has lost his usual vitality and has been forced to curb some activities.

"While he seems in good shape and continues working, you would have to say that at 82, after this illness, there is that possibility" of retirement, said one associate.

Meany added to the speculation when the question was raised during a network television interview Sunday.

"I've not set any date for retirement, but I want to say very frankly that I've given a little more thought to retirement since my recent illness than I had before," he said.

It marked a sharp departure for Meany, whose past answer had always been that he would retire when either he or the international union presidents felt he could no longer do the job.

The one-time Bronx plumber has kept an iron grip on the 14-million-member federation since 1955 when he brought together the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations. He outplotted, outfoxed and outlasted his opponents and is the sole survivor of the federation's original 35-man executive council.

Meany hasn't discussed his future plans with even his closest associates. But his aides say his physical condition is getting him down. He has been hospitalized twice since February for treatment of a bronchial condition.

"I've often heard him complain before," said one associate. "But this is the first time there is a note of despair in it."

Meany's current two-year term expires in December 1977 when the AFL-CIO holds its next convention. That could provide an occasion for retirement, but there is speculation he may step down sooner, particularly if he can cap his career with a labor-backed victory for Democratic presidential candidate Jimmy Carter.

Another factor could be a decision next May by the United Auto Workers on rejoining the AFL-CIO. Meany would regard the UAW's return as vindication of his feud with Walter Reuther, who led the auto workers from the AFL-CIO in 1968. Reuther died in a plane crash in 1970.

Often mentioned as a possible successor to Meany is Lane Kirkland, 51, the federation's secretary-treasurer and Meany's most trusted associate since 1969. Although Kirkland lacks a power base that some labor chiefs believe is necessary to hold on to the job, there are presently no other union leaders on the executive council believed to have built any strength outside their own union.

But some names have been mentioned, including William Siddell of the carpenters, John Lyons of the ironworkers and Murray Finley of the clothing workers. A return of the UAW could shift the power balance toward leaders of unions regarded as more liberal politically.

Harris Face Court On Hearst Kidnap Charge

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The cross-country drama of Patricia Hearst returns to the college community where it began, as William and Emily Harris appear in court charged with kidnaping her 2½ years ago.

Their arraignment today on a 19-count complaint comes just one day before the newspaper heiress herself goes into federal court across the bay in San Francisco to be sentenced for a bank robbery conviction.

The Municipal Court site of the Harris' arraignment is a few miles from the apartment where Miss Hearst, then a 19-year-old sophomore at the University of California, was kidnaped by members of the terrorist Symbionese Liberation Army on Feb. 4, 1974.

Attorney Susan Jordan said she would ask Judge Wilmont Sweeney that the Harris, both avowed SLA members, be given a preliminary hearing instead of being subject to grand jury indictment.

The Alameda County Grand Jury is scheduled to begin hearing evidence Monday against the Harris — including the testimony of Miss Hearst. Officials said Wednesday they planned to install partitions on the second-floor grand jury wing of the county courthouse to shield the 45 scheduled witnesses from public view.

A grand jury indictment would replace the original criminal complaint and send the case to Superior Court with no preliminary hearing. The distinction is important to the Harris defense because witnesses can be cross-examined at a preliminary hearing, but not at grand jury hearing.

The Harris have been transferred to separate jails in Oakland from state prisons where they are serving 11-year-to-life terms for kidnaping, robbery and car theft in a Los Angeles crime spree. Miss Hearst also is charged in that case but has not been tried.

She faces sentencing Friday by U.S. District Court Judge William H. Orrick Jr. for armed bank robbery and the use of a firearm in a felony. She was convicted by a jury last March 26, then sent to the San Diego Metropolitan Correction Center for a psychiatric evaluation for use in sentencing.

Her sentence could range from a minimum of jail time already served and probation up to a maximum 35 years in prison.

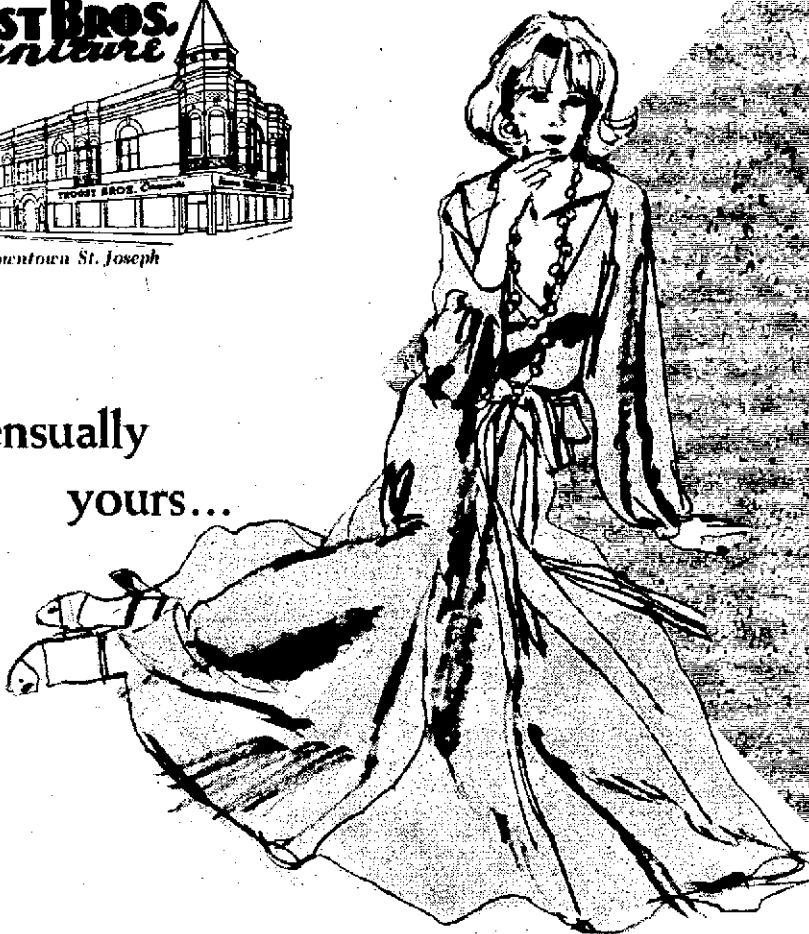

Miss Hearst, after being dragged kicking and screaming from her apartment, later announced through tape recordings that she had joined her captors in their revolutionary cause.

Most of her new comrades were killed in a fiery Los Angeles shootout with police in the spring of 1975.

JOSEPH ALIOTO

KATHLEEN SULLIVAN

San Francisco's Former Mayor To Marry Again

BOSTON (AP) — Boston School Committeewoman Kathleen Sullivan and former San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto plan to marry when his divorce becomes final, the Boston Globe reports.

The Globe said that Miss Sullivan would not confirm the report Tuesday and quoted her as saying, "My private life is private." Alioto was not available for comment.

The Globe said that Miss Sullivan, 31, and Alioto, 59, met last April when she attended the annual meeting of the National Association of School Boards in San Francisco.

She is the daughter of William Sullivan, president and majority stockholder of the New England Patriots of the National Football League.

Miss Sullivan was a special education teacher in Boston before she was elected to the School Committee.

Alioto's wife, Angelina, withdrew from public view in February, 1974, and visited California missions in a "desperate attempt to secure some measure of personal privacy." She filed for a divorce last January.

Hepburn Going On Stage Tour

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The tireless Katharine Hepburn will go from a strenuous movie to a lengthy stage tour without a breather.

"They're already rehearsing the play without me," said the actress as she finished the film "Oily Oily Oxen Free," in which she dangled from a flying gas balloon.

The play is Enid Bagnold's "A Matter of Gravity," in which Miss Hepburn appeared in New York last season. She will be taking it to Denver, Los Angeles, San Diego, Phoenix, San Francisco, Vancouver, Portland, Seattle and possibly Chicago.

"I always like to tour my plays," she explained. "I have relatives all over the country, and this is the best way to visit them."

'Exorcist' Now No. 3

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Warner Brothers claims that "The Exorcist" has now captured No. 3 position among the biggest money making movies.

The company reported that the film's rentals have reached $78.5 million, passing the mark of "The Sound of Music" — $78.4 million. The two top grossers are "Jaws" and "The Godfather."

Understandly, Warners is now filming "Exorcist II: The Heretic" with Linda Blair and Max Von Sydow repeating their roles. Also starring Richard Burton and Louise Fletcher.

Dean Film Resumed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — After a five-month lapse, "9-3-61" has resumed filming.

The Universal Picture was forced to suspend April 5 when star Richard Thomas broke an ankle in a motorcycle accident. Susan Tyrrell has joined the cast. The title "9-3-61" derives from the date that actor James Dean was killed in a highway accident.

Liz Pushing Diamonds

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor, who has resisted lending her name to commercial products, has at last found an offer she couldn't refuse: diamonds.

Harry Shuster, president and chief officer, has announced formation of the Elizabeth Taylor Diamond Corp., which will offer jewels from $500 upward through jewelers and other retailers in the United States. Shuster said the diamonds will be on the market in time for Christmas.

Redford Heads Cast

LOS ANGELES (AP) — United Artists reports that Robert Redford has begun filming his role in Joseph E. Levine's epic, "A Bridge Too Far."

Redford is portraying Maj. Julian Cook, a leader in the U. S. attack on Nijmegen bridge in September, 1944. The film is based on Cornelius Ryan's book about the World War II operation. Also starring: James Caan, Michael Caine, Sean Connery, Elliott Gould, Gene Hackman, Laurence Olivier, Ryan O'Neal, Maximilian Schell, Liv Ullmann.

Teamsters Strike Two Pepsi Plants

DETROIT (AP) — A Teamsters Union strike against two Pepsi Cola bottling plants could cause soft drink shortages in the Detroit area by early next week, company and supermarket officials said Wednesday.

More than 300 Teamsters who bottle, vend and make deliveries from Pepsi Metropolitan Bottling Co. plants in Dearborn and Detroit walked off the job Monday after rejecting a new contract offer.

Bottling plants in other Michigan cities will not ship any Pepsi products into the Detroit area during the strike. Negotiations are continuing.

Railroad Track Work Starting

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Some $1.8 million in state and federal funds will be used to upgrade 140 miles of Michigan railroad track this fall. Work will begin immediately on the Ann Arbor Railroad line in the Howell area, said John Woodford, Department of State Highways and Transportation director. "It is imperative that these upgrading projects be completed this fall to insure faster, safer movement of rail freight," Woodford said. "Continuation of current conditions on certain railroad tracks will impair customer service, create costly derailments and restrict the railroads' carrying capacity."

Liz Pushing Diamonds

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor, who has resisted lending her name to commercial products, has at last found an offer she couldn't refuse: diamonds.

Harry Shuster, president and chief officer, has announced formation of the Elizabeth Taylor Diamond Corp., which will offer jewels from $500 upward through jewelers and other retailers in the United States. Shuster said the diamonds will be on the market in time for Christmas.

Redford Heads Cast

LOS ANGELES (AP) — United Artists reports that Robert Redford has begun filming his role in Joseph E. Levine's epic, "A Bridge Too Far."

Redford is portraying Maj. Julian Cook, a leader in the U. S. attack on Nijmegen bridge in September, 1944. The film is based on Cornelius Ryan's book about the World War II operation. Also starring: James Caan, Michael Caine, Sean Connery, Elliott Gould, Gene Hackman, Laurence Olivier, Ryan O'Neal, Maximilian Schell, Liv Ullmann.

Teamsters Strike Two Pepsi Plants

DETROIT (AP) — A Teamsters Union strike against two Pepsi Cola bottling plants could cause soft drink shortages in the Detroit area by early next week, company and supermarket officials said Wednesday.

More than 300 Teamsters who bottle, vend and make deliveries from Pepsi Metropolitan Bottling Co. plants in Dearborn and Detroit walked off the job Monday after rejecting a new contract offer.

Bottling plants in other Michigan cities will not ship any Pepsi products into the Detroit area during the strike. Negotiations are continuing.

Railroad Track Work Starting

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Some $1.9 million in state and federal funds will be used to upgrade 140 miles of Michigan railroad track this fall. Work will begin immediately on the Ann Arbor Railroad line in the Howell area, said John Woodford, Department of State Highways and Transportation director. "It is imperative that these upgrading projects be completed this fall to insure faster, safer movement of rail freight," Woodford said. "Continuation of current conditions on certain railroad tracks will impair customer service, invite costly derailments and restrict the railroads' earning capacity."

President's Comic Speech Advisor Hard To Find

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's normal plodding style of speech-making has some sparkle lately, thanks in good part to a former television comic named Don Penny.

Penny isn't collecting any medals for his efforts, however. On the contrary, he is on the verge of being transformed into the White House equivalent of a impersonator.

Politics has something to do with it. And another factor to be considered is Penny's own disregard for chains of command — like popping in on the President without getting an appointment through Ford's underlings.

One of Ford's aides said last week he expected the 43-year-old Penny to play a significant role in the President's preparations for Thursday's debate with Jimmy Carter. It seemed a reasonable expectation, because Penny helped coach Ford on his successful and well-received acceptance speech at last month's Republican convention.

But evidence that Penny has contributed anything to debate planning is hard to come by.

"I just don't know what Don Penny has been doing," said Ford's press secretary, Ron Nessen.

Without announcement, Penny was transferred earlier this month from the White House payroll to the Ford campaign committee payroll.

He had been drawing $150 a day as a White House consultant, which had prompted Jimmy Carter to talk about a "$40,000-a-year gag writer" at the White House at taxpayer expense.

When a reporter called the Ford committee and asked for Penny, he was connected with the press staff. An assistant there said he had no idea where Penny could be found, but promised to track him down.

Instead of Penny, a senior campaign spokesman called back within minutes and pointedly suggested that the reporter really did not want to talk to the former stand-up comic.

"But I do," the reporter insisted. The spokesman relented and Penny called back. He was affably reticent. About all he would say was that he considers himself an "editor and suggestor."

A source who should know says Penny has been told to avoid interviews.

One of his last interviews was last month in Vail, Colo., with a CBS correspondent. The CBS man later went on the air to report that Penny would play the role of Jimmy Carter during Ford rehearsals for the televised debates. Penny insists he had only been joking.

White House staff chief Richard Cheney was not amused, however, and the "making of a nonperson" seems to have been underway ever since.

In a May interview with the Washington Post, Penny said of

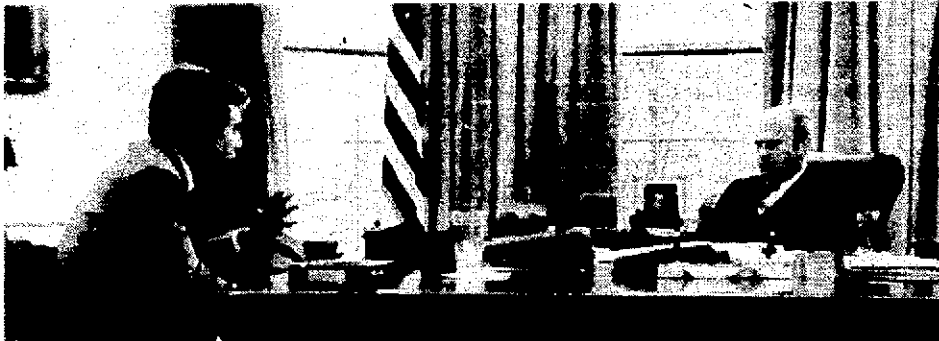

Ford:

"Half the time, he sounds like a Florsheim shoe salesman. He says things like 'the private sector.' Now, what is he talking about, somebody's unmentionbles here, or what? What I'd like to do is help him get rid of all that jargon, all that political rhetoric, until he's completely naked, until you see the real man."

Debate Steals Show Tonight

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The first of three nationally televised face-offs between President Ford and Jimmy Carter starts tonight in Philadelphia at 9:30 p.m. EDT. It'll be carried by public TV and the three networks.

The 90-minute session with the GOP and Democratic presidential contenders is the first of its kind since Sept. 26, 1960. Then, John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon met at station WBBM-TV in Chicago for the first of four 60-minute televised campaign debates.

Tonight's Ford-Carter confrontation deals only with domestic and economic issues. Round Two, on Oct. 6 in San Francisco, will cover foreign policy and national defense. The closing debate on Oct. 22 — no locale as yet — will be open to a variety of topics.

NBC's Edwin Newman will moderate tonight's opening debate. He was picked for the job by the League of Women Voters, sponsors of the debates. The league also picked the three-member panel of questioners appearing tonight — ABC's Frank Reynolds, Elizabeth Drew of the New Yorker and James P. Gannon of the Wall Street Journal.

Despite the debate, television's "premiere week" continues tonight with seven network entertainments on the bill.

Only two are new series — NBC's "Gimme Man" and ABC's "The Tony Randall Show." We'd say skip the first, don't miss the second.

"Gimme," starring Ben Murphy, is a remake of last fall's flop "Invisible Man" on NBC.

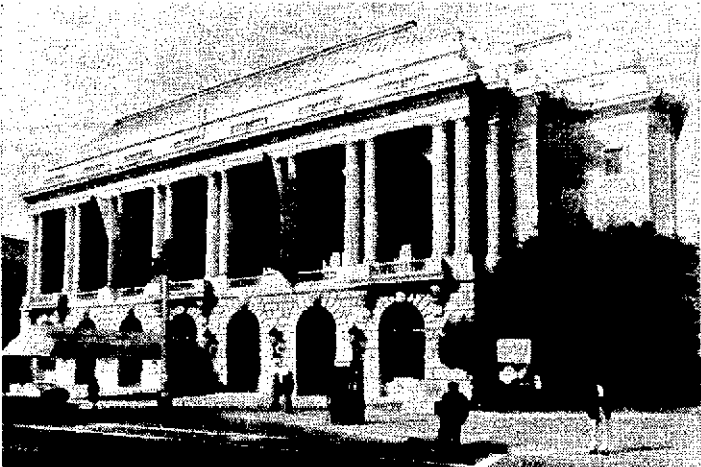

On the brighter side — Randall's new ABC show. He plays a widowed Philadelphia judge with two kids — a girl, 17, a boy, 11.

This show, from the Mary Tyler Moore works, has the fine, funny precision in acting and writing you'd expect from that emporium, even though tonight's opener basically is a meet-the-characters piece.

Jimi's Son

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — An appeals court in Sweden has upheld a lower court ruling that a six-year-old Swedish boy was fathered by Jimi Hendrix, the late American rock music star.

According to court testimony, Hendrix met Eva Sundqvist, now 32, while touring Sweden in 1967 and saw her again when he returned to Stockholm in 1969.

SITE OF SECOND DEBATE?: Here's War Memorial Veterans Building in San Francisco where President Ford and Jimmy Carter hold their second debate on Oct. 6. It's to deal with foreign policy and national defense. (AP Wirephoto)

Rock Singers Teaching Reading

Study Indicates Desegregation Has Increased Reading Ability

By JOHN STOWELL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — School desegregation and a return to the basics in elementary schools may have contributed to the recent rise in reading ability of 9-year-olds and the "dramatic improvement" among black youths, according to a new national survey released this week.

However, the federally financed National Assessment of Educational Progress found that while 9-year-olds were able to read better in 1975 than in 1971, there was little change in the reading performance of 13-year-olds and 17-year-olds in school.

A panel of six reading specialists who studied the results of the national probability sample of more than 63,000 pupils concluded that

High Interest Teaching Systems — is bringing the Top 40 into the classroom in the hope of motivating students whose reading skills are structurally weak.

"It works great, it's a really nice approach," said Natalie Lucas, a special education instructor at Tustin High School in Orange County. "I think it works so well because the kids love it."

Compared with the traditional ways of learning the fundamentals of reading, it is little wonder the kids love HITS.

Instead of sitting in a circle, awaiting their turns to read aloud, HITS students make themselves comfortable, plug in their earphones and listen to a half-hour of their favorite music.

At the beginning of each tape, a disc jockey introduces a song and instructs the students to follow along in their workbooks. They hear words already familiar to them, and see the words printed in their workbooks.

As the students hear the words of their favorite songs, they learn how the words are put together, said James Coffey, director of the HITS program.

"Using the words of the songs, students learn word analysis, consonants and spelling patterns," Coffey said. "On the upper level, they can build up their comprehension skills."

Some contemporary rock music is obscene or drug-related, so Coffey and his staff spend hundreds of hours screening each song before it is put on a HITS tape.

Another pitfall is that most rock songwriters ignore English grammar when dreaming up lyrics they hope will send their fans stampeding to record stores.

"We have very strict criteria," Coffey says. "For every song we use, we have listened to and rejected a hundred."

HITS is the result of the combined efforts of Modulearn, an educational systems company, and various record firms, who have released the rights to their artists' works for use in the program.

"The record companies are so often coined as purveyors of junk," Coffey said, "I think it's time someone sees the good they can do."

A deposit on cans?

Aw, come on.

You've heard of a bottle deposit. They used to be quite common, however inconvenient.

But could you imagine having to pay a deposit on cans?

Incredibly, that's what you'll be doing if Proposal A passes.

But you can vote it down.

The backers of Proposal A are very free with your money. They want you to pay at least a ten cent deposit on beer and soft drink containers. That's right! A ten cent deposit on every can and at least 10 cents deposit on every bottle unless specially certified. But you can vote it down.

That's what you'll be voting on come November 2nd. Yes or no whether you will pay 60 cents a six pack deposit on cans or bottles of beer or soft drinks. 80 cents an eight pack. $2.40 a case. You can vote it all down.

Vote it down, unless you favor being out-of-pocket for the full amount of your deposit until you've consumed, collected and returned all those empties. Vote it down, unless you're content to line up with all the other can and bottle collectors to get your dimes back (which you reinvest right away as a deposit if you want more bottles and cans).

There would be higher prices, too, because the cost of extra handling and hauling of empties will of course be passed along to you: Another 40 to 60 cents a case.

All this will cut down on litter very little if at all. Its record elsewhere has been disappointing.

What Proposal A will cut down on is skilled jobs. Thousands of Michigan heads of families would lose their jobs the first year.

But you can vote it down, just as the voters have done in every other similar referendum (eight of them).

Rock Singers Teaching Reading

By PETER J. BOYER
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It won't be Dick and Jane helping youngsters learn to read in some classrooms this fall, but rock 'n' rollers like Fleetwood Mac, Paul Simon and the Doobie Brothers.

The pounding reverberations will be used to teach the basics of reading. Taking the place of traditional primers will be the hip lyrics of contemporary pop music performers, from Simon to Harry Chapin to The Four Tops.

A program called HITS —

High Interest Teaching Systems — is bringing the Top 40 into the classroom in the hope of motivating students whose reading skills are structurally weak.

"It works great, it's a really nice approach," said Natalie Lucas, a special education instructor at Tustin High School in

However, the federally financed National Assessment of Educational Progress found that while 9-year-olds were able to read better in 1975 than in 1971, there was little change in the reading performance of 13-year-olds and 17-year-olds in school.

A panel of six reading specialists who studied the results of the national probability sample of more than 63,000 pupils concluded that renewed emphasis on reading fundamentals at the elementary level, racial desegregation, heavier funding in impacted areas and "social factors outside the school" may all have played a role in the higher scores of 9-year-olds.

Projections of the sample indicate that 50,000 more 9-year-olds performed higher in reading tasks last year than did their counterparts four years earlier.

Survey officials were reluctant to flatly attribute the improvement to desegregation, since the study did not isolate school districts under busing orders.

"Students from the Southeast, from low-income urban areas, who are black or whose parents had limited education, have traditionally achieved below the level of their age group," said Roy H. Forbes, project director.

"It is encouraging to see these gaps in achievement levels beginning to close at age 9; it is alarming to see the gaps remain at ages 13 and 17. This pattern, however, is consistent with NAEP's findings in both the science and writing assessments, indicating that special programs at the elementary level are paying off."

Black 9-year-olds scored 4.8 per cent higher on the reading tests than they did four years earlier, compared with a 1.2 per cent gain for white 9-year-olds. But blacks still remained 13 percentage points below whites in over-all reading levels, the survey showed.

The disproportionate performance between the races increased with age. Thirteen-year-old whites scored about 17 per cent higher than blacks, and 19-year-old whites were over 19 per cent higher in reading achievement.

At each age level, girls performed better than boys.

Students in the Southeast narrowed the achievement gap with other regions but still remained below the national average at all age levels, by up to 4 percentage points.

Gladiolus Festival Panel Will Meet Next Wednesday

COLOMA — Election of new officers for the next two years and proposed revisions in the bylaws of the Coloma Gladiolus Festival committee will highlight a special meeting of the festival committee Wednesday, Sept. 29, at the Coloma township hall.

Mike Dilts, festival president, said the meeting will begin at 8 p.m., with all festival committee members urged to attend.

Areas to be considered for review in the bylaws include attendance and the annual Miss Coloma queen contest.

A deposit on cans? Aw, come on.

You've heard of a bottle deposit. They used to be quite common, however inconvenient.

But could you imagine having to pay a deposit on cans?

Incredibly, that's what you'll be doing if Proposal A passes.

But you can vote it down.

The backers of Proposal A are very free with your money. They want you to pay at least a ten cent deposit on beer and soft drink containers. That's right! A ten cent deposit on every can and at least 10 cents deposit on every bottle unless specially certified. But you can vote it down.

That's what you'll be voting on come November 2nd. Yes or no whether you will pay 60 cents a six pack deposit on cans or bottles of beer or soft drinks. 80 cents an eight pack. $2.40 a case. You can vote it all down.

Vote it down, unless you favor being out-of-pocket for the full amount of your deposit until you've consumed, collected and returned all those empties. Vote it down, unless you're content to line up with all the other can and bottle collectors to get your dimes back (which you reinvest right away as a deposit if you want more bottles and cans).

There would be higher prices, too, because the cost of extra handling and hauling of empties will of course be passed along to you: Another 40 to 60 cents a case.

All this will cut down on litter very little if at all. Its record elsewhere has been disappointing.

What Proposal A will cut down on is skilled jobs. Thousands of Michigan heads of families would lose their jobs the first year.

But you can vote it down, just as the voters have done in every other similar referendum (eight of them).

Tigers Bank On Defense Against No. 5 Muskegon

Is the Benton Harbor football team really for real?

Coch Paul Bergan hopes the Tigers can prove they are when they travel to Muskegon Friday night for their LMAC opener.

"We just want to show everyone else that Benton Harbor is for real," Bergan says. "We feel if we play good defense, we're never going to be out of any ballgame. We're not going to change anything. We feel that by playing that good defense we may be able to make the big play to win."

For the first time in recent memory the six LMAC teams all opened with victories last Friday. Muskegon, ranked fifth in the first Associated Press Class A poll, topped East Kentwood 19-6. But Kentwood should not have even scored. Muskegon went for a first down on fourth and inches at its own 22 yard line and missed in the final two minutes. Kentwood took it in from there.

The Big Reds limited Kentwood to just 61 yards in total yardage and two first downs.

But Benton Harbor also showed a strong defense against Kalamazoo Central, limiting the Maroon Giants to only 106 yards and six first downs. The Tigers have not won their first two games in a season since 1963.

"The win last Friday gave a tremendous boost to everybody," Bergan says. "We feel really proud to be playing the No. 5 team in the state. It's a real challenge and we're really looking forward to it."

"It's like playing Notre Dame every week. It's a big game and every one from now on will be a big game. Our kids really came into their own against Kalamazoo Central. They never quit and they never gave up and that's the big thing. We've told our kids that if they give 100 per cent, give their best and never give up, that that's what it's all about. The score will take care of itself."

Muskegon returns seven starters on defense headed by middle guard Bob Houseman (5-11, 175). Joining Houseman are ends Andy Achterhoff (6-4, 195) and Steve Schasky (5-11, 165) and tackles Mark Gable (6-3, 290) and Marnold Maciel (5-11, 200).

Most of the offensive backfield is back also. The Big Reds' weakness is a lack of experience in the offensive line. All-LMAC player John Brown returns but is a questionable starter after sustaining a head injury against East Kentwood. Joining Brown in the backfield are quarterback Jim Raymond and fullback Mike VanLent.

"We've really got people excited," Bergan says. "The key again will be mistakes. If we play a good, poised football game we can give them a real battle."

Sophomore Andrew Hurst, whose 55-yard scoring pass to Charles Carter in the final seconds beat Kalamazoo Central, will again be at quarterback.

"For a 15-year-old, Andrew has got a lot of responsibility," Bergan says. "And he has taken it well. He's got good poise, is a natural athlete and a good student. He's just the type of kid we want at quarterback."

But Bergan adds, "You can't mention Andrew without mentioning the defense."

The Tiger defense was nothing short of spectacular against Kalamazoo Central, limiting the Maroon Giants to only 15 yards rushing in the second half. Middle guard James Williams led the way with 23 tackles and Keith Taylor was in on 16.

"We had great pursuit," Bergan says. "I don't want to single anyone out because it was such a great team effort."

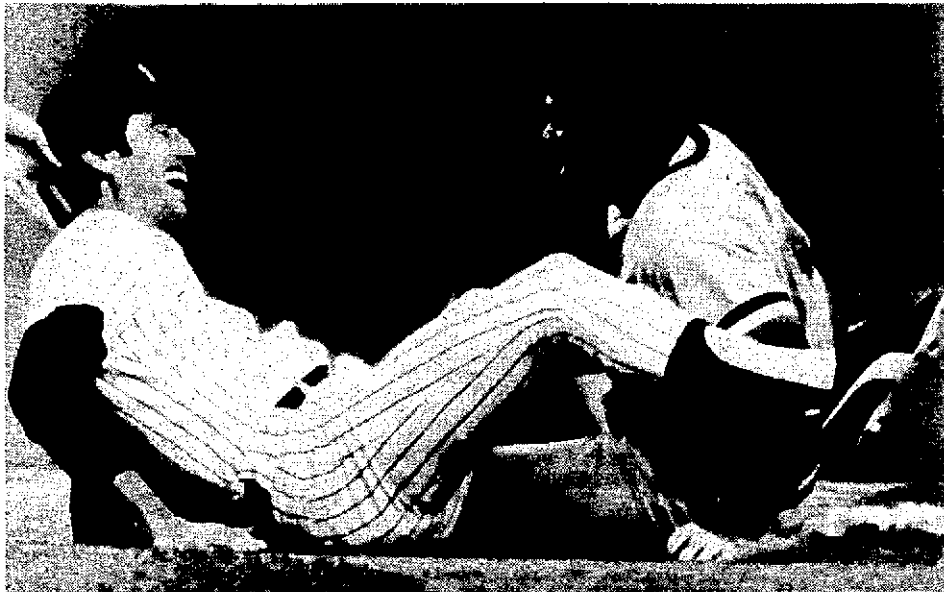

Bergan plans to go with the same 22 players who started the opener. On the defensive line will be ends Carl Cotton (5-11, 175) and Taylor (6-5, 215) and tackles Reggie Smith (6-2, 190) and Alex McCoy (5-10, 185). Joining Williams in the middle will be linebackers Elliott Washington (5-9, 170) and Desmond Parker (6-1, 190).

The secondary consists of cornerbacks Eugene Hines (6-2, 185) and Jack McIntush (5-9, 155) and safeties Bill Schneek (6-2, 190) and Napoleon Lark (6-0, 170).

Willie Campbell and Maverick Burton will join Hurst and Carter in the offensive backfield. On the line will be ends David Miles (6-3, 170) and Carl Allison (6-0, 190), tackles Dan Atkinson (6-1, 215) and Gene Eddy (6-4, 215), guards John Bailey (5-10, 185) and Ray Turner (6-1, 215) and center Richard Clifton (6-3, 200).

In other LMAC action Friday, preseason favorite Muskegon Mona Shores hosts Grand Haven.

Magic Numbers Remain Same

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Yankees and Kansas City Royals still are drifting above their respective divisions in a holding pattern.

The Yankees' "magic number" for winning the American League East remained at three and Kansas City's stayed at five in the West after fruitless efforts Wednesday night.

"Until those three games are won, there's danger," said New York's Lou Piniella after the tenacious Baltimore Orioles kept their desperate hopes alive with a two-night doubleheader sweep over the Yankees, 2-0 and 5-2.

Had the Yankees won but one of the games, they would have clinched a tie for the East Division title. But the Orioles have been perched on the East leader's shoulder with tireless persistence recently — winning the last five games between the teams.

Oakland Manager Chuck Tanner was a little more optimistic about his divisional race after an 11-1 rout of the Royals Wednesday night.

"Thursday night's game is more important now than it would have been if we'd lost," said Tanner cheerily. "I'd have to say it gives us great satisfaction, winning by a large margin."

In the other American League games, the Texas Rangers shaded the California Angels 2-1, the Minnesota Twins trimmed the Chicago White Sox 6-3, the Boston Red Sox turned back the Milwaukee Brewers 6-3 and the Cleveland Indians blanked the Detroit Tigers 3-0.

Palmer fired a four-hitter and became the major league's winningest pitcher in Baltimore's opening-game victory. Palmer snapped a tie with San Diego's Randy Jones, winning his 22nd game. Rudy May, 14-16, a former Yankee, won the second game for the Orioles with late relief help from Tippy Martinez, another ex-Yankee.

Gene Tenace, Phil Garner and Joe Rudi each pounded home runs and Vida Blue cruised to his 17th victory as Oakland clubbed Kansas City. The Oakland victory narrowed Kansas City's advantage to six games in the West with 10 games remaining. The Royals, who had won five straight games, met the A's four more times before the season ends.

Gaylord Perry pitched a three-hitter and Gene Cline drove in the deciding run with an infield single in the seventh inning as Texas shaded California.

Butch Wynegar belted two solo home runs and Rod Carew drove in three runs with a triple and a home run as the Twins defeated the White Sox.

Bill Singer, 12-9, scattered seven hits before needing ninth-inning relief help from Bill Campbell, who picked up his 19th save.

Carew's eighth homer of the year, a two-run shot into the right center field seats, triggered a four-run Minnesota uprising in the sixth inning when the Twins chased Bart Johnson, 9-16.

Roy Smalley singled to lead off the sixth and scored on Carew's homer. After Lyman Bostock flied out, Wynegar unloaded his 10th homer of the season and second of the night.

Mike Cubbage singled after Wynegar's second homer, went to third on a single by Larry Hise and scored the Twins' final run of the inning as Bob Randall singled to chase Johnson.

Carew, who had three hits in five at-bats, drove in a run with a triple in the third.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The numbers are against them, and those numbers are getting worse each day. But the Pittsburgh Pirates are not yet ready to throw in the towel.

"Maybe we'll have to win our last 10 in a row and the Phillies will have to lose 10," said Pirates outfielder Al Oliver. "It's not logical, but it's still possible."

Each day, however, the possibility grows more and more remote. The Pirates took another step towards elimination Wednesday when they dropped a 4-3 heartbreaker to the Chicago Cubs on a run-scoring single by Joe Wallis in the ninth inning.

That loss, coupled with Philadelphia's 9-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals, sank the Pirates six full games behind Philadelphia in the National League East. The Phils have 12 games remaining, the Pirates just 10.

Team leader Willie Stargell agreed, however, that there's no point to the Pirates rolling over and playing dead.

"We've just got to keep playing, that's all," said Stargell. "We've come too far for me to say anything else. Our attitude just can't change. No matter what the outcome, we can't say we lost because we didn't put forth an effort."

Elsewhere in the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers topped the San Francisco Giants 3-1, the Cincinnati Reds edged the San Diego Padres 4-3, the New York Mets beat the Montreal Expos 4-2 and the Houston Astros defeated the Atlanta Braves 5-2.

The Pirates have lost seven of their last 11 games, including three of their last four — each in heartstopping fashion. On Monday, Mets rookie Lee Mazzilli hit a two-run homer with two-out in the ninth to beat Pittsburgh 5-4. They lost the second half of a doubleheader Tuesday 2-1 to Chicago on a two-out single in the 13th inning.

And Wednesday it was Joe Wallis' single off relief pitcher Kent Tekulve which drove home Jerry Tabb from second for a 4-3 decision. Tabb, a pinch-hitter, had walked to start the ninth and taken second on a sacrifice. After Rick Monday was intentionally walked, Wallis delivered his game-winning hit on a 3-1 count.

Philadelphia erupted for eight runs in the eighth inning to beat St. Louis. Dick Allen's two-run single off Cards relief ace Al Hrabosky snapped a 4-4 tie, then Bob Boone added a two-run single later in the big eighth-inning outburst.

Right-hander Don Sutton became a 20-game winner for the first time in his career when he stopped the Giants on six hits to raise his record to 20-9. Sutton, who compiled 19-9 records in 1972 and 1974, struck out five and walked four in posting his eighth straight victory.

Cincinnati became the first team in National League history to have seven pitchers post 10 or more victories in one season when Don Gullett raised his record to 16-3 by beating the Padres.

The only other teams with seven 10-game winners were the 1914 Philadelphia A's and the 1939 New York Yankees.

Jon Matlack, 16-8, scattered eight hits and got last-out relief help from Skip Lockwood against Montreal. Veteran second baseman Felix Millan drove in two runs for the Mets.

Bob Watson and Jose Cruz drove in two runs apiece for the Astros, who have won three of their last four games in their bid to clinch third place in the NL West.

Christian Tops Bangor Runners

KALAMAZOO — Kent Clapp and Ken Koning finished one-two for Kalamazoo Christian as the host beat Bangor 24-22 in a cross country meet Wednesday at Fair Oaks here.

Clapp won the meet in 16:57, while Koning was second in 17:04.

Tim Hodge had the top Bangor finish, crossing the rope third. John Vojta was fifth, and Adam Hodge seventh for the Vikings.

Huckleby, Carroll Top Big 10

CHICAGO (AP) — Harlan Huckleby of Michigan and Mike Carroll of Wisconsin are the rushing and passing leaders in early Big Ten football statistics.

Huckleby has averaged 144 yards a game rushing while Carroll is the passing leader on a graded scale in which he has 31 completions for 343 yards.

Jeff Logan of Ohio State is second in rushing with a 136-yard average followed by Scott Derking of Purdue with an average of 123 yards and Jim Coleman of Illinois at 114.5 yards.

Kurt Steger of Illinois is second in passing with Tony Dancy of Minnesota third.

Carroll is first in total offense with a 161-yard average and Dancy is second at 153.5 yards.

Huckleby is the scoring leader with 24 points followed by Coleman with 20.

Keith Calvin of Indiana is the leading receiver with 11 catches for 152 yards and Scott Yelvington of Northwestern has nine receptions for 121 yards.

Bob Weber of Minnesota leads in kickoff returns with a 19.5-yard average and Jim Smith of Michigan and Pete Shaw of Northwestern are tied for the lead in punt returns with a 13-yard average.

Dan Milaeger of Wisconsin is averaging 45.8 yards in punting followed by Tom Skladany of Ohio State with a 42.8 average.

Michigan and Ohio State run one-two in team rushing. Michigan is averaging 440.5 yards a game to Ohio State's 371.5. Michigan is first in total offense with a 500.5 yard average and in scoring with a 45.5 point average.

Michigan State leads in passing with an average of 221 yards a game.

Ohio State leads in rushing defense, yielding 77 yards a game and Iowa is No. 1 in pass defense, allowing 28 yards a game. Iowa also is tops in total defense, giving up an average of 167.5 yards a game.

Illinois is tops in scoring defense. The Illini have allowed a total of 12 points in two games, Iowa, Michigan and Minnesota are tied for second allowing 77 points and Ohio State follows with 21.

But Bergan adds, "You can't mention Andrew without mentioning the defense."

The Tiger defense was nothing short of spectacular against Kalamazoo Central, limiting the Maroon Giants to only 15 yards rushing in the second half. Middle guard James Williams led the way with 23 tackles and Keith Taylor was in on 16.

"We had great pursuit," Bergan says. "I don't want to single anyone out because it was such a great team effort."

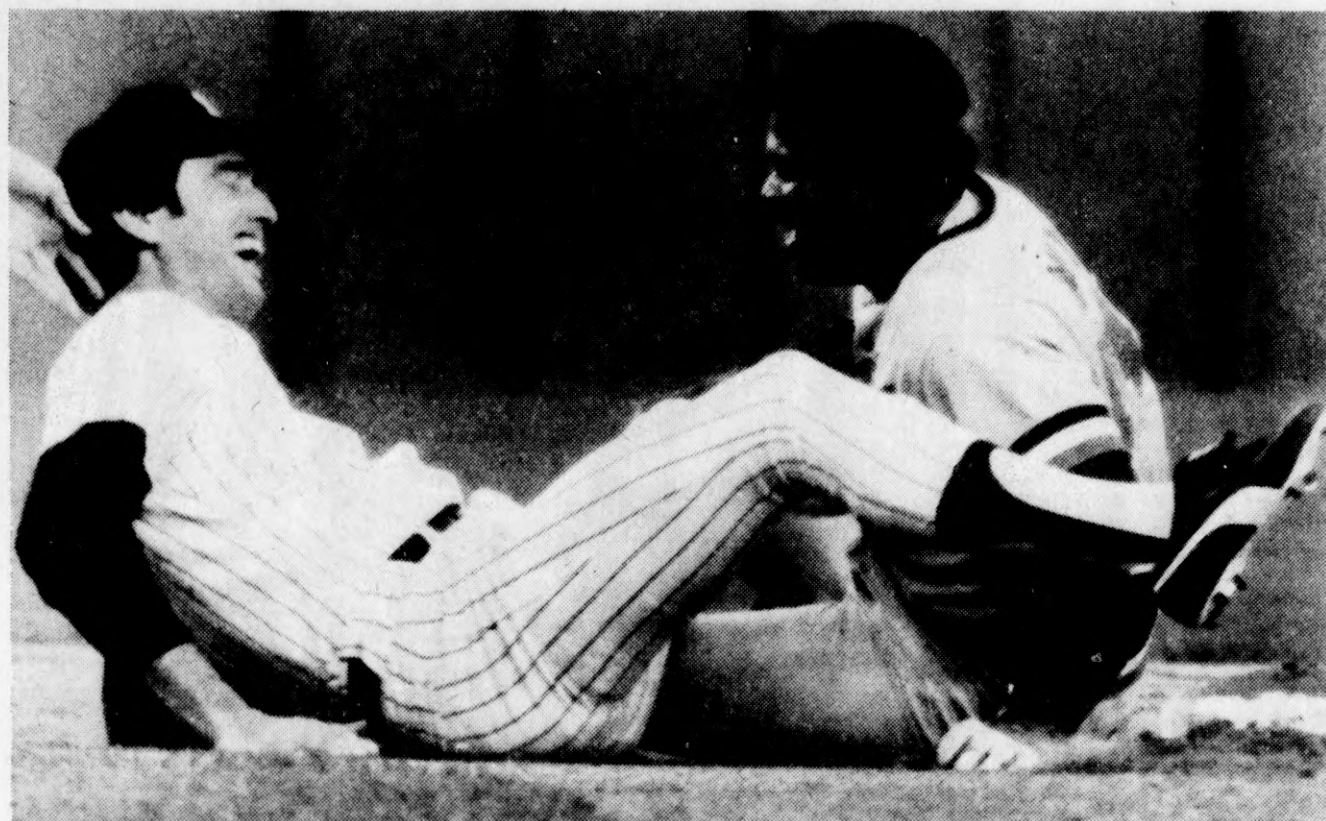

Bergan plans to go with the same 22 players who started the opener. On the defensive line will be ends Carl Cotton (5-11, 175) and Taylor (6-5, 215) and tackles Reggie Smith (6-2, 190) and Alex McCoy (5-10, 185). Joining Williams in the middle will be linebackers Elliott Washington (5-9, 170) and Desmond Parker (6-1, 190).

The secondary consists of cornerbacks Eugene Hines (6-2, 185) and Jack McIntosh (5-9, 155) and safeties Bill Schneck (6-2, 190) and Napoleon Lark (6-0, 170).

Willie Campbell and Maverick Burton will join Hurst and Carter in the offensive backfield. On the line will be ends David Miles (6-3, 170) and Carl Allison (6-0, 190), tackles Dan Atkinson (6-1, 215) and Gene Eddy (6-4, 215), guards John Bailey (5-10, 165) and Ray Turner (6-1, 215) and center Richard Clifton (6-3, 200).

Magic Numbers Remain Same

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Yankees and Kansas City Royals still are drifting above their respective divisions in a holding pattern.

The Yankees' "magic number" for winning the American League East remained at three and Kansas City's stayed at five in the West after fruitless efforts Wednesday night.

"Until those three games are won, there's danger," said New York's Lou Piniella after the tenacious Baltimore Orioles kept their desperate hopes alive with a two-night doubleheader sweep over the Yankees, 2-0 and 5-2.

Had the Yankees won but one of the games, they would have clinched a tie for the East Division title. But the Orioles have been perched on the East leader's shoulder with tireless persistence recently — winning the last five games between the teams.

Oakland Manager Chuck Tanner was a little more optimistic about his divisional race after an 11-1 rout of the Royals Wednesday night.

"Thursday night's game is more important now than it would have been if we'd lost," said Tanner cheerily. "I'd have to say it gives us great satisfaction, winning by a large margin."

In the other American League games, the Texas Rangers shaded the California Angels 2-1, the Minnesota Twins trimmed the Chicago White Sox 6-3, the Boston Red Sox turned back the Milwaukee Brewers 6-3 and the Cleveland Indians blanked the Detroit Tigers 3-0.

Palmer fired a four-hitter and became the major league's winningest pitcher in Baltimore's opening-game victory. Palmer snapped a tie with San Diego's Randy Jones, winning his 22nd game. Rudy May, 14-10, a former Yankee, won the second game for the Orioles with late relief help from Tippy Martinez, another ex-Yankee.

Gene Tenace, Phil Garner and Joe Rudi each pounded home runs and Vida Blue cruised to his 17th victory as Oakland clubbed Kansas City. The Oakland victory narrowed Kansas City's advantage to six games in the West with 10 games remaining. The Royals, who had won five straight games, meet the A's four more times before the season ends.

Gaylord Perry pitched a three-hitter and Gene Clines drove in the deciding run with an infield single in the seventh inning as Texas shaded California.

Butch Wynegar belted two solo home runs and Rod Carew drove in three runs with a triple and a home run as the Twins defeated the White Sox.

Bill Singer, 12-9, scattered

seven hits before needing ninth-inning relief help from Bill Campbell, who picked up his 19th save.

Carew's eighth homer of the year, a two-run shot into the right center field seats, triggered a four-run Minnesota uprising in the sixth inning when the Twins chased Bart Johnson, 9-16.

Roy Smalley singled to lead off the sixth and scored on Carew's homer. After Lyman Bostock fled out, Wynegar unloaded his 10th homer of the season and second of the night.

Mike Cabbage singled after Wynegar's second homer, went to third on a single by Larry Hise and scored thee Twins' final run of the inning as Bob Randall singled to chase Johnson.

Carew, who had three hits in five at-bats, drove in a run with a triple in the third.

Cubs Sinking Bucs' Ship

Odds Climb Against Pirates As Phils Win

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The numbers are against them, and those numbers are getting worse each day. But the Pittsburgh Pirates are not yet ready to throw in the towel.

"Maybe we'll have to win our last 10 in a row and the Phillies will have to lose 10," said Pirates outfielder Al Oliver. "It's not logical, but it's still possible."

Each day, however, the possibility grows more and more remote. The Pirates took another step towards elimination Wednesday when they dropped a 4-3 heartbreaker to the Chicago Cubs on a run-scoring single by Joe Wallis in the ninth inning.

That loss, coupled with Philadelphia's 9-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals, sank the Pirates six full games behind Philadelphia in the National League East. The Phils have 12 games remaining, the Pirates just 10.

Team leader Willie Stargell agreed, however, that there's no point to the Pirates rolling over and playing dead.

"We've just got to keep playing, that's all," said Stargell. "We've come too far for me to say anything else. Our attitude just can't change. No matter what the outcome, we can't say we lost because we didn't put forth an effort."

Elsewhere in the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers topped the San Francisco Giants 3-1, the Cincinnati Reds edged the San Diego Padres 4-3, the New York Mets beat the Montreal Expos 4-2 and the Houston Astros defeated the Atlanta Braves 5-2.

The Pirates have lost seven of their last 11 games, including three of their last four — each in heartstopping fashion. On Monday, Mets rookie Lee Mazzilli hit a two-run homer with two-out in the ninth to beat Pittsburgh 5-4. They lost the second half of a doubleheader Tuesday 2-1 to Chicago on a two-out single in the 13th inning.

And Wednesday it was Joe Wallis' single off relief pitcher Kent Tekulve which drove home Jerry Tabb from second for a 4-3 decision. Tabb, a pinch-hitter, had walked to start the ninth and taken second on a sacrifice. After Rick Monday was intentionally walked, Wallis delivered his game-winning hit on a 3-1 count.

Philadelphia erupted for eight runs in the eighth inning to beat St. Louis. Dick Allen's two-run single off Cards relief ace Al Hrabosky snapped a 4-4 tie, then Bob Boone added a two-run single later in the big eighth-inning outburst.

Right-hander Don Sutton became a 20-game winner for the first time in his career when he stopped the Giants on six hits to raise his record to 20-9. Sutton, who compiled 19-9 records in 1972 and 1974, struck out five and walked four in posting his eighth straight victory.

Cincinnati became the first team in National League history to have seven pitchers post 10 or more victories in one season when Don Gullett raised his record to 10-3 by beating the Padres.

The only other teams with seven 10-game winners were the 1914 Philadelphia A's and the 1939 New York Yankees.

Jon Matlack, 16-9, scattered eight hits and got last-out relief help from Skip Lockwood against Montreal. Veteran second baseman Felix Millan drove in two runs for the Mets.

Bob Watson and Jose Cruz drove in two runs apiece for the Astros, who have won three of their last four games in their bid to clinch third place in the NL West.

Christian Tops Bangor Runners

KALAMAZOO — Kent Clapp and Ken Koning finished one-two for Kalamazoo Christian as the host beat Bangor 24-32 in a cross country meet Wednesday at Fair Oaks here.

Clapp won the meet in 16:57, while Koning was second in 17:04.

Tim Hodge had the top Bangor finish, crossing the rope third. John Vojtko was fifth, and Arnon Hodge seventh for the Vikings.

Huckleby, Carroll Top Big 10

CHICAGO (AP) — Harlan Huckleby of Michigan and Mike Carroll of Wisconsin are the rushing and passing leaders in early Big Ten football statistics.

Huckleby has averaged 144 yards a game rushing while Carroll is the passing leader on a graded scale in which he has 31 completions for 343 yards.

Jeff Logan of Ohio State is second in rushing with a 136-yard average followed by Scott Dierking of Purdue with an average of 123 yards and Jim Coleman of Illinois at 114.5 yards.

Kurt Steger of Illinois is second in passing with Tony Dungy of Minnesota third.

Carroll is first in total offense with a 181-yard average and Dungy is second at 175.5 yards.

Huckleby is the scoring leader with 24 points followed by Coleman with 20.

Keith Calvin of Indiana is the leading receiver with 11 catches for 152 yards and Scott Yelvington of Northwestern has nine receptions for 121 yards.

Bob Weber of Minnesota leads in kickoff returns with a 19.5-yard average and Jim Smith of Michigan and Pete Shaw of Northwestern are tied for the lead in punt returns with a 13-yard average.

Dan Milaeger of Wisconsin is averaging 48.8 yards in punting followed by Tom Skladany of Ohio State with a 42.8 average.

Michigan and Ohio State run one-two in team rushing. Michigan is averaging 440.5 yards a game to Ohio State's 371.5. Michigan is first in total offense with a 500.5 yard average and in scoring with a 45.5 point average.

Michigan State leads in passing with an average of 221 yards a game.

Ohio State leads in rushing defense, yielding 77 yards a game and Iowa is No. 1 in pass defense, allowing 28 yards a game. Iowa also is tops in total defense, giving up an average of 167.5 yards a game.

Illinois is tops in scoring defense. The Illini have allowed a total of 12 points in two games. Iowa, Michigan and Minnesota are tied for second allowing 27 points and Ohio State follows with 28.

Fennville Open Set Saturday

FENNVILLE — The Fennville Open, one of the oldest and largest cross country invitational in the state, will be held here Saturday, Sept. 25.

The invitational, started in 1961, last year had over 1,000 runners from Michigan, Ohio and Illinois in grades K-12.

This year, another added feature of the invitational will be an "old timers race" by age divisions, according to George Bruder, Fennville high school track coach. The old timers may register the day of the race at the course west of Fennville high school. Entry fee is $1 and race time 11 a.m.

High school girls may enter the girls division as individuals if their school has no team. Interested parties should contact Bruder at the high school here.

Tiger Frosh Win

Earl Board scored two touchdowns Wednesday as the Benton Harbor freshmen football team ripped Lake Michigan Catholic 22-16 at Filstrup Field.

Board tallied on runs of 16 and 12 yards. Tony Williams scored the other Tiger TD on a 10-yard scamper.

Keith Davis had two touchdowns called back by penalties. Richard Whitfield was outstanding on defense for Benton Harbor.

Small Crowd Sees Tribe Tip Tigers

Bibby Hurls Three-Hit Shutout

DETROIT (AP) — Jim Bibby versus Ray Bare.

A weekday afternoon game. Bitter cold and wind.

Two teams going nowhere in the closing days of the American League baseball season.

No, the Cleveland Indians-Detroit Tigers matchup Wednesday wasn't what one might call a momentous affair.

Perhaps it was for Bibby. He fired a three-hitter as the Indians beat Detroit, 3-0, for their first triumph against the Tigers in the last nine tries.

It was the kind of day at Tiger Stadium in which a spectator in the lower deck in left field would be able to race someone for a souvenir baseball hit into the upper deck in right — and get it.

However, there were no bulls hit into the upper deck in right, or left, or the lower decks. The only balls hit into the stands were foul and the only extra base hits were two doubles by Cleveland.

The crowd was announced at 3,616. There might have been a third of that actually there.

When Ed Browalski, the official scorer, announced the game's pitching statistics on Tiger starter Bare in the press box, he could be heard in the stands and some fans cheered. Coaches could easily be heard yelling to batters and runners.

As skinny as the crowd was it was easy to see why Bibby said, "I guess you can say I've found myself."

Actually, he was speaking of himself as a pitcher.

The veteran right-hander, 13-6 overall, gave up a single to Ben Ogilvie in the second inning, one to Willie Horton in the fourth and one to Mark Wagner in the ninth. He walked two and his teammates had three doubleplays behind him.

"That's the best control I've ever seen him have. He's usually more erratic," said

Fennville Spurt Downs Plainwell

FENNVILLE — Terese McFarland and Sue Barnes each scored 11 points to lead Fennville to a 55-32 win over Plainwell in a girls' basketball game played here Tuesday night.

Ann Nagy added 10 points and seven rebounds for the winners. Teresa Lacy had nine points for Plainwell.

Fennville held a slim 20-17 edge in the second quarter but the Blackhawks proceeded to run off 15 straight points to take a 35-17 lead into the locker room at the half.

The Blackhawks are now 3-0 this season.

Tiger Manager Ralph Houk, whose team had today off before hosting the Yankees for a fourgame series beginning with a doubleheader Friday.

Jeff Torborg, Indians bullpen coach, said Bibby has slowed down his delivery and made adjustments in his stance on the rubber.

"He has check points to see if he's doing what he should be doing," Torborg said. "He knows them and he doesn't have to be told to correct himself."

Indians Manager Frank Robinson said: "All those things put together have made him a pitcher and not a thrower."

He said he talked to Bibby last year and early this season about his deficiencies "and just couldn't get to him. But we finally got to him."

A two-out single by Larvell Blanks, a wild pitch by Bare (7-8) and a double by Ricen Corty gave Cleveland a run in the first inning. It added one to the third on a double by Boog Powell after Blanks singled again.

Buddy Bell singled in the sixth, Tommy Smith walked and Duane Kuiper singled Bell home for the final Indians' run.

Michigan-Navy: Ford Vs. Carter

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — President Ford's alma mater plays Jimmy Carter's alma mater Saturday, and Navy coach George Welsh suggested Wednesday that maybe the candidate whose school loses the football game should drop out of the race.

Then, after a moment of thought, he added: "I don't think Carter would go for that."

The Democratic presidential candidate certainly wouldn't, since the Naval Academy, where he spent four years as a midshipman, is such an underdog against Michigan that the gamblers won't even quote odds on the game.

While Michigan started the season with a 40-27 victory over Wisconsin and a 51-0 drubbing of Stanford, the Midshipmen lost to Rutgers 13-3 and had to come from behind in the second half to beat Connecticut 21-3.

Despite the odds, Welsh wouldn't exactly concede defeat at his weekly meeting with sports reporters Wednesday, but neither did he hold out much hope for an upset.

"Michigan hasn't won it yet. They have to do it Saturday," he said.

"I hope our team understands that there's always a chance," Welsh said. "You never know what's going to happen on Saturday."

Noting that Michigan pitches out a lot, the Navy coach said that "maybe they won't pitch it right. Maybe there will be several fumbles."

Welsh said that after looking at films of the first two games, he believes the Wolverines have the best college offensive backfield he has ever seen. He said that includes the teams he helped coach at Penn State, and that maybe only Texas in the late 1960s and Oklahoma three or four years ago were as good or better.

"One of the things that scares everybody is great speed," he said. "They have great speed. That's what scares me."

Michigan coach Bo Schembechler, talking over a telephone hookup to sports reporters at the Navy news conference, was asked his opinion of the Navy squad.

His diplomatic reply was: "Navy is a young team that's going to improve and get better."

Real Bad Day At The Track

DETROIT (AP) — Three horses died and five jockeys were thrown from their mounts at the Detroit Race Course Wednesday.

One of the five jockeys, Rob Williams, 19, was hospitalized after landing on his head.

The most serious accident came in the featured eighth race when Osage Blue collapsed under Williams. The horse, who earned more than $22,000 this year, died on the track.

Williams was taken to Providence Hospital in Southfield for X rays.

The accidents began in the first race when Sovereign Grey

Shamrocks-Panthers In Key Game

Red Arrow Play To Start

A key game between Berrien Springs and Watervliet highlights this weekend's opening round of Red Arrow conference clashes.

Although both teams suffered non-conference defeats last week, the Shamrocks are tabbed by Red Arrow coaches as the pre-season favorite to win the title, and Watervliet under Coach Jerry Barchett is a perennial Red Arrow power and defending co-champion.

Other conference encounters feature the pass-minded Eau Claire Beavers at Lake Michigan Catholic Saturday night, and on Friday night Gallien is at 16-ranked Hartford, and Bridgman and quarterback Turf Meredith is at New Buffalo.

"It's a big one for us, there's no doubt about it," Berrien Springs first-year Coach Dick Bartz says. "We had a disappointing performance against Cassopolis (lost 29-6) but the game was a lot closer than the final score." A fumble and penalty halted two Shamrock drives inside Cassopolis' 15-yard line and the Shamrocks also dropped a punt at their own two-yard line.

"We did some things very well, but also made some key mistakes," Bartz recalls.

Barchett's Panthers also learned how mistakes can turn a game around. The Panther's blew a 22-12 lead at North Muskegon with four minutes to go, losing 26-22.

"We're young and inexperienced at many positions," Barchett says. "We're working on trying to correct our mistakes, but it's going to take time."

Barchett indicates that Berrien Springs "has a strong running game and can throw it too." Barchett says his Panthers "got burned" via the pass last week and "we've been working on improving our pass coverage."

Bartz feels his Shamrocks are more physical than North Muskegon and he plans on establishing a ground game, but adds "we'll throw some too." Concerning Watervliet, he says "Don't let anyone fool you, Watervliet played some very good football last Friday."

Bartz may start 6-4, 210-pound Jack Lewis, the team's safety, at tight end, to become even more physical on offense. He also indicated that perhaps Jeff Spitzer, senior guard, tackle and linebacker may start after missing the opener due to an injury.

Barchett says his Panthers are "a little bumped up" and several players are questionable. He would not elaborate.

Lake Michigan Catholic, fresh off a 14-6 triumph over Class B Coloma, host the aerial fireworks of first-year coach Tom Ferry's Eau Claire Beavers. Last week Beaver quarterback Jeff Harner connected on 16 of 27 attempts for 207 yards in a losing effort to Frankfort.

Terry Rose, veteran Laker mentor, declares "The big thing is going to be if we can stop Harner or not." He says his Lakers can expect to face a "rejuvenated, good team, that has a fine crop of receivers and an excellent passer." Rose adds that the Beavers always have fast backs.

Rose comments that he hopes his offense, which is young and inexperienced, plays like it did in the third quarter against Coloma. "Our offensive line is going to have to learn to read the defense, he says. However, the return of Steve Flood (who's about 85-90 per cent ready) at a guard or tackle position will help. Flood, a 5-11, 185-pound senior is coming off a knee injury.

Hartford coach Bob Teske's Indians (ranked 16th in the first Associated Press Class C poll) will host Gallien, a 40-8 loser to Clinton.

Teske says "We've been working on offense very hard this week, and are executing much better." He termed the rating an "incentive to improve." Teske says "You can always expect a tough, physical game from Gallien...for some reason Gallien kids really like to hit." Teske plans to put the ball in the air more often Friday night, "perhaps 10 or 12 times." Last week the Indians passed four times against Lawrence in a 20-0 win.

In the league's other game, the area's leading scorer after one week, quarterback Tom Meredith, and his fellow Bridgman Beavers travel to New Buffalo. Meredith scored 24 points in his team's opening romp of Michigan Lutheran. New Buffalo has the area's longest losing streak, currently at 18 games.

ASHE ADVANCES: Arthur Ashe displays his smooth stroke en route to his victory over Billy Martin, also a former UCLA player, in Wednesday night's second round of the Pacific Southwest Tennis Championships in Los Angeles. Ashe won 6-2, 6-3. (AP Wirephoto)

"We did some things very well, but also made some key mistakes," Bartz recalls.

Barchett's Panthers also learned how mistakes can turn a game around. The Panther's blew a 22-12 lead at North Muskegon with four minutes to go, losing 26-22.

"We're young and inexperienced at many positions," Barchett says. "We're working on trying to correct our mistakes, but it's going to take time."

Barchett indicates that Berrien Springs "has a strong running game and can throw it too." Barchett says his Panthers "got burned" via the pass last week and "we've been working on improving our pass coverage."

Bartz feels his Shamrocks are more physical than North Muskegon and he plans on establishing a ground game, but adds "we'll throw some too." Concerning Watervliet, he says "Don't let anyone fool you. Watervliet played some very good football last Friday."

Bartz may start 6-4, 210-pound Jack Lewis, the team's starter, at tight end, to become even more physical on offense. He also indicated that perhaps Jeff Spitzer, senior guard, tackle and linebacker may start after missing the opener due to an injury.

Barchett says his Panthers are "a little bumped up" and several players are questionable. He would not elaborate.

Lake Michigan Catholic, fresh off a 14-6 triumph over Class B Coloma, host the aerial fireworks of first-year coach Tom Ferry's Eau Claire Beavers. Last week Beaver quarterback Jeff Harner connected on 16 of 27 attempts for 207 yards in a losing effort to Frankfort.

Terry Rose, veteran Laker mention, declares "The big thing is going to be if we can stop Harner or not." He says his Lakers can expect to face a "rejuvenated, good team, that has a fine crop of receivers and an excellent passer." Rose adds that the Beavers always have fast backs.

Rose comments that he hopes his offense, which is young and inexperienced, plays like it did in the third quarter against Coloma. "Our offensive line is going to have to learn to read the defense, he says. However, the return of Steve Flood (who's about 85-90 per cent ready) at a guard or tackle position will help. Flood, a 5-11, 185-pound senior is coming off a knee injury.

Hartford coach Bob Testke's Indians (ranked 16th in the first Associated Press Class C poll) will host Galien, a 40-6 loser to Clinton.

Testke says "We've been working on offense very hard this week, and are executing much better." He termed the rating an "incentive to improve." Testke says "You can always expect a tough, physical game from Galien...for some reason Galien kids really like to hit." Teske plans to put the ball in the air more often Friday night, "perhaps 10 or 12 times." Last week the Indians passed four times against Lawrence in a 20-0 win.

In the league's other game, the area's leading scorer after one week, quarterback Tom Meredith, and his fellow Bridgman Bees travel to New Buffalo. Meredith scored 24 points in his team's opening romp of Michigan Lutheran. New Buffalo has the area's longest losing streak, currently at 18 games.

Fennville Open Set Saturday

FENNVILLE — The Fennville Open, one of the oldest and largest cross country invitational in the state, will be held here Saturday, Sept. 25.

The invitational, started in 1961, last year had over 1,000 runners from Michigan, Ohio and Illinois in grades K-12.

This year, another added feature of the invitational will be an "old timers race" by age divisions, according to George Bruder, Fennville high school track coach. The old timers may register the day of the race at the course west of Fennville high school. Entry fee is $1 and race time 11 a.m.

High school girls may enter the girls division as individuals if their school has no team.

Interested parties should contact Bruder at the high school here.

Fennville Spurt Downs Plainwell

FENNVILLE — Terese McFarland and Sue Barnes each scored 11 points to lead Fennville to a 55-32 win over Plainwell in a girls' basketball game played here Tuesday night.

Ann Nagy added 10 points and seven rebounds for the winners. Teresa Lacy had nine points for Plainwell.

Fennville held a slim 20-17 edge in the second quarter but the Blackhaws proceeded to run off 15 straight points to take a 35-17 lead into the locker room at the half.

The Blackhaws are now 3-0 this season.

Michigan-Navy: Ford Vs. Carter

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — President Ford's alma mater plays Jimmy Carter's alma mater Saturday, and Navy coach George Welsh suggested Wednesday that maybe the candidate whose school loses the football game should drop out of the race.

Then, after a moment of thought, he added: "I don't think Carter would go for that."

The Democratic presidential candidate certainly wouldn't, since the Naval Academy, where he spent four years as a midshipman, is such an underdog against Michigan that the gamblers won't even quote odds on the game.

While Michigan started the season with a 40-27 victory over Wisconsin and a 51-0 drubbing of Stanford, the Midshipmen lost to Rutgers 13-3 and had to come from behind in the second half to beat Connecticut 21-3.

Despite the odds, Welsh wouldn't exactly concede defeat at his weekly meeting with sports reporters Wednesday, but neither did he hold out much hope for an upset.

"Michigan hasn't won it yet. They have to do it Saturday," he said.

"I hope our team understands that there's always a chance," Welsh said. "You never know what's going to happen on Saturday."

Noting that Michigan pitches out a lot, the Navy coach said that "maybe they won't pitch it right. Maybe there will be several fumbles."

Welsh said that after looking at films of the first two games, he believes the Wolverines have the best college offensive backfield he has ever seen. He said him a pitcher and not a thrower.

He said he talked to Bibby last year and early this season about his deficiencies "and just couldn't get to him...But we finally got to him."

A two-out single by Larvell Blanks, a wild pitch by Bare (7-8) and a double by Rico Carty gave Cleveland a run in the first inning. It added one in the third on a double by Boog Powell after Blanks singled again.

Buddy Bell singled in the sixth, Tommy Smith walked and Duane Kuiper singled Bell home for the final Indians' run.

That includes the teams he helped coach at Penn State, and that maybe only Texas in the late 1960s and Oklahoma three or four years ago were as good or better.

"One of the things that scares everybody is great speed," he said. "They have great speed. That's what scares me."

Michigan coach Bo Schembechler, talking over a telephone hookup to sports reporters at the Navy news conference, was asked his opinion of the Navy squad.

His diplomatic reply was: "Navy is a young team that's going to improve and get better."

Real Bad Day At The Track

DETROIT (AP) — Three horses died and five jockeys were thrown from their mounts at the Detroit Race Course Wednesday.

One of the five jockeys, Rob Williams, 19, was hospitalized after landing on his head.

The most serious accident came in the featured eighth race when Osage Blue collapsed under Williams. The horse, who earned more than $22,000 this year, died on the track.

Williams was taken to Providence Hospital in Southfield for X rays.

The accidents began in the first race when Sovereign Grey threw rider Stanley Low at the start. Neither horse nor rider was seriously hurt.

Later in the first race, Fly Ace, carrying rider Martin Brown, and Poster Painter, carrying leading rider Wayne Catalano, broke down and sent their riders to the ground. Both horses were destroyed.

BOWLING Despite Many Problems, Big 10 Still Healthy

CHICAGO (AP) — The Big Ten conference is alive and well. Despite recent recruiting violations at two of its schools, matters of dominance by one or two teams in football and basketball are wrecking competitive interest and Woody Hayes' tattling and tongue-wagging, the Big Ten is healthy.

One only has to look at its teams' and box office performances the first two weeks of this football season.

The Associated Press Football poll this week sees Michigan on top, Ohio State second and a surprising Illinois team — which knocked off previously No. 6-ranked Missouri — 14th.

In its first weekend of inter-conference play, the conference won seven of its games and conference officials say attendance already is up from last year's record-breaking game, which was the highest of any conference in the nation.

Big Ten teams averaged 61,700 fans in their home stadiums the first two weeks.

Things didn't look so rosy for the conference just a short time ago.

Its perennial football queen — Ohio State and Michigan — got knocked off in the Rose Bowl and Orange Bowl last year.

Then Michigan State University was slapped with football recruiting violations by the NCAA. At the time, Minnesota and Illinois also were on NCAA probation for basketball recruiting violations and although Illinois ended its probationary period this summer, it still has a way to go before its program competitively recovers.

If all that wasn't enough, Ohio State's irrepressible Hayes startled sportswriters and his own colleagues at a preseason football banquet, saying he was the one that blew the whistle on Michigan State, setting off a chain of counter-charges from the MSU campus questioning Hayes' own recruiting procedures.

"Despite all the publicity about our problems, the conference is as healthy as ever and interest is as great as ever," says a conference spokesman.

Season's ticket sales are up at MSU this year despite the lack of exciting home draws like Ohio State and Michigan and school officials report a backlash of sorts setting in, with alumni, students and friends rallying in support since the NCAA penalties were levied.

Donations to MSU in fiscal 1975-76 topped a record $3 million, including another record $555,000 for athletics.

"By and large, alumni and friends try to rally around their school because now they feel it's the underdog more than ever," says Terry Braverman, director of the Ralph Young Fund for athletics. "There have been a couple of people who have withdrawn or been unhappy for one reason or another but in comparison, many more people think they're coming to our aid or refuge."

The conference itself has not officially taken a stance on the NCAA alleged violations and there is a feeling, at least among officials at MSU and Minnesota, that some of the charges were too minor to bother with.

"I don't know of any university where the NCAA staff could go and not find a bunch of nippers where they didn't cross their 's and dot their 'i's," says Joe Kearney, current MSU athletic director.

The apparent health of the conference is not to say individual schools themselves are not in trouble.

An athletic spokesman at Illinois says the most recent

Illini recruiting problems which came on top of the infamous slush fund scandal of a decade ago "may have tarnished our image among some alumni" and due to the lack of a contender in basketball "may have hurt our attendance there as well."

At Minnesota, Gopher Basketball Coach Jim Dutcher likened the NCAA investigation "to having your income tax reviewed."

Hayes, who admitted turning in MSU to the NCAA, came under some initial fire and still does from some coaches but he also has his defenders.

Indiana athletic director Paul

"A lot of things are really in a gray area," he said. "Some very minor things not caught up in the investigation. The effect is we can only recruit three players. It cut our potential in half."

Dietzel says he would have done the same thing.

"Absolutely. Very definitely," says Dietzel. "I think it's just silly if you don't. We're not going to break the rules and I'm not going to put up with anyone else doing it either."

"If I found out they were doing it inadvertently, I'd call the athletic director and tell him first but if I thought they were flagrantly breaking the rules I'd turn 'em in. I really would."

Chalmers "Bump" Elliott of Iowa agrees. "It's part of what a coach is supposed to do," says Elliott. "He (Hayes) believes as I do that it's in the best interest in the game of football that we live up to those rules and regulations."

Bo Schembechler, Hayes' arch-rival at Michigan, has an axe to grind, not over the fact Hayes turned over information to the NCAA but the manner in which he took credit rather than consulting with fellow coaches and conference officials first.

"This business is getting out of hand," Schembechler says. "This 'I turned you in, who turned who in' stuff. All of that doesn't make the guilty innocent and it doesn't make the guy who turned 'em in any better than anyone else."

And Hayes himself? He refused comment.

House Has No Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House sports committee has held its final hearing with the panel's leaders saying no decision has been made on whether to recommend that baseball be subjected to the nation's antitrust laws as are the other sports.

Chairman B.F. Sisk, D-Calif., and the vice chairman, Frank Horton, R-N.Y., said the committee will meet next Wednesday to begin the formulation of any recommendations for its report to Congress, which will be made in January.

Sisk and Horton talked to newsmen Wednesday after hearing Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Players Association, and Rep. John Seiberling, D-Ohio, recommend that Congress strip baseball of its special immunity from the antitrust laws.

Miller said there could be a major labor confrontation in baseball when the current collective bargaining agreement expires in three years if the sport is permitted to keep its immunity from the antitrust laws.

HOUSE HAS NO DECISION
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House sports committee has held its final hearing with the panel's leaders saying no decision has been made on whether to recommend that baseball be subjected to the nation's antitrust laws as are the other sports.

Chairman B.F. Sisk, D-Calif., and the vice chairman, Frank Horton, R-N.Y., said the committee will meet next Wednesday to begin the formulation of any recommendations for its report to Congress, which will be made in January.

Sisk and Horton talked to newsmen Wednesday after hearing Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Players Association, and Rep. John Seiberling, D-Ohio, recommend that Congress strip baseball of its special immunity from the antitrust laws.

Miller said there could be a major labor confrontation in baseball when the current collective bargaining agreement expires in three years if the sport is permitted to keep its immunity from the antitrust laws.

Despite Many Problems, Big 10 Still Healthy

CHICAGO (AP) — The Big Ten conference is alive and well.

Despite recent recruiting violations at two of its schools, mutterings that dominance by one or two teams in football and basketball is wrecking competitive interest and Woody Hayes tattling and tongue-wagging, the Big Ten is healthy.

One only has to look at its teams' and box office performances the first two weeks of this football season.

The Associated Press Football poll this week sees Michigan on top, Ohio State second and a surprising Illinois team — which knocked off previously No. 6-ranked Missouri — 14th.

In its first weekend of inter-conference play, the conference won seven of its games and conference officials say attendance already is up from last year's record-breaking gate, which was the highest of any conference in the nation.

Big Ten teams averaged 61,170 fans in their home stadiums the first two weeks. Things didn't look so rosy for the conference just a short time ago.

Its perennial football queen — Ohio State and Michigan — got knocked off in the Rose Bowl and Orange Bowl last year.

Then Michigan State University was slapped with football recruiting violations by the NCAA. At the time, Minnesota and Illinois also were on NCAA probation for basketball recruiting violations and although Illinois ended its probationary period this summer, it still has a way to go before its program competitively recovers.

If all that wasn't enough, Ohio State's irrepressible Hayes startled sportswriters and his own colleagues at a preseason football banquet, saying he was the one that blew the whistle on Michigan State, setting off a chain of counter-charges from the MSU campus questioning Hayes' own recruiting procedures.

"Despite all the publicity about our problems, the conference is as healthy as ever and interest is as great as ever," says a conference spokesman.

Season's ticket sales are up at MSU this year despite the lack of exciting home draws like Ohio State and Michigan and school officials report a backlash of sorts setting in, with alumni, students and friends rallying in support since the NCAA penalties were levied.

Donations to MSU in fiscal 1975-76 topped a record $3 million, including another record $355,000 for athletics.

"By and large, alumni and friends try to rally around their school because now they feel it's the underdog more than ever," says Terry Braverman, director of the Ralph Young Fund for athletics. "There have been a couple of people who have withdrawn or been unhappy for one reason or another but in comparison, many more people think they're coming to our aid or refuge."

The conference itself has not officially taken a stance on the NCAA alleged violations and there is a feeling, at least among officials at MSU and Minnesota, that some of the charges were too minor to bother with.

"I don't know of any university where the NCAA staff could go and not find a bunch of nit-pickers where they didn't cross their t's and dot their i's," says Joe Kearney, current MSU athletic director.

The apparent health of the conference is not to say individual schools themselves are not in trouble.

An athletic spokesman at Illinois says the most recent

Illini recruiting problems which came on top of the infamous slush fund scandal of a decade ago "may have tarnished our image among some alumni" and due to the lack of a contender in basketball "may have hurt our attendance there as well."

At Minnesota, Gopher Basketball Coach Jim Dutcher likened the NCAA investigation "to having your income tax reviewed."

"A lot of things are really in a gray area," he said. "...Some very minor things got caught up in the investigation. The effect is we can only recruit three players. It cut our potential in half."

Hayes, who admitted turning in MSU to the NCAA, came under some initial fire and still does from some coaches but he also has his defenders.

Indiana athletic director Paul

Dietzel says he would have done the same thing.

"Absolutely. Very definitely," says Dietzel. "I think it's just silly if you don't. We're not going to break the rules and I'm not going to put up with anyone else doing it either."

"If I found out they were doing it inadvertently, I'd call the athletic director and tell him first but if I thought they were flagrantly breaking the rules I'd turn 'em in. I really would."

Chalmers "Bump" Elliott of Iowa agrees.

"It's part of what a coach is supposed to do," says Elliott. "He (Hayes) believes as I do that it's in the best interest in the game of football that we live up to those rules and regulations."

Bo Schembechler, Hayes' arch-rival at Michigan, has an axe to grind, not over the fact Hayes turned over information to the NCAA but the manner in which he took credit rather than consulting with fellow coaches and conference officials first.

"This business is getting out of hand," Schembechler says. "This 'I turned you in, who turned who in' stuff. All of that doesn't make the guilty innocent and it doesn't make the guy who turned 'em in any better than anyone else."

And Hayes himself? He refused comment.

King Creates Boxing Tournament Of Champs

NEW YORK (AP) — You knew this was going to be a big announcement when Howard Cosell walked into the room.

But then, promoter Don King deals only in big announcements.

King summoned Cosell and a few other friends and associates, including his bankers, for a less-than-intimate brunch at the posh 21 Club Wednesday to announce his latest creation, the United States Boxing Tournament of Champions.

He used old films of some of the classic fights of the 1940s and 50s involving boxing greats like Jake LaMotta, Tony Zale, Sugar Ray Robinson, Marcel Cerdan and others to recall the sport's glory days. Then he explained his plan for resurrecting that glory.

Throwing adjectives as if they were jabs and multi-syllable words around like up-purcuts, King described his plans for the tournament to crown American champions in every weight classification.

"This is a monumental moment for boxing," he said. "This tournament will revitalize boxing. It will contribute something meaningful and constructive to (the country's) prosperity and longevity."

The tournament, which begins in January, will be televised by ABC, which explains Cosell's interest. The purses will total over $1 million, which explains the bankers' interest.

"They will prevent any 'trickery' with the money," explained King.

The matchups of eight fighters in each weight division for the single elimination tournament will be arranged according to ratings devised by Ring Magazine. And the whole affair will be under the general direction of James A. Farley, Jr., president of the New York State Athletic Commission.

King, who described everyone involved in the venture as having "impeccable integrity," said the tournament would restore enthusiasm for boxing's lighter weight divisions. "Most Americans do not even know the champions of the lighter weight classes," said King. "That's because all the reigning champions reside outside of the United States."

The tournament would produce winners in each of eight classes ranging from featherweights to heavyweights. By winning their divisions in King's tournament, they would be recognized as American champions and challenge for the world titles.

Only one division is currently ruled by an American. That, of course, is the heavyweight class where champion Muhammad Ali defends his crown next Tuesday night at Yankee Stadium against challenger Ken Norton.

King, who promoted so many of Ali's fights, is out of the picture for the Norton bout. But the champion did endorse King's latest venture.

"I'm waiting to fight the winner," Ali said when he heard about the tournament. "Whoever he is, I will fight the winner!"

Red Wings Spoil Debut Of Barons In Cleveland

RICHFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Disappointment filled the Cleveland Barons' dressing room like a fog Wednesday night after the Detroit Red Wings spoiled the debut of the newest National Hockey League team.

A shot by Detroit's Dan Graft deflected off the shaft of teammate Dennis Polonich's stick, skipping past Cleveland goaltender Gilles Meloche 11:19 into the final period for a 2-1 Detroit victory in the first NHL game ever played in Ohio.

It was the first preseason game for both teams and the first ever for the former California Golden Seals in the red, black and white of the Barons.

"I think they (the Barons) were nervous and eager and outskated themselves for two periods," explained Cleveland Coach Jack Evans in his office, next to the hushed dressing room.

"I think that's why they ran out of gas in the third period after playing their best game in the first two periods," he added. "Detroit just played a steadier game than we did, but they weren't trying to impress their home crowd."

Both Meloche and Detroit's Ed Giacomin, a 37-year-old veteran of the NHL wars, went all the way in goal, turning in impressive performances.

"I think the conditioning really showed in the third period," said Detroit Coach and General Manager Alex Delvecchio of his team's performance. Delvecchio, who watched from the stands while assistant coach Billy Dea handled the bench, added, "I think it was a good skating game, a good conditioning game for both teams. We just got our second breath in the third period and they didn't."

Cleveland, which had outshot Detroit 27-14 in the first two periods, came up with only four shots on goal in the last 20 minutes.

"I was kind of surprised to see them stop skating in the third period," Evans said. "They usually skate right on through and I don't think you'll see that happen very often. Actually, we should have had the game won by then. We had enough opportunities."

Detroit's Dennis Hextall scored a goal with an assist from Graft 14:26 into the first period, and Al MacAdam tied it up at 11:25 of the second stan-

The matchups of eight fighters in each weight division for the single elimination tournament will be arranged according to ratings devised by Ring Magazine. And the whole affair will be under the general direction of James A. Farley, Jr., president of the New York State Athletic Commission.

King, who described everyone involved in the venture as having "impeccable integrity," said the tournament would restore enthusiasm for boxing's lighter weight divisions. "Most Americans do not even know the champions of the lighter weight classes," said King. "That's because all the reigning champions reside outside of the United States."

The tournament would produce winners in each of eight classes ranging from featherweights to heavyweights. By winning their divisions in King's tournament, they would be recognized as American champions and challenge for the world titles.

Only one division is currently ruled by an American. That, of course, is the heavyweight class where champion Muhammad Ali defends his crown next Tuesday night at Yankee Stadium against challenger Ken Norton.

King, who promoted so many of Ali's fights, is out of the picture for the Norton bout. But the champion did endorse King's latest venture.

Red Wings Spoil Debut Of Barons In Cleveland

RICHFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Disappointment filled the Cleveland Barons' dressing room like a fog Wednesday night after the Detroit Red Wings spoiled the debut of the newest National Hockey League team.

A shot by Detroit's Dan Grant deflected off the shaft of teammate Dennis Polonich's stick, skipping past Cleveland goaltender Gilles Meloche 11:19 into the final period for a 2-1 Detroit victory in the first NHL game ever played in Ohio.

It was the first preseason game for both teams and the first ever for the former California Golden Seals in the red, black and white of the Barons.

"I think they (the Barons) were nervous and eager and outskated themselves for two periods," explained Cleveland Coach Jack Evans in his office, next to the hushed dressing room.

"I think that's why they ran out of gas in the third period after playing their best game in the first two periods," he added. "Detroit just played a steadier game than we did, but they weren't trying to impress their home crowd."

Both Meloche and Detroit's Ed Giacomin, a 37-year-old veteran of the NHL wars, went all the way in goal, turning in impressive performances.

"I think the conditioning really showed in the third period," said Detroit Coach and General Manager Alex Delvecchio of his team's performance. Delvecchio, who watched from the stands while assistant coach Billy Dea handled the bench, added, "I think it was a good skating game, a good conditioning game for both teams. We just got our second breath in the third period and they didn't."

Cleveland, which had outshot Detroit 27-14 in the first two periods, came up with only four shots on goal in the last 20 minutes.

"I was kind of surprised to see them stop skating in the third period," Evans said. "They usually skate right on through and I don't think you'll see that happen very often. Actually, we should have had the game won by then. We had enough opportunities."

Detroit's Dennis Hextall scored a goal with an assist from Grant 14:26 into the first period, and Al MacAdam tied it up at 11:25 of the second stanza.

LINEMAN OF WEEK: Auburn freshman linebacker Freddie Smith, who made his first start against Baylor last Saturday, has been named the Associated Press' national lineman of the week. Smith earned the honor by making 17 solo tackles and four assists in the 15-14 loss to Baylor. (AP Wirephoto)

Auburn's Freddie Smith Gains Lineman Honors

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — Despite his 17 unassisted tackles against Baylor last Saturday, Auburn's Freddie Smith says he's still "got a lot to learn" about defense.

The 19-year-old freshman linebacker's performance in his first start for Auburn earned him The Associated Press' national college Lineman of the Week award.

"You mean this is for the whole country," he asked when informed of his selection. "The whole country?" He had already been chosen AP Southeastern Lineman of the Week.

Smith's transition from high school offensive standout to college defensive stalwart was hailed Saturday when the crowd of 30,000 at Jordan-Hare stadium gave the 6-foot-1, 197-pounder a standing ovation.

"I had butterflies in my stomach when I came out on the field," Smith recalls. "I was all right, though, after the first contact."

That "first contact" led to another which led to another which led to another. At the end of the heartbreaking 15-14 loss to Baylor, Smith had racked up 17 unassisted tackles and another four assists.

He made three consecutive solo tackles to stop one Baylor drive. In a later series of downs, he stopped the ball carrier five times in six plays.

"I was just trying to do the best I could," Smith says. "I was just trying to get off the blockers and get to the ball."

Auburn's new head coach, Doug Barfield, said of Smith after the game, "If there's a better freshman around, I haven't seen him."

Smith came to Auburn as a talented running back from Athens, Ala., where he led his school to the Class 3A state championship last year.

His offensive credentials were impressive: 1,035 yards rushing and 37 touchdowns. A three-letter man in high school, he averaged 18 points a game in basketball and won two state titles in the high jump.

Smith says he likes playing defense at Auburn. "I'd rather stay at linebacker," he says. "I'd rather do the hitting. I was surprised when they put me at linebacker, but I'm enjoying it."

Smith won Lineman of the Week honors over linebacker Jerry Robinson of UCLA, defensive tackle John DiFeliciano of Illinois, defensive end Randy Westlund of Colorado and split end Dave Oliver of Southwestern Louisiana.

Campbell TD Run One Leg 'Record'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas fullback Earl Campbell may have set a college football record for which there is no category: longest run from scrimmage on one leg.

The 231-pound Campbell painfully dragged his right leg as if it were a thick slab of wood on an 83-yard run Saturday night, setting up Texas' winning touchdown in a 17-14 victory over North Texas State.

On his long run, Campbell hobbled down the sidelines, his jersey torn from his back and a 226-pound linebacker riding him like a steer for 10-15 yards.

Texas Coach Darrell Royal got so excited he almost lost his glasses on the artificial turf of Memorial Stadium.

Campbell, a junior who could pass pro stars Roosevelt Leaks and Jim Bertelsen in Texas' career rushing yardage this year, pounded North Texas' huge defense 32 times for 208 yards — only eight yards shy of the Eagles' total offense.

For his heroics, he was named today as The Associated Press' Offensive Player of the Week.

North Texas Coach Hayden Fry called Campbell the best running back in the nation, a tag other coaches accorded him when he was selected last year to the Football Coaches All-American team.

Prior to Saturday night's game, Campbell, suffering from a pulled hamstring muscle, had been a doubtful starter. Only minutes before the kickoff, Royal and Campbell decided to test the leg again and decided in favor of letting the fullback play.

"If they hadn't gotten Campbell to play, we probably would have won," Fry said.

Campbell's 180 yards in the second half all came on straight handoffs into North Texas' bunched-up middle, and Royal said, "He wasn't full speed. He wasn't the old shashing, quick Earl he's been. He was running under wraps, but he was outstanding."

Royal and Campbell had talked, however, of the possibility of Campbell breaking into the secondary, and the running back had agreed with the coach not to "make a foot race out of it," because he might re-injure the leg.

"Right now he's well," said Royal, adding in the language of a grade school reader, "Come to practice. Watch him run."

Campbell has gained 2,277 yards just past the midway point of his four-year career and is Texas' fifth leading all-time rusher. He could break All-American Chris Gilbert's school record of 3,231 yards (set in three years). Leaks, now with the Baltimore Colts, is second with 2,923 and Bertelsen, of the Los Angeles Rams, had 2,510.

In winning Back of the Week honors, Campbell was selected over running backs Andre Herrera of Southern Illinois, Ricky Bell of Southern California, James Coleman of Illinois and Mike Williams of New Mexico; quarterback Tommy Kramer of Rice and defensive backs Joe Agee of William & Mary and Dwight Hicks of Michigan.

Career Clips

Keith Rogien of Eau Claire and Doug Lincoln of St. Joseph are second and third in the rushing department for Western Michigan. Rogien has 186 yards and a 4.8 yards average and Lincoln 90 yards, including one 46-yard scamper, for a 12.9 average. Jim McVay, a linebacker from Watervliet, is fourth in tackles with 20.

Maurice Mitchell, a senior flanker from Bangor, caught six passes for 153 yards, including a 49-yard touchdown play, in Northern Michigan's 65-0 rout of St. Norbert last Saturday.

Rob North, a former River Valley standout, completed one of two passes for four yards as Michigan Tech's backup quarterback in last Saturday's 10-8 loss to Grand Valley.

Albion defensive back Mike Tyler, a senior from Niles, intercepted two passes in Albion's 27-0 victory over Mt. Union last Saturday.

Steve Bunn of Hartford, a transfer from Southwestern Michigan college, finished ninth in 28.15 in Western Michigan's recent 24-32 and 22-37 cross country victories over Ball State and Purdue, respectively.

Dowagiac sophomore tackle Steve Smallbone was second in tackles with 11 in Central Michigan's 9-7 victory over Toledo last Saturday.

Riegle Supports Legislation To Up Employment

Congressman Donald Riegle of Flint, Democratic party candidate for the U.S. Senate, has said the top priority issue in his campaign is greater employment.

Campaigning in Niles recently, Riegle told his supporters there are 400,000 Michigan residents among the 10 million persons unemployed across America. He said he supported the Humphrey-

Hawkins bill, proposed federal legislation intended to cut the unemployment rate to 3.5 per cent by 1980.

Riegle said he would strongly urge federal efforts to find and promote jobs for the unemployed in business and industry, but would support temporary government employment programs in areas of higher unemployment if necessary. He also suggested tax cuts for low and middle income workers so they could have more money to spend on goods and services.

In Edwardsburg during the swing in southwestern Michigan, Riegle criticized President Ford for the returns Michigan residents receive for their federal income tax dollar, saying Michigan receives 65 cents back for each dollar sent in.

Riegle also cited his congressional voting record on farm bills.

He said the National Farmers Union has compiled a record which shows he supported farmers on 40 of 44 bills the farm lobbying organization endorsed over the past 10 years.

Squabble Brewing Over Army Tank

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite objections from the Army and some members of Congress, Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld is insisting that America's tank of the future include elements of German design.

The House Armed Services Committee, angered over the secretary's refusal thus far to meet with the panel, may subpoena him to testify when it meets today to review proposals on the XM1 tank, said Chairman Melvin Price, D-Ill.

Rumsfeld wants the two American firms that are competing to build the tank to make the vehicle's key components compatible with those of a new German tank.

Rumsfeld outlined his actions in a letter to the House Armed Services Committee Tuesday after turning down its invitation to testify in person.

Some committee members want to question the secretary in person because his decision could postpone award of a contract for building the tank for four months.

Rumsfeld would require the two bidding contractors, General Motors and Chrysler, to produce revised designs.

The new company proposals, ordered by the Army in July, require the contractors to show how they would equip their tanks with the same engines, guns and turrets as new West German tanks.

The defense secretary wrote to the House committee that all members of a top-level Pentagon panel recommended against the Army approach and urged delay in selection until the two rival U.S. contractors could come up with revised design proposals on a competitive cost basis.

Carmine Dandrea Gets Two Awards

Carmine Dandrea, Lake Michigan college poet and professor of English, recently won two awards in the 17th annual competition of the National Federation of State Poetry Societies.

His poem, "Melville," won first prize in the Illinois State Poetry Society contest. Third prize in the NFSPS Traditional Award contest was given to his poem, "The Will That in the Sunset Finds Release."

Three other poems by Professor Dandrea received honorable mention awards in three additional competitions, one in the Walter R. Lovel Memorial Award contest, a second in the NFSPS Bicentennial Patriotism Award contest, and a third in the New York Poetry Forum Award contest.

Professor Dandrea's "Melville" will be published in the NFSPS 1976 anthology. Among the faculty member's other recent poetry awards was the first prize in the Macomb Fantasy Factory's first annual competition for the poem, "On the Eve of the Gunfighter's Death." The latter, together with his "I Love You Minnie Wantough in the A & P," was published last June in the Factory's anthology of poems.

Electric Cars Are Displayed

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Electric cars from Europe and the United States, including a three-wheeled vehicle that looks like a small plane, were displayed Wednesday at Ford Motor Company's test track.

Ten small electric-powered vehicles, bearing such names as the EVA Electric Luxury Sedan, Lucas Electric Taxi, were put through their paces at the International Conference on Automotive Electrics and Electric Vehicles.

Attention focused on the Volkswagen Hybrid City Taxi, which can operate on electricity or on a low emission gas-electric combination.

Room Air Conditioner Market Seen Growing

"If for no other reason, the replacement market alone points to steady growth for room air conditioners through 1985," according to James O. Yund, Whirlpool refrigeration general manager.

This outlook for the industry's future, as well as a review of the Whirlpool room air conditioner line for 1977, were made at a Whirlpool distributor sales meeting held recently at the company's headquarters in Benton Harbor.

Yund said factory inventories are down 47 per cent from 1975, distributor inventories are down 18 per cent, and dealer inventories are lower than ever.

"Factory sales of room air conditioners in 1976 should end up at slightly over 2.2 million units, substantially lower than the peak sales year of 1970 that accounted for over 3.5 million units," Yund went on to say. "The good years in this business started in 1963-1964, when we first attained the two-million unit per year sales level. It's these good years of the past that are a major factor in our future. The units produced since 1963 are starting to be replaced. Perhaps not all consumers will replace their air conditioners, but we believe most will.

He said there are an estimated 44-million units in use today. Yund revealed statistics that he considered "conservative forecasts" showing estimated room air conditioner sales for the industry passing the 3-million mark by 1980.

Riegle Supports Legislation To Up Employment

Congressman Donald Riegle of Flint, Democratic party candidate for the U.S. Senate, has said the top priority issue in his campaign is greater employment.

Campaigning in Niles recently, Riegle told his supporters there are 400,000 Michigan residents among the 10 million persons unemployed across America. He said he supported the Humphrey-

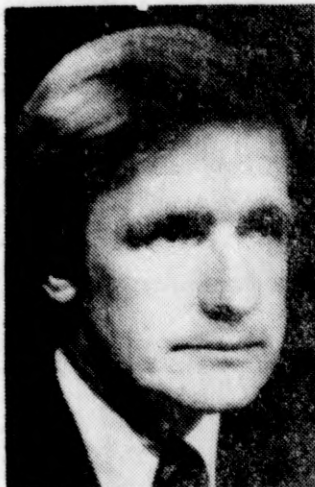

Hawkins bill, proposed federal legislation intended to cut the unemployment rate to 3.5 per cent by 1980.

Riegle said he would strongly urge federal efforts to find and promote jobs for the unemployed in business and industry, but would support temporary government employment programs in areas of higher unemployment if necessary. He also suggested tax cuts for low and middle income workers so they could have more money to spend on goods and services.

In Edwardsburg during the swing in southwestern Michigan, Riegle criticized President Ford for the returns Michigan residents receive for their federal income tax dollar, saying Michigan receives 65 cents back for each dollar sent in.

Riegle also cited his congressional voting record on farm bills.

He said the National Farmers Union has compiled a record which shows he supported farmers on 40 of 44 bills the farm lobbying organization endorsed over the past 10 years.

Squabble Brewing Over Army Tank

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite objections from the Army and some members of Congress, Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld is insisting that America's tank of the future include elements of German design.

The House Armed Services Committee, angered over the secretary's refusal thus far to meet with the panel, may subpoena him to testify when it meets today to review proposals on the XM1 tank, said Chairman Melvin Price, D-Ill.

Rumsfeld wants the two American firms that are competing to build the tank to make the vehicle's key components compatible with those of a new German tank.

Rumsfeld outlined his actions in a letter to the House Armed Services Committee Tuesday after turning down its invitation to testify in person.

Some committee members want to question the secretary in person because his decision could postpone award of a contract for building the tank for four months.

Rumsfeld would require the two bidding contractors, General Motors and Chrysler, to produce revised designs.

The new company proposals, ordered by the Army in July, require the contractors to show how they would equip their tanks with the same engines, guns and turrets as new West German tanks.

The defense secretary wrote to the House committee that all members of a top-level Pentagon panel recommended against the Army approach and urged delay in selection until the two rival U.S. contractors could come up with revised design proposals on a competitive cost basis.

Hemingway's Widow Writing Memoir

Q: Is Ernest Hemingway's widow, Mary, close to her relatives? I was thinking of granddaughters Margaret, Muriel and Mariel. — T.U., Salt Lake City.

A: Mary does keep in touch and attended the wedding of Ernest's granddaughter Muriel, who married French restaurateur Jean Denoyer in Sun Valley recently. Mary has been busy this year working on an autobiographical memoir of her life with Hemingway, which comes out in October. We hear that the book paints the best word portrait of the great writer ever done.

Q: What happened to that love affair between Marcello Mastroianni and Catherine Deneuve? — R.C., N.Y.

A: That romance cooled off and the two have been playing separate fields. Marcello's incredibly indulgent wife Flora is the interesting party right now. She has offered to adopt Chiara, the four-year-old daughter Catherine had by Marcello. Deneuve will have none of it, however, since she had done very well raising her 13-year-old son, fathered by French director Roger Vadim, also out of wedlock.

Q: In Elizabeth Ray's sex confessions she tells of doing

Joe DiMaggio in his favorite restaurant, LaScala in Manhattan. Ray describes being surrounded by photographs on the wall of Joe with Marilyn Monroe. We went there and saw hundreds of pictures but not a single one of Marilyn. Were they removed for some reason? — T.L., Brooklyn, N.Y.

A: We've been told there are no pictures of Marilyn and Joe on the walls and there never have been any.

Q: You've been reporting on the new Liz Taylor movie, "A Little Night Music," but haven't mentioned how much she's getting to do the film. Is this another one of those

Q: Is it true that Gov. Jerry Brown has a woman bodyguard? — F.N., Royal Oak, Mich.

A: Yes, Gov. Brown does have a female security officer among his contingent of personal bodyguards. She is 27-year-old Penelope Cravens, who also has the distinction of being the first woman on the California Highway Patrol.

Q: After seeing "Seven Beauties," which was terrific, I'd like to know if the woman director will try her hand at an American picture? — G.Z., Detroit.

A: Warner Bros. signed Lina Wertmuller to an exclusive deal, but she's as temperamental as she is talented and they can't get together on an American script. Chances are very slim that she will actually do any movies in America.

Q: Patricia Neal and her writer-husband Roald Dahl seem to have quite a handful with their oldest daughter, Tessa. Who is her latest romantic interest? — N.M., Alexandria, Va.

A: Nineteen-year-old Tessa has taken up with Julian

megabucks deal? — F.L., Miami.

A: You won't believe this, but Liz Taylor for "A Little Night Music" is a paltry — by movie standards — $35,000. She does have a little percentage but the pay is nothing to what she's used to. The problem is that "The Bluebird" was a flop at the box office and the film she made before that in Italy, "The Driver's Seat," did not even get a U.S. release. What Liz needs to do is re-establish herself as a major star in a major film, hence the minisalary.

Holloway, the son of Stanley ("My Fair Lady") Holloway. Julian, 32, who is separated from his 42-year-old wife, has apparently decided to sample the other side of the age scale for a change. Pat and Roald must be used to Tessa bringing home older men. Peter Sellers looked large not too long ago.

Q: Peter Fonda hasn't had another success like "Easy Rider" and we were wondering whether he made much money from that one hit. — M.H., Battle Creek, Mich.

A: Fonda owned 18 per cent of that movie and he's still seeing profits, more than $3 million so far. The young actor has mellowed quite a lot since he married Purita Rebecca Crockett, great, great granddaughter of Davy Crockett. Right now he and his family are sailing to Bora Bora in the South Pacific on his 81-foot ketch. Just what any millionaire might do.

Russians Reflect Concerns In Letters To Newspaper

By SETH MYDANS
Associated Press Writer
MOSCOW (AP) — "If I were director, I would put a special garage for baby carriages in every apartment building," a wrote. "I would decree that every school give dancing lessons as well as singing lessons," said a letter from a woman from Chelyabinsk.

The letters, as selected by the newspaper's editors, include a variety of suggestions about everyday conveniences, but few thoughts about the larger questions that confront the Soviet off. "It would take a high-level government decree to implement the suggestion: 'I would only allow building superintendents to come to work after 7 a.m. so people could get a little sleep.'"

Some of the letters suggest innovations that are already taken for granted in some Western countries:

"I would put parking lots at all airports. Many car owners — and their numbers are increasing — could start off on a business trip by driving to the airport."

"I would install radios in the seats of aircraft so people could listen to music during the flight."

"I would print health warnings on cigarette packages."

Other letters have a universal appeal, and could have been written by dreamers in almost any country:

"I would have separate cars on trains for people with noisy children."

"I would require markets to round off the prices of their items, to speed up the checkout lines."

"To increase labor productivity, I would install special equipment on all office telephones that would cut off conversation after three or four minutes."

"I would build a beautiful building in the middle of the city, complete with a bank, post office and every kind of store, and let the old people live there."

Intrigued by the response to its "Director" column, the Literary Gazette editors recently surveyed 500 of their letter writers. They found that the people with the most ideas for improving Soviet life are middle-aged men with good educations, living in the European cities of the Soviet Union.

"Men outnumber women among our 'directors' by three to one," the editors said.

"Maybe it is because men like to be the leader."

It said 95 per cent of the letters came from people over 26 years of age, "which is natural because the life experience of youth is not so great."

Most of the letter writers are technical or professional people. Only one in 10 of the people with ideas for improvements was found to be a worker, the class of people who form the ideological bedrock of Soviet society.

The editors were pleased that "almost none of the letters were about private concerns, such as, 'If I were director, the first thing I would do is get myself an apartment.'"

"This shows that our 'directors' are concerned not about themselves but about problems of society," the editors said.

Here's Sample Of Russian Letters

EDITOR'S NOTE — Soviet citizens write letters to the editors of their controlled press, but one newspaper seeks letters from people with ideas on how to improve everyday living. Here's a sample of what they wrote about.

Union, such as housing problems, harvest shortfalls and shortages of consumer goods.

These questions are not generally the subjects of public discussion in a nation where almost every detail of daily life is controlled by the government.

And under an economy not guided by market considerations, consumer demands, like the following, often are not resolved as they can be in the West:

"I would sell special knives for peeling potatoes, carrots and fruit."

Michigan To Get $1 Million

MARQUETTE, Mich. (AP) — The federal government will reimburse Michigan some $1 million for the cost of state firefighting efforts in a seven-week-old Upper Peninsula blaze, according to Secretary of the Interior Thomas Kleppe. Kleppe made the announcement in Marquette just before embarking on an airplane tour over 70,000 acres of fire-blackened U.P. forest and marshland. State DNR officials said weeks ago they would bill the U.S. government for the fire's costs to the state. State officials have charged it was federal wilderness management regulations which allowed the blaze to rage out of control in early August. Kleppe said joint state-federal firefighting efforts have so far cost nearly $4 million, and Michigan would be repaid about $1 million for its expenses.

Q: What happened to that hot love affair between Marcello Mastroianni and Catherine Deneuve? — R.C., N.Y.

A: That romance cooled off and the two have been playing separate fields. Marcello's incredibly indulgent wife Flora is the interesting party right now. She has offered to adopt Chiara, the four-year-old daughter Catherine had by Marcello. Deneuve will have none of it, however, since she had done very well raising her 13-year-old son, fathered by French director Roger Vadim, also out of wedlock.

Q: In Elizabeth Ray's sex confessions she tells of dating

Joe DiMaggio in his favorite restaurant, LaScala in Manhattan. Ray describes being surrounded by photographs on the wall of Joe with Marilyn Monroe. We went there and saw hundreds of pictures but not a single one of Marilyn. Were they removed for some reason? — T.L., Brooklyn, N.Y.

A: We've been told there are no pictures of Marilyn and Joe on the walls and there never have been any.

Q: You've been reporting on the new Liz Taylor movie, "A Little Night Music," but haven't mentioned how much she's getting to do the film. Is this another one of those

Q: Is it true that Gov. Jerry Brown has a woman bodyguard? — F.N., Royal Oak, Mich.

A: Yes, Gov. Brown does have a female security officer among his contingent of personal bodyguards. She is 27-year-old Penelope Cravens, who also has the distinction of being the first woman on the California Highway Patrol.

Q: After seeing "Seven Beauties," which was terrific, I'd like to know if the woman director will try her hand at an American picture? — G.Z., Detroit.

A: Warner Bros. signed Lina Wertmuller to an exclusive deal, but she's as temperamental as she is talented and they can't get together on an American script. Chances are very slim that she will actually do any movies in America.

Q: Patricia Neal and her writer-husband Roald Dahl seem to have quite a handful with their oldest daughter, Tessa. Who is her latest romantic interest? — N.M., Alexandria, Va.

A: Nineteen-year-old Tessa has taken up with Julian

MARY: A word portrait of Hemingway

Holloway, the son of Stanley ("My Fair Lady") Holloway. Julian, 32, who is separated from his 42-year-old wife, has apparently decided to sample the other side of the age scale for a change. Pat and Roald must be used to Tessa bringing home older men. Peter Sellers loomed large not too long ago.

Q: Peter Fonda hasn't had another success like "Easy Rider" and we were wondering whether he made much money from that one hit. — M.H., Battle Creek, Mich.

A: Fonda owned 18 per cent of that movie and he's still seeing profits, more than $3 million so far. The young actor has mellowed quite a lot since he married Portia Rebecca Crockett, great, great granddaughter of Davy Crockett. Right now he and his family are sailing to Bora Bora in the South Pacific on his 81-foot ketch. Just what any millionaire might do.

megabucks deals? — F.L., Miami.

A: You won't believe this, but Liz Taylor for "A Little Night Music" is a paltry — by movie standards — $55,000. She does have a little percentage but the pay is nothing to what she's used to. The problem is that "The Bluebird" was a flop at the box office and the film she made before that in Italy, "The Driver's Seat," did not even get a U.S. release. What Liz needs to do is re-establish herself as a major star in a major film, hence the minisalary.

Russians Reflect Concerns In Letters To Newspaper

By SETH MYDANS
Associated Press Writer
MOSCOW (AP) — "If I were director, I would put a special garage for baby carriages in every apartment building," a wrote. "I would decree that every school give dancing lessons as well as singing lessons," said a letter from a woman from Chelyabinsk.

The letters, as selected by the newspaper's editors, include a variety of suggestions about everyday conveniences, but few thoughts about the larger questions that confront the Soviet

off. It would take a high-level government decree to implement the suggestion: "I would only allow building superintendents to come to work after 7 a.m. so people could get a little sleep."

Some of the letters suggest innovations that are already taken for granted in some Western countries: "I would put parking lots at all airports. Many car owners — and their numbers are increasing — could start off on a business trip by driving to the airport."

"I would install radios in the seats of aircraft so people could listen to music during the flight."

"I would print health warnings on cigarette packages."

Other letters have a universal appeal, and could have been written by dreamers in almost any country:

"I would have separate cars on trains for people with noisy children."

"I would require markets to round off the prices of their items, to speed up the checkout lines."

"To increase labor productivity, I would install special equipment on all office telephones that would cut off conversation after three or four minutes."

"I would build a beautiful building in the middle of the city, complete with a bank, post office and every kind of store, and let the old people live there."

Intrigued by the response to its "Director" column, the Literary Gazette editors recently surveyed 500 of their letter writers. They found that the people with the most ideas for improving Soviet life are middle-aged men with good educations, living in the European cities of the Soviet Union.

"Men outnumber women among our 'directors' by three to one," the editors said.

"Maybe it is because men like to be the leader."

It said 95 per cent of the letters came from people over 26 years of age, "which is natural because the life experience of youth is not so great."

Most of the letter writers are technical or professional people. Only one in 10 of the people with ideas for improvements was found to be a worker, the class of people who form the ideological bedrock of Soviet society.

The editors were pleased that "almost none of the letters were about private concerns, such as, 'If I were director, the first thing I would do is get myself an apartment.'"

"This shows that our 'directors' are concerned not about themselves but about problems of society," the editors said.

Michigan To Get $1 Million

MARQUETTE, Mich. (AP) — The federal government will reimburse Michigan some $1 million for the cost of state firefighting efforts in a seven-week-old Upper Peninsula blaze, according to Secretary of the Interior Thomas Kleppe. Kleppe made the announcement in Marquette just before embarking on an airplane tour over 70,000 acres of fire-blackened U.P. forest and marshland. State DNR officials said weeks ago they would bill the U.S. government for the fire's costs to the state. State officials have charged it was federal wilderness management regulations which allowed the blaze to rage out of control in early August. Kleppe said joint state-federal firefighting efforts have so far cost nearly $4 million, and Michigan would be repaid about $1 million for its expenses.

Failure To Thrive Big Infant Mystery

By NIKKI FINKE

Associated Press Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Billy was a healthy seven pounds at birth. He was an active baby, smiling and cooing with every playful poke to his fat, pink stomach.

One month later, Billy was comatose, emaciated and dying. He shrank from any contact with the world around him and barely tipped the scale at four pounds.

After weeks of tests, doctors concluded there was nothing medically wrong with Billy. He was one of a growing number of infants who fail to thrive at home.

Something in the bond that links parent to child went awry. Without maternal love to nourish them, these babies start to feed on themselves.

"Holding these babies is like picking up a rag doll. They refuse to respond to you," said Dr. Milt Kotelchuck, research director of family development at Children's Hospital.

He is one of three physicians who have gathered information about this disorder, one of the most mysterious social illnesses of pediatrics.

Dr. Eli H. Newberger, Dr. Daniel Rosen and Kotelchuck devised a questionnaire to pinpoint the characteristics of income neighborhoods — were the products of white middle-class families.

Besides logging the characteristics of the children, doctors developed an interview for the mother, focusing on housing, marital well-being, employment, child care and family problems.

What emerged was an anxious, over-concerned parent who was frightened of her child and her surroundings.

The mothers shared high levels of stress. They tended to be less educated than the fathers and saw their neighborhoods as unfriendly, even hostile. Rarely did the mother develop her own life or keep in contact with her own family.

Sometimes a simple question started them on an avalanche of emotion that laid bare their hidden feelings.

"I can't relate to the kid," "He's a difficult child," "He just isn't happy," "He doesn't like to eat what I give him," "It's not my fault he looks the way he does," "I'm a good mother."

Telling a mother that her child is not flourishing at home is placing blame on her, even when the doctors are trying to help her.

As one distraught mother told

But getting them to respond emotionally is often the hardest result to achieve, doctors agree.

"You've got to take it slow with these kids," Rosen said. "You can't overwhelm them with a battery of stimuli. They have to learn how to respond."

Physicians keep a close watch for symptoms of serious illness throughout the child's hospital stay, like kidney or stomach disorders, brain damage — anything to explain the child's severely emaciated state.

State agencies around the country are getting more and more reports of children who fail to thrive. All cases of neglect or abuse must be reported.

In 1973 alone, 6,000 cases of neglect were logged in Massachusetts. About 10 per cent were failure-to-thrive infants.

failure-to-thrive infants — and their parents.

"We saw a picture of a mother who was isolated, stuck at home with this baby she was almost afraid of it because it didn't act normally. She was at the end of her rope," Rosen said.

A failure-to-thrive child "looks just like those pictures of the starving Biafrans," one physician said. The infant is far below normal in growth, height and weight — a "deprivational dwarf."

Because of its severe malnutrition, the infant is listless and passive. The child refuses to eat despite a mother's desperate efforts to make her child gain weight.

"If these parents didn't care about their kids they'd let them die at home instead of taking them to a pediatrician or hospital," Newberger pointed out. "The parents are looking for help, not only for their child but for themselves."

The doctors examined 303 children admitted to the hospital's in-patient services. Forty-two cases were diagnosed as failure to thrive because of the inability to gain weight.

Of those 42 cases, 81 per cent were under 18 months of age, 83 per cent were white, 33 per cent were from welfare families and 69 per cent were male.

From their findings, doctors concluded that these babies — unlike many cases of neglect or abuse that often occur in low-income neighborhoods — were the products of white middle-class families.

Doctors agree that the various theories pointing to a lack of interaction — a "failed mutuality" — between mother and child as the cause of the condition takes a punitive attitude by placing blame on an already guilt-ridden parent.

"The purpose of our questionnaire is to ask questions that's going to lead the mother to the problem. You need to keep in mind one's ethical posture and role — be sympathetic, nonaccusing, nonjudgmental," Kotelchuck said.

Many of the mothers were maternally retarded, ignorant about baby care. They had not set up a routine for their child and often treated the babies like dolls or pets.

Doctors often refer the mothers for counseling at the hospital or with a social worker. In some instances, dance therapy has proven successful since the mother learns to develop a rhythm with her child.

In extreme cases, as in Billy's, the infant is placed in a foster home until authorities decide that the mother is "fit" to take care of her child again.

Once the baby is admitted to the hospital, it is force-fed enormous amounts of food — about 90 calories for each pound of weight, twice the normal amount.

Recovery comes quickly, with some babies gaining as much as 14 pounds in seven to 10 days.

Mondale Boosts 'Jimmy Ford'!

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — In a slip of the tongue, Democratic vice presidential candidate Walter F. Mondale momentarily appeared to have forgotten his running mate's name.

Speaking to about 500 people who came down to the railroad tracks Tuesday to meet his campaign train, Mondale said: "You're telling me, you're telling America, you want that White House once again occupied by a people's president, this time named Jimmy Ford."

Realizing his mistake, Mondale grimaced, adding: "Jimmy won't like that, Jimmy. I didn't mean it. I didn't mean it. Let me try again, Jimmy Carter. There we go."

Berrien, Cass Chapters Given Top FFA Awards

Future Farmer of America chapters at Berrien and Cass county high schools have recently received top state and national FFA chapter awards.

The Cassopolis FFA chapter received a gold Michigan Outstanding Chapter award in ceremonies held Monday night at Battle Creek. The award places the chapter in the top 10 per cent of some 200 FFA chapters in the state.

Awarded silver Outstanding Chapter awards, placing their chapters in the top 25 per cent of state chapters, were the Buchanan and Dowagiac chapters.

Six area chapters have also received National FFA Superior chapter awards. They are

Buchanan, Lakeshore, Niles, River Valley, Dowagiac and Cassopolis.

Howard Labring, Buchanan FFA chapter sponsor, said the awards are based on the activities of the chapters and participation in those activities by chapter members.

BURY BOBCAT: Lincoln-Mercury's smallest car for 1977 — the Bobcat — fun-to-drive handling and optional all-glass third door shown above. Standard firmer suspension and new four-speed manual transmission combined 2.73 rear axle ratio for better fourth-gear economy. Bobcat is available in models — three-door runabout and station wagon.

Mondale Boosts 'Jimmy Ford'!

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — In a slip of the tongue, Democratic vice presidential candidate Walter F. Mondale momentarily appeared to have forgotten his running mate's name.

Speaking to about 500 people who came down to the railroad tracks Tuesday to meet his campaign train, Mondale said:

"You're telling me, you're telling America, you want that White House once again occupied by a peoples' president, this time named Jimmy Ford." Realizing his mistake, Mondale grimaced, adding: "Jimmy won't like that. Jimmy, I didn't mean it. I didn't mean it. Let me try again. Jimmy Carter. There we go."

Berrien, Cass Chapters Given Top FFA Awards

The Farmer of America chapters at Berrien and Cass high schools have received top state and FFA chapter awards. Cassopolis FFA chapter won a gold Michigan Outstanding Chapter award in the 1975-76 school year. The award was presented Monday night at the FFA state convention in the Creek. The award was given to the chapter in the top 10 out of some 200 FFA chapters in the state.

Awarded silver Outstanding Chapter awards, placing their chapters in the top 25 per cent of state chapters, were the Buchanan and Dowagiac chapters.

Six area chapters have also received National FFA Superior chapter awards. They are

Buchanan, Lakeshore, Niles, River Valley, Dowagiac and Cassopolis.

Howard Lahring, Buchanan FFA chapter sponsor, said the awards are based on the activities of the chapters and participation in those activities by chapter members.

Social Security Pays 27,000 In Berrien

Social Security benefits were being paid to 26,980 residents of Berrien County at a rate of $5,016,615 a month at the start of 1976, according to Harry Gelander, Social Security manager in Benton Harbor.

Monthly Social Security benefits are payable to workers and their dependents when the worker retires, becomes severely disabled, or dies. A total of 14,207 retired workers and 2,075 disabled workers received monthly Social Security benefits at the beginning of 1976. In addition, 2,576 wives or husbands of the worker, 4,537 children and 3,563 widows, widowers or parents received monthly Social Security benefits.

In Berrien county, 10,180 beneficiaries were under age 65; 16,872 beneficiaries were 65 and over. Of the total number of adults, 9,284 were men and 13,139 women.

Today, Social Security is the Nation's basic method of providing a continuing income when family earnings are reduced or stop because of retirement, disability, or death. Nine out of 10 workers in the United States are earning protection under Social Security. Nearly one out of every seven persons in this country receives monthly Social Security checks. About 22 million people 65 and over, nearly all of the nation's aged population, have health insurance under Medicare. Another 2.1 million disabled people under 65 also have Medicare. Gelander also stated that more than 2,000 persons in Berrien county received payment under the Supplemental Security Income program. SSI is a program which can provide some payment to aged, blind, or disabled individuals of very low income and resources. The Social Security office is located in the Goldblatt building at Fairplain Plaza in Benton township.

Dave Stockman Blasts 'Free Lunch Syndrome'

Dave Stockman, Republican nominee for U.S. Congress, today warned that the "free lunch syndrome" is jeopardizing the basic moral foundation of America.

In a speech prepared for a luncheon meeting of the Twin Cities Clergy association, Stockman said, "self-restraint and self-reliance have long been essential attributes of the American people. But the easy availability of handouts and free federal money are influencing appetites and encouraging us to expect more than we can afford."

The St. Joseph Republican was particularly critical of the Federal grant-in-aid system which has grown from 200 programs costing 7 billion dollars annually in 1964, to more than 1100 programs today at a cost greater than 70 billion dollars.

Stockman declared the pending proposal to have the Federal government assume one-third of the financing cost of local education would only compound the problem.

Stockman labeled the current welfare system "the equivalent of a government subsidy for idleness. By establishing a government program to meet nearly every imaginable need — food stamps, housing subsidies, Medicaid, free school lunches — we are encouraging people to believe that they are entitled to everything — regardless of their own work effort or productive contribution."

Stockman also criticized the extensive array of special interest subsidies — such as multi-million dollar subsidies currently paid to the maritime industry, barge operators, airlines, peanut growers and many others — encouraging people to believe that what cannot be obtained through fair competition in the market place can be extracted from the taxpayers.

Red Cross Will Cut Link With Blood Bank

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Red Cross is about to sever its ties with the American Association of Blood Banks, and the AABP says the move will endanger the nation's program of voluntary blood supplies.

"We believe the Red Cross' action will create a crisis in blood supply which will have an impact on health care delivery," said AABP President Bernice Hemphill at a news briefing this week.

The American Red Cross Blood Program says that on Oct. 19 it will end a 16-year association with a national blood clearinghouse sponsored by the AABP. The Red Cross says it disagrees with the philosophy of the program, as well as what it says is the red tape associated with it. Since the decision was announced last spring, the AABP has campaigned to arouse public opinion against the Red Cross.

Stockman labeled the current welfare system "the equivalent of a government subsidy for idleness. By establishing a government program to meet nearly every imaginable need — food stamps, housing subsidies, Medicaid, free school lunches — we are encouraging people to believe that they are entitled to everything — regardless of their own work effort or productive contribution.

Stockman also criticized the extensive array of special interest subsidies — such as multi-million dollar subsidies currently paid to the maritime industry, barge operators, airlines, peanut growers and many others — encouraging people to believe that what cannot be obtained through fair competition in the market place can be extracted from the taxpayers.

Red Cross Will Cut Link With Blood Bank

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Red Cross is about to sever its ties with the American Association of Blood Banks, and the AABBB says the move will endanger the nation's program of voluntary blood supplies.

"We believe the Red Cross' action will create a crisis in blood supply which will have an impact on health care delivery," said AABBB President Bernice Hemphill at a news briefing this week.

The American Red Cross Blood Program says that on Oct. 19 it will end a 16-year association with a national blood clearinghouse sponsored by the AABBB. The Red Cross says it disagrees with the philosophy of the program, as well as what it says is the red tape associated with it. Since the decision was announced last spring, the AABBB has campaigned to arouse public opinion against the Red Cross.

Covert United Appeal Goal Set For $1,800 This Year

COVERT — The Covert Unified Appeal goal for the 1976 drive has been set at $1,800. The 1975 goal of $1,500 was not reached during the campaign. The annual Covert Unified Appeal is to support the work of various charitable and service agencies such as the girl scouts, boy scouts, the Salvation Army, American Red Cross and the Bloodmobile, Negro College fund, Al-Van Humane society, Mental Health services, and the Michigan United Way which in turn raises funds for many other accredited agencies. The Covert Unified Appeal kickoff will take place on Friday Oct. 1 at 7:30 p.m. at the Covert township library where volunteers will pick up campaign supplies for the canvass of the township and employees who work in this area. The pledges and donations will be returned by the volunteers on Monday Oct. 18 at 3 p.m. in the library. Newcomers in the area who wish to offer their services as volunteers in any capacity for the 1976 Covert Unified Appeal campaign are requested to contact any of the officers for further details.

At the appeal's recent annual meeting, Jerome Shumate and Rodney DeYoung were named co-chairmen of the 1976 drive. Mrs. Pearl Sarno was elected to a three-year term as trustee on the board of directors. The board's officers were re-elected to another term. Mrs. Otto (Olga) Stegeman will continue as president and co-treasurer; Miss Rosalind Williams, secretary; Mrs. William Farley, co-treasurer; and Shumate, DeYoung and Mrs. William Farley, trustees.

Band Boosters Slate Watervliet Bike-A-Thon

WATERVLIT — The Watervliet band boosters club will sponsor its second annual Bike-A-Thon, Saturday, Oct. 9, according to Mrs. Lloyd (Barbara) Richcreek, project chairman.

Mrs. Richcreek said the event will launch the club's drive for the 1976-77 school year to raise money toward the purchase of items for the Watervliet school system's instrumental and vocal music departments.

During last year's first bike-athon, 125 riders raised approximately $3,000 during the day-long event, also held in October.

The money was part of $10,000 the club raised toward the $15,000 purchase price of 110 new Watervliet high school band uniforms. The $5,000 balance was contributed by the Watervliet school board.

Under consideration for purchase by the booster club are outfits for the Chorale and high school choir, hopefully in time for holiday concerts.

No goal has been established this year, according to Mrs. Richcreek.

Assisting Mrs. Richcreek in the Bike-A-Thon project, is Watervliet Postmaster Fred Hamlin, serving as co-chairman.

The second Bike-A-Thon will begin between 9 a.m. and 9:30 a.m. in the high school parking lot off Red Arrow highway. The 22-mile route is open to all riders with sponsors. A "kiddie route" will be set up at the high school parking lot.

At the halfway point of the main route, riders will be treated to refreshments at Radom's Farm Supply, Territorial road, by owner Sheldon Radom. At the finish line, free cider will be distributed to all riders courtesy of the Teddy Bertucci Co. of Benton Harbor.

Sponsor sheets for the Bike-A-Thon are available now at all Watervliet school offices, said Mrs. Richcreek.

LAWRENCE C. SHERMAN

Sherman Launches Write-In

Lawrence C. Sherman, who was defeated in the Aug. 3 primary as a Democratic party candidate for the nomination for 44th District state legislator, announced today he would run a write-in campaign for the same post in the Nov. 2 general election.

"I am becoming a write-in and sticker candidate because I cannot honestly support the Democratic nominee, Charles F. Henderson (of Benton Harbor)," Sherman said in an announcement.

Sherman said financial contributions from the Michigan Education Association (MEA) to Henderson's campaign is one reason for his non-support of the Democratic nominee.

Sherman, 24, of Box 157B Towline road, Benton township, and Henderson, a teacher at Benton Harbor high school, will face incumbent Republican Ray Mittan of Niles.

Berrien Set To Enforce ADC Policy

Clients Must Report Income Monthly

BY MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer

The Berrien county social services department will begin enforcing a new state policy Oct. 1 which puts "some teeth" into requiring welfare clients to report accurate incomes, Wesley Bowerman, county social services director, announced yesterday. Bowerman said the new policy, which will be enforced by all county social services departments throughout the state, requires ADC (Aid to Dependent Children) recipients to report all income each month and provides a penalty for those failing to report.

"The new policy should result in more accuracy in making payments to ADC recipients," Bowerman said. "There is some teeth in it now."

The Berrien county social services department actually began requiring monthly reporting of all income in the fall of 1972, according to Bowerman, but could not enforce the policy because it was only a county, and not a state policy. Currently, the state policy only requires that ADC recipients report their income when it changes.

Bowerman said the new state policy requires that clients who do not report their income promptly and accurately each month will have their ADC cases closed and must refile to receive ADC benefits.

Sam Webb, assistance payments program supervisor, said the delay in having to refile for ADC could mean a loss of up to one month in ADC payments. Bowerman said the county social services department will also continue to file fraud cases against clients who report their income inaccurately and thus receive ADC payments fraudulently.

Oliver White, deputy director of the county social services department, said the crackdown on ADC income reporting should result in a savings for the department because inaccurate reporting of income was the largest cause of errors in making ADC payments.

Bowerman said the new policy requires that all income, both earned and unearned, must be reported to the local office no later than the 5th day of each month following the month in which the income was received.

The earned income should be reported to the county social services department in the form of pay check stubs, according to Bowerman, but if clients do not receive check stubs, another form of verification can be worked out with a caseworker. Bowerman said the county social services staff is currently attending sessions to be trained how to implement the new policy. ADC recipients who have questions about the new policy should contact their caseworker, Bowerman said.

Ma Bell Readies Refunds

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

About $5 million in refunds will be mailed out to some 80,000 residential customers of Michigan Bell Telephone Co. starting next month, the company said Wednesday.

The refunds — averaging about $55 each — are being made voluntarily to follow the "spirit" of the state Public Service Commission's proposed consumer bill of rights, Michigan Bell said.

The bill of rights, adopted last week by the PSC but not yet in effect, says the practice of requiring deposits for new phone service is unwarranted unless the customer has a bad telephone credit record.

The new code needs the approval of the legislature's Joint Administrative Rules Committee and then wouldn't take effect for 120 days, but the PSC urged Michigan Bell and other phone companies to comply voluntarily in the meantime.

Bell said it will start reviewing its 118,000 deposit accounts Oct. 1 and will refund all except those where service was cut off within the last nine months for nonpayment of bills.

Customers in Detroit, where records are computerized, will get the first refunds in late October and the process statewide should be finished by mid-February, the company said.

Starting Oct. 1, deposits will be required only from customers with unpaid bills for past telephone service, and to restore service to anyone whose phone is disconnected for non-payment.

Bell said fewer than five percent of its residential customers have deposits, and estimated that 80 percent of those will get refunds. Total deposits amount to about $6.6 million, the firm said.

House Passes Tribunal Bill

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill to enlarge the state Tax Tribunal to help break a backlog of work has won approval in the state Senate.

The measure, passed 32-2, now goes to the House. It would add two new members to the agency which hears appeals of local tax assessments.

The two new members would be a real estate appraiser and a certified public accountant. The bill also would add five new hearing examiners to the tribunal to tackle the case load.

Parents Of Van Buren Folk Dancer File Suit For $750,000

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — The parents of a 15-year-old Paw Paw girl who died from injuries she sustained in an auto accident last March 27, have filed a lawsuit in circuit court seeking $750,000 in damages for her death.

The suit was filed on behalf of John and Jane Makowski, whose daughter, Stephanie, a sophomore at Paw Paw high school, died April 8 at Borgess hospital, Kalamazoo, from head injuries incurred in the crash, according to hospital officials.

The girl was one of eight passengers in a car driven by Mrs. Margaret Millard, Paw Paw, which was struck by a vehicle, operated by Loren Miller, 22, Mattawan, as Mrs. Millard attempted to make a left turn off Red Arrow highway near 29 1/2 street, Paw Paw, according to police.

Miller also died in the crash. All the passengers were members of the Van Buren Folk Dancers, who were returning from a performance in Kalamazoo, a group spokesman said.

The suit names as defendants Daniel R. DeMent, Kalamazoo,

Wants Tougher Justice

NILES — There should be a "toughening up" by the state's courts and penal system to stop "revolving door justice," Berrien Probate court Judge Zoe Burkholz told a group of Niles area citizens here last night.

In her address at the Heidelberg Inn in Niles, she also said that because of the growing number of crimes committed by youngsters, there should be "quick criminal penalties against parents" who have neglected or abused their children.

A candidate for election to Berrien county's fourth circuit court judgeship, Judge Burkholz said "The deterrent effect of quick, certain punishment for criminal wrongdoing will do more to reduce the criminal caseload than all the police, prosecutorial and judicial discretion sometimes advocated to achieve this end."

Among factors contributing to "revolving door justice," she said are low bonds for repeat offenders; early parole to reportedly "least harmful" prisoners; and mandatory "good time" that can cut in half a prison sentence handed down by a judge.

"Parents have the responsibility to love their children, supervise them, and discipline them so that they grow into responsible citizens. Unloved, unsupervised, and undisciplined children soon grow old enough to rape the community," she said.

Judge Burkholz and District court Judge Ronald Taylor are seeking election in November to the newly created circuit court bench.

Lawrence OKs Plans For $2.7 Million Sewer System

LAWRENCE — Plans to construct a proposed $2.7 million wastewater treatment system serving Lawrence township and village were approved by the village council at a special meeting Wednesday night.

The village council approved a resolution formally placing it-self on record to proceed with construction as outlined in a plan submitted by Gove Associates, Kalamazoo, the project engineers. The commitment to proceed must be approved by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) and the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) before additional action may be taken.

According to the plan, the initial phase would include construction of a wastewater treatment plant for the village. Sewer lines in the village, south and east of the village and in the area around Reynolds and Christie lakes would be installed at a later date.

Karl F. Freed, director of planning for Gove Associates said the new sewerage treatment plant could cost between $500,000 and $750,000. Federal funds would pay for 80 per cent of the costs, he added.

Freed said the next step would be to apply to the EPA for a $21,500 federal grant for a sewer system evaluation survey. The survey would involve internal inspection of existing sewer lines in the village to see if there are any cracks or breaks in them, he added. It was recommended by the EPA.

An existing village sewer system was constructed in 1960. According to a report prepared by Gove Associates, a present treatment plant is discharging inadequately treated sewage into the Paw Paw river, contributing to its pollution. The state Water Resources commission has given the village until June 30, 1977 to comply with acceptable treatment and pollution standards.

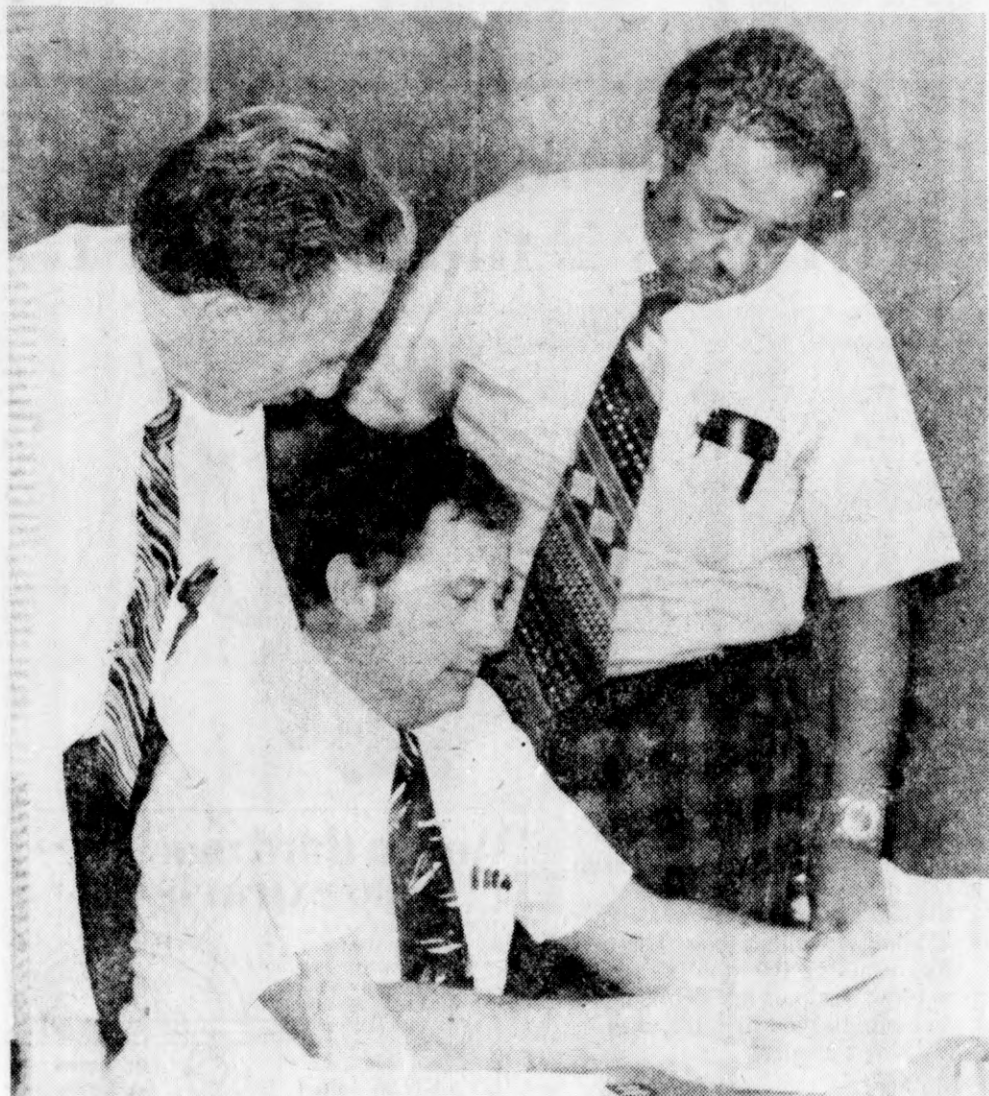

Taylor To Speak Money

Berrien Fifth District court Judge Ronald J. Taylor will be the guest speaker Monday at a dinner meeting of the Southwest Michigan Traffic club, according to Michael Rondelli, an organizer of the event.

The 7:30 p.m. dinner will be at the Captain's Table restaurant, Benton Harbor, and is open to all local workers involved in industrial traffic and shipping, said Rondelli who is traffic manager at Jeno's fruit processing plant, Sodas. Judge Taylor is seeking election in November to a judgeship in Berrien Circuit court.

Newcomers in the area who wish to offer their services as volunteers in any capacity for the 1976 Covert Unified Appeal campaign are requested to contact any of the officers for further details.

At the appeal's recent annual meeting, Jerome Shumate and Rodney DeYoung were named co-chairmen of the 1976 drive. Mrs. Pearl Sarno was elected to a three-year term as trustee on the board of directors. The board's officers were re-elected to another term. Mrs. Otto (Olga) Stegeman will continue as president and co-treasurer; Miss Rosalind Williams, secretary; Mrs. William Farley, co-treasurer; and Shumate, DeYoung and Mrs. William Farley, trustees.

Band Boosters Slate Watervliet Bike-A-Thon

WATERVLLET — The Watervliet band boosters club will sponsor its second annual Bike-A-Thon, Saturday, Oct. 9, according to Mrs. Lloyd (Barbara) Richcreek, project chairman.

Mrs. Richcreek said the event will launch the club's drive for the 1976-77 school year to raise money toward the purchase of items for the Watervliet school system's instrumental and vocal music departments.

During last year's first bike-a-thon, 125 riders raised approximately $3,000 during the day-long event, also held in October.

The money was part of $10,000 the club raised toward the $15,000 purchase price of 110 new Watervliet high school band uniforms. The $5,000 balance was contributed by the Watervliet school board.

Berrien Set To Enforce ADC Policy

Ma Bell Readies Refunds

About $5 million in refunds will be mailed out to some 90,000 residential customers of Michigan Bell Telephone Co. starting next month, the company said Wednesday.

The refunds — averaging about $55 each — are being made voluntarily to follow the "spirit" of the state Public Service Commission's proposed consumer bill of rights, Michigan Bell said.

The bill of rights, adopted last week by the PSC but not yet in effect, says the practice of requiring deposits for new phone service is unwarranted unless the customer has a bad telephone credit record.

The new code needs the approval of the legislature's Joint Administrative Rules Committee and then wouldn't take effect for 120 days, but the PSC urged Michigan Bell and other phone companies to comply voluntarily in the meantime.

Starting Oct. 1, deposits will be required only from customers with unpaid bills for past telephone service, and to restore service to anyone whose phone is disconnected for non-payment.

Bell said fewer than five percent of its residential customers have deposits, and estimated that 80 percent of those will get refunds. Total deposits amount to about $6.6 million, the firm said.

UN May Adopt Hijacking Ban

"We've talked to well over 100 (governments) here and elsewhere, and ... I think we stand a fair chance of success," Baron Ruediger von Wechmar said Wednesday.

His delegation will sponsor a proposed international convention that would ban the transportation of hostages across national boundaries and require signatory nations to punish or extradite hostage-takers apprehended on their territory.

The baron told a news conference the only opposition encountered so far has come from a single Arab country, "but it's not the one you think."

The country was understood to be Algeria.

Libya has been accused of harboring Palestinian terrorists who hijacked airliners to focus attention on their cause, but Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy recently said he opposes terrorism against innocent civilians. Libya's U.N. ambassador, Mansur Rashid Kikhin, indicated he might support an antiterrorism agreement if it covered "terrorism exercised by all racist regimes in the world, including the racist Zionist entity (Israel)."

Hijacking and other political terrorism has been on the General Assembly's agenda every year since the massacre of Israeli athletes at the Munich Olympics in 1972. But the Assembly has taken no action because of the Arab and African contention that these are legitimate political weapons when used by antiwhite liberation movements in Africa and the anti-Israeli Palestinians.

Some Arab governments have had second thoughts recently, however, because their Arab opponents are beginning to use hijacking against them.

The issue was given new impetus this year by the July hijacking of an Air France jetliner to Uganda and the spectacular rescue of more than 100 of the hostages by Israeli commandos. There were new demands for international action against hijackers, widespread admiration for the decisive Israeli action, and Arab and African accusations of Israeli aggression. A Security Council debate on the Israeli operation ended without action.

Von Wechmar said West German Foreign Minister Hans Dietrich Genscher would introduce the subject in a speech to the General Assembly next Tuesday. The ambassador said he hoped the Assembly would set up a 35-nation group to draft a convention and submit it to the 1977 Assembly.

West German diplomats have rounded up a number of cosponsors for the proposal, including "four from Latin America, four from Africa and four from Asia, not counting the Europeans," the baron said.

Strike Shuts Canadian Plant

DETROIT (AP) — Bargainers for the United Auto Workers and Ford Motor Co. settled today for a fourth straight day of talks aimed at breaking the deadlock that has shut down the nation's No. 2 automaker for nine days.

Wednesday produced a full day of head-to-head talks, but a union source at the main bargaining table said the sessions failed to bring the two sides any closer on the several major economic issues which triggered a Sept. 14 walkout by 170,000 hourly Ford workers in 22 states.

Meanwhile, the ripple effect of the strike spread to another 2,800 hourly Ford workers in Canada who were laid off due to parts shortages. Some 4,400 out of 14,000 workers in that country have been idled and all are expected to be on layoff by the end of the week.

A Ford of Canada spokesman said the St. Thomas, Ont., assembly plant would have to shut down today. Some 1,600 workers were furloughed when the Windsor, Ont., engine plant closed earlier in the week.

Spokesmen for Ford and the UAW said the two sides met most of Wednesday discussing only non-economic issues, then recessed for internal sessions Wednesday night. Face-to-face talks were to resume this morning.

There was no sign the two sides are planning marathon bargaining sessions, a traditional signal that a settlement might be in the offing.

"The kind of hard bargaining that usually characterizes a push toward a settlement is not in existence," a UAW official said Wednesday night.

The union source said he expects Ford to modify its present offer on a new three-year contract before the end of the week. But he said it would still be some time before a settlement could be reached and at least a week beyond that to complete the ratification vote required to end the walkout.

Ford has said nothing officially about progress in the talks, but company bargainers are said to be upset that the union has refused thus far to remove or scale down any of its demands after two months of bargaining.

Ford revised its initial contract offer three times, the last coming a day before the strike deadline in an effort to avert a walkout. However, the union rejected all three as being too little, too late.

The two sides remain apart on wages, health care and supplemental benefits, pensions, job security and a priority union demand for more paid time off to create new jobs.

The union source said none of those areas were discussed Wednesday. He said the company would have to make concessions on several of those issues before the union would modify any of its demands.

"It would take more than major movement on one thing to get us working toward a settlement," the source said. "There is not just one stumbling block."

The strike has shut down 102 Ford facilities and brought the firm's domestic production to a halt. A company analyst estimated nearly 160,000 cars and trucks — with a retail value approaching $1 billion — will be lost from September's U.S. production schedules.

Toro Vacuum/Blowers are really 2 machines in 1.

The powerful Toro 5 hp. Vacuum can clean up to a 1/4-acre in less than an hour. Converts to a Blower in minutes without tools. The Blower uses a 100 mph "jet stream" to blow damp or dry debris into an easily bagged pile. It makes cleaning a breeze!

Want a third machine - at no extra cost?

With your purchase of a Toro Vacuum/Blower you'll also receive — at no added cost — a vacuum extension hose. Use it to get into flower beds, window casements and tight spots. It's a $39.95 value!

Offer expires Oct. 1, 1976

ALMOST BILLION-DOLLAR RIP-OFF

Tighter Controls Stop Jobless Cheats

BY ROBERT TAYLOR
NEW YORK (NEA) — Cheats may account for no more than five per cent of all those collecting unemployment compensation.

But with $17.5 billion paid out in jobless benefits in 1975, that still amounts to almost a billion-dollar rip-off of the UC system last year alone.

How can the government root out the abusers?

"Tougher administration," economist Martin S. Feldstein of Harvard asserts.

Kathleen Classen, a staff economist for the Public Research Institute of Arlington, Va., says that a careful check of claims helps. In an Institute study she did for the Department of Labor, she found lower unemployment rates in districts where claimants were screened thoroughly.

Dick V., 36, of Connecticut, inadvertently corroborated her finding. A jobless social worker, he told what happened when he applied for benefits in Willimantic, Conn.

"I was given an interview. The guy asked what I'd done the last two weeks. I told him I'd looked in the newspaper. He said that wasn't enough. That I'd have to come back in 10 days and give him a list of 10 places I'd been to."

Unwilling to comply, Dick crashed with friends in another town, used their address, and reapplied for benefits. His claim was processed without an interview. He collected for 11 consecutive months.

Among chronic collectors in Northeastern Connecticut, the word is: "Stay away from Willimantic."

James M. Rosbrow,

Professor Hamermesh doesn't believe the abuses are major. But he thinks they give the program a bad name. Therefore, he favors stricter rules.

"One of the things I'd do is tighten up on eligibility by requiring more time spent working before you become also would get people to do something for the money," he declares.

Eighteen states permit workers who quit to collect after a so-called disqualification period. That may last five weeks in one state, 13 in another. Some critics would permit payment only when a worker is fired or laid off. Others would limit the number of times the job quitter can collect.

Cathleen Classman philosophizes thusly: "I don't think all the violators can be rooted out of the program. You're never going to find only Horatio Algers going into the unemployment security office. There is always going to be... I wouldn't call it abuse... I'd just call it changing behavior because of unemployment insurance. It's just like when you make chocolate bars cheaper, people buy more of them. When you make unemployment cheaper, people buy more of it."

Second Of 2 Parts

unemployment insurance program specialist for the Department of Labor, warns, however, that a careful balance must be struck between administrative efficiency and bureaucratic rudeness.

"The money is there to be used under appropriate conditions," he said. "It is just as wrong to harass claimants as it is for claimants to cheat the system."

eligible for benefits. In a lot of states, you can work at the minimum wage for seven weeks, then qualify for benefits for anywhere from 10 to 26 or more weeks."

Hamermesh also would transfer claimants who had collected for 26 weeks to a public-employment program or a federally subsidized private-employment program.

"That's compassionate and it

Today In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Thursday, Sept. 23, the 257th day of 1976. There are 99 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history: On this date in 63 B.C., the first Roman emperor, Augustus Caesar, was born.
On this date:
In 1780, during the American Revolution, the British spy, Major John Andre, was captured, and papers he carried revealed Benedict Arnold's plot to surrender West Point to the British.
In 1806, the Lewis and Clark expedition to explore west of the Mississippi River was completed.
In 1817, Spain signed a treaty with Britain to end the slave trade.
In 1846, the first U.S. baseball club, the New York Knickerbocker Club, was organized.
In 1951, in the Korean War, United Nations forces captured the hill known as "Heartbreak Ridge" from the Communists.

In 1952, Vice Presidential candidate Richard Nixon went on nationwide radio and television to deny charges of wrongdoing in his campaign financing.
Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson signed a bill to boost the minimum wage to $1.00 an hour and bring eight million more people under its coverage.
One year ago: President Ford rejected suggestions that he curtail public appearances following the second apparent attempt on his life in 17 days.
Today's birthdays: Singer and composer Ray Charles is 56. Actor Mickey Rooney is 56.
Thought for today: The impersonal hand of government can never replace the helping hand of a neighbor: Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn.
Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, an American post on the Hudson river, Paulus Hook, New York was abandoned and occupied by a British regiment.

Today is Thursday, Sept. 23, the 267th day of 1976. There are 99 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 63 B.C., the first Roman emperor, Augustus Caesar, was born.
On this date:
In 1780, during the American Revolution, the British spy, Major John Andre, was captured, and papers he carried revealed Benedict Arnold's plot to surrender West Point to the British.
In 1806, the Lewis and Clark expedition to explore west of the Mississippi River was completed.
In 1817, Spain signed a treaty with Britain to end the slave trade.
In 1845, the first U.S. baseball club, the New York Knickerbocker Club, was organized.
In 1951, in the Korean War, United Nations forces captured the hill known as "Heartbreak Ridge" from the Communists.

In 1952, Vice Presidential candidate Richard Nixon went on nationwide radio and television to deny charges of wrongdoing in his campaign financing.
Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson signed a bill to boost the minimum wage to $1.60 an hour and bring eight million more people under its coverage.
One year ago: President Ford rejected suggestions that he curtail public appearances following the second apparent attempt on his life in 17 days.
Today's birthdays: Singer and composer Ray Charles is 44. Actor Mickey Rooney is 56.
Thought for today: The impersonal hand of government can never replace the helping hand of a neighbor: Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn.
Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, an American post on the Hudson river, Paulus Hook, New York was abandoned and occupied by a British regiment.

Women Guerrillas
On Upswing

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The two young women strolled into a restaurant in central Belfast and pulled revolvers from their shopping bags.

One stood by the door while the other robbed the dozen open-mouthed customers of their cash. Then one laid a brown paper parcel gently on a chair and said: "Okay — everybody out. This is a bomb. You've got one minute."

A senior British army officer says that women are becoming increasingly active in the mostly Roman Catholic guerrilla army that is fighting to end British and Protestant rule in Ireland's six northern counties.

"Some of these women are far more ruthless than their menfolk," he said. "Many are more dedicated to the IRA cause than some of the men."

TOO MANY STUDENTS
PRAGUE (AP) — Only three out of every five applicants, or 12 per cent of the pre-university student population, will be able to attend Slovak universities this year.

British Pound Tumbles

LONDON (AP) — The British pound fell to near its record low of $1.70 but then made a modest recovery in early trading on London foreign exchanges today.

The pound fell from $1.7155, the price at Wednesday's close, to $1.7070 within a matter of minutes after the exchanges opened today. But by midday the pound had recovered to about $1.71, still about a half-cent lower than Wednesday.

The pound sterling, which was worth about $2.40 in early 1975, dipped to an all-time low of about $1.70 in early June this year.

One dealer said the main reason for the pound's weakness Thursday was belief that the settlement of a seamen's dispute, which averted a national maritime strike, would lead to other unions also seeking improved contracts and fringe benefits.

Burroughs 17c Dividend Due Nov. 8

DETROIT (AP) — The board of directors of Burroughs Corp. Wednesday declared a dividend of 17 cents a share on common stock, payable Nov. 8, 1976 to shareholders of record as of Oct. 8.

Burroughs officials said cash dividends have been paid each quarter for 81 years.

Stocks Decline Broadly

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market lapsed into a broad decline today, showing continued concern over signs of lagging demand for industrial equipment and other durable goods.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks fell more than 3 points in early trading. Losers took a 2-1 lead over gainers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Trading was very active. The market's rally of the past week came to an abrupt halt Wednesday afternoon when the government reported a 2.2 per cent decline in durable goods orders last month.

Of particular concern to Wall Street was a section of the report that showed a drop in orders for civilian capital goods such as factory machines.

Today's early prices included Kimberly-Clark, down 1/4 at 38 1/2, and Pillsbury, unchanged at 38 1/4.

On Wednesday the Dow Jones industrial average fell back from a plus-8 reading at mid-afternoon to close at 1,014.05, down .74.

Gainers outnumbered losers by about an 8-7 margin among NYSE-listed issues. The exchange's composite index lost .16 to 37.35.

Big Board volume reached a seven-month high of 32.97 million shares.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index gave up .08 to 104.07.

Livonia Firm's Third Quarter Nets 13c Share

LIVONIA, Mich. (AP) — Velvet-O'Donnell Corp. Wednesday reported third-quarter net income of $113,000, or 13 cents a share, on revenues of $5,934,000, down from $181,000 or 18 cents a share on revenues of $6,122,000 for the same period last year.

The food, wine and liquor producing and distributing firm reported net income of 41 cents a share for the nine months ended July 31, compared with 49 cents for the same period last year.

Royalton Rear-End Crash Injures Six

Six people suffered apparently minor injuries Wednesday in a two-car, rear-end collision on M-139 north of Miners road, Royalton township, shortly before 10 p.m., according to Benton Harbor state police. Driver of one car was identified as Victoria Lynn Cleveland, 20, of 2110 Bakertown road, Buchanan. She sought her own treatment for apparently minor injuries and was ticketed for failure to stop in an assured, clear distance, troopers said. Driver of the other car was Joseph T. Webster, 24, of 1415 Fifth street, Niles. He and four passengers in his car were all treated and released from Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor. Passengers were identified as Susan Aerica, 17, of 503 Fifth street; Ernest Britton, 19, 1819 Fifth street; Tommy Webster, 22, of 2344 Carruters, all Niles; and Eddie Forrest, 20, of 915 Ferry, Berrien Springs.

Bidders Named On I-94 Projects

LANSING — The Department of State Highways and Transportation here has announced low bidders on two roadside modernization projects along I-94 between the Indiana border and Kalamazoo.

The Peters Construction Co., Kalamazoo, was the lowest of seven bidders at $2,268,649 for 52 miles of I-94 between US-33 in Berrien county and Westnedge avenue, Kalamazoo.

The Arco Engineering Construction Corp., Elkhart, Ind., was lowest of eight bidders at $1,495,708 on a similar project covering 28.2 miles of I-94 between the state line and US-33.

Both projects include guardrail replacement, elimination of existing roadside obstacles and reduction of slopes the transportation department said.

The low bids must be approved by the state highway commission and state administrative board before the contracts are awarded.

Both projects are to be completed by September, 1977, and include the elimination of existing culvert headwalls.

The Peters project includes installation of safety signs that break on impact and replacement of existing guardrail on bridges with concrete barrier rails.

In another project, the department announced the Rieth-Riley Construction Co., Battle Creek, was the lowest of four bidders at $12,867 for construction of taxiways and approaches for existing "T" hangars at the Otsego-Plainville airport. Completion is scheduled for October, 1976.

Brother Accused Of Break-In

BY TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent
SOUTH HAVEN — A South Haven man was to be arraigned today in Seventh District court here on a charge of breaking and entering his brother's residence yesterday afternoon.

Mackey Wayne Jackson, 26, of 418 Elkensburg, was arrested by South Haven police in connection with the alleged breaking and entering of an apartment occupied by his brother, Roy Jackson, 212 Erie street.

Officers said Roy Jackson reported his apartment door had been forced open sometime between 3 p.m. and 4 p.m.

Another resident of the apartment building told police she saw a man leaving the building. She wrote down the license number of a vehicle the man used and gave the number to police.

Police said mail appeared to have been tampered with at the Roy Jackson residence, but that nothing was reported taken.

ANN LANDERS SAYS British Business Now 'Indifferent'

LONDON (AP) — Columnist Ann Landers said Wednesday that the British have become indifferent to private enterprise and cited her London shoe-shopping experience as an example. "I went into a shoe store and was told I couldn't be served because they were closing in two minutes," she told 100 members of the American Embassy Association.

"I had to beg them to wait on me and take my money — and this was for $65 shoes. They just couldn't wait to get me the hell out of there. Britain is a marvelous country with great heroism. The people showed extraordinary ability to come back after getting the hell pounded out of them in World War II. But now there's a softness and indifference to private enterprise that's got to stop."

Miss Landers, whose advice column appears in 900 newspapers around the world, spoke to the group about what she called the "University of Trouble." The same problems that plague you here in London," she said, "plague the housewife in Miami, the teenager in Toronto and the shoe clerk in San Juan."

"The man and wife problem is the greatest problem in the world and it always has been," she said, pointing out that there were more than a million divorces last year in the United States. She also said American alcoholism was becoming an epidemic as people seek escape from reality.

She suggested that television is one of the sources of trouble. "If you have a box in the house that does all the talking, it relieves you of the responsibility of communicating. Nothing is demanded of you. People should turn it off, or throw it out, and talk a little."

Paw Paw Man Asks Hearing

PAW PAW — Donald Lawrence Field, 19, 52nd avenue, Paw Paw, demanded preliminary examination when arraigned Wednesday in Seventh district court on a charge of malicious destruction of property.

Bond was set at $2,000 pending a Sept. 28 hearing.

Paw Paw police said he was taken into custody in connection with the breaking of a window Tuesday at the Local Finance Corp., 239 East Michigan avenue, Paw Paw. Police placed damage at $120.

Field also appeared in district court here Tuesday on a separate charge of malicious destruction of property. He also demanded a preliminary examination in that case and bond was set at $2,000 pending a Sept. 28 hearing.

In connection with Tuesday's appearance, it was incorrectly reported in this newspaper that windows in the home of Joe Stimac had been broken. The windows were located in Stimac's business, Stimac's Nursery and General store, Paw Paw.

Warrant Leads To Arrest

An Arkansas man was taken into custody and returned to Berrien county by state police of the Benton Harbor post from New Madrid, Mo., on a three-year-old warrant charging gross fraud or cheat.

Sgt. Jerry Hyland at the post said John D. Kelly, 31, Pine Bluff, Ark., was booked at the Berrien county jail Wednesday.

Hyland said New Madrid county sheriff's deputies stopped Kelly for speeding and a computer check revealed the warrant. The warrant alleges some eight checks totaling about $300 were written in this area against a bank account that had no funds, Hyland reported.

FLOOD DRAIN RE-ROUTING

ADVERTISING FOR RE-BIDDING
THE CEMETERY BOARD FOR THE CITY OF BENTON HARBOR will receive sealed bids for the INSTALLATION OF
THE PROPOSED STORM
DRAIN until 7:30 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time on September 29, 1976.

All bids shall be submitted to the attention of Carl DeVall at the office of Crystal Springs Cemetery, 1655 Napier Avenue, Benton Harbor, Michigan.

DESCRIPTION OF IMPROVEMENT: Installation of approximately 45 lineal feet of 12 inch vitrified clay pipe storm sewer, three (3) manholes and all related work pipe and manhole materials shall be supplied by the Owner.

The Contract Documents, including plans and specifications, are on file at the office of
R. W. Petrie and Associates, each proposal.

No bid shall be withdrawn after the opening of proposals without the consent of the Owner for a period of thirty (30) days after the scheduled time of closing bids.

The Owner reserves the right to waive any irregularities, reject any or all bids, or accept any bid when, in their opinion, such act will serve their best interests.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a satisfactory performance bond and labor and material bond in the amount of one hundred percent (100%) of the contract price.

Vietnamese Refugee Wins Custody Battle Court Gives Child To Mother

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — A Vietnamese mother who left her seven children in an orphanage while the Communists advanced on Saigon says "I am so happy I don't know what word you can use" over a court decision returning one child to her.

"I am exciting and nervous," said Doan Thi Hoang Anh, 33, in a telephone interview Wednesday from Great Falls, Mont., where she lives with four of her children.

"It's like losing a son. We were hoping for a miracle," was the reaction of John Nelson, 33, the 6-year-old boy's foster father for the last 18 months. "We're happy we've had a year and a half with Ben."

Iowa Supreme Court Chief Justice C. Edwin Moore wrote in the unanimous decision that "the Nelsons have rendered exceptional service in his (Ben's) behalf. Under this record, someone must be hurt."

Ben, who real name is Doan Van Binh, is one of seven brothers and sisters who escaped capture in the final days of the Saigon regime. Their mother left them in a Friends of Vietnam Children orphanage with a request to get them out of the country, according to court records.

Their father had just been killed, and the court noted: "It was only after an incredible ordeal Anh and the children were able to escape the same fate."

Miss Anh, as she is known in Great Falls, fled Vietnam and entered the United States as a refugee on Aug. 5, 1975.

She said she never gave the orphanage permission to have her children adopted. When they arrived in the United States, she traced them through the Denver office of the orphanage sponsors.

The Nelsons contended that Anh had abandoned her children and that Binh's best interests would be served by his being left with them.

But the court said Anh was "a woman of extraordinary courage, perseverance and full compassion for her child."

State's Credit Rating Lowered

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

One of the nation's two major bond rating agencies, Standard & Poor's, has downgraded Michigan's credit rating while criticizing fiscal maneuvers used to balance the state budget this year.

The agency dropped the state of Michigan's bond rating from triple-A to double A, the same rating the state gets from the other major bond rating agency, Moody's.

The lowered rating means the state will pay higher interest rates on new bonds it sells, including an estimated $65 million to $70 million in bonds planned for sale in the near future.

S&P criticized the legislature's move this year to balance the budget by extending the fiscal year to Sept. 30 from the normal June 30 end.

Even though Michigan's economy has fluctuated, S&P said, "until recently it did not have to resort to budgetary and fiscal expedients" to show a balanced budget.

State Treasurer Allison Green said, "We're discouraged that we haven't taken the necessary steps" to maintain a triple-A rating.
